By William Philip Simms.

Petrograd, June 19.—(By mail)—"War is not at all bad," pastor Chas. Wagner, author of "The Simple Life," declared to me in the course of a Paris interview, December, 1914.

And when I asked him to go on and explain, he said: "Out of this turmoil and slaughter a few blessings are bound to emerge, like lilies from the sand of a pond. For one thing I can see a return from a highly material, to a more spiritual form of everyday life. For another I believe the minds of the masses will be lifted by the war to a vision of bigger things.

"No man can through such an experience and remain the petty creature he was at the beginning. He can not go back to his awl and his last and pick up bristle and thread just where he left off.

His inference was that France will be a different country after the war. So will Germany and England and Russia and all the others.
