TEACHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL TO CLOSE FOR SEASON FRIDAY

Bemidji Institution Has Proved to Be One of Most Important in This Section.

SCHOOL TO BE MADE PERMANENT INSTITUTION

Able Corps of Teachers and Good Management Make Summer School a Success.

The Teachers' Training school which has been conducted in Bemidji for the past several weeks, will come to a close tomorrow.

That Bemidji is one of the most important educational centers in this section of the state has been demonstrated by the school, which has been a big success.

State inspectors and noted educators, who have watched the Bemidji school in operation, are much pleased at the results of the school.

Program Tonight.

Tonight at the high school a special program will be given and exhibits will be shown. The school glee club under the direction of Miss Margaret Newton, will give a program. The folk dancing class under the direction of Miss Emma Hoglund will also give a program.

Bemidji was chosen as the eighth place in the state for a training school. Five of the schools are conducted in connection with the state normal schools.

Dyer is Conductor.

Although a short summer course has been given in Bemidji for a number of years past, this is the first year that such an extensive school has been held. The school had been planned for some time.

Carrying out the plan, C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education, appointed W. P. Dyer conductor of the school. An excellent corps of instructors was also secured. The instructors were as follows: G. A. Franklin, superintendent of Deer River schools, arithmetic; W. C. Cobb, superintendent of the Brainerd schools, physics and geometry; P. E. Lurton, superintendent of the East Grand Forks schools, algebra, physical geography and review history; Anna Plapp, of the normal training department of Eveleth, Minn., English grammar and composition; Elizabeth Underwood of the Minneapolis public schools, geography and history; Emma Hoglund, of the normal training department of the Madison schools, rural school management, folk games, penmanship and reading; Olive Grobel, primary methods and model school; B. M. Gile, agriculturist of the Bemidji schools, agriculture; A. D. Bailey, of the manual training department of the Bemidji schools, manual training; Margaret Newton, of the Moorhead schools, music and drawing; Marie Henegren, cooking and sewing.

The school opened June 12, were the following and county in which they reside:

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SEE DEER IN REFUGE

County Commissioners Rako, Lennon, Hayes and Clementson and Fred Rhoda, clerk of court, while on a road and bridge inspection tour yesterday, saw a deer in the game refuge north of Lake Bemidji. The deer was seen on the road near the north corner of the golf course and did not appear frightened when the commissioners approached within several hundred feet.

J. A. Sommervold, superintendent of the Clearwater county schools, visited the teachers' training school at the high school this morning and delivered an address.

RELIGIOUS FIGHT GREATER THAN PROHIBITION ISSUE

Home Folks Present at Convention; William Shaw, Christian Endeavor Leader, Talks.

By H. L. Rennick (United Press Staff Correspondent). St. Paul, Minn., July 20.—Hundreds of the same kind of "home town folks" who make up the church boards, the chautauqua crowds and run the district schools in thousands of towns and villages, swarmed to St. Paul today for the Prohibition national convention.

Mothersly old women of the type that attend the home and foreign missionary society meetings back home and bake cake and make jellies for the pastor's aid society picnics were in the crowd, so were bearded, gray haired old men in their black "Sunday go to meeting" clothes. Some of them with collars and some of them who never wore one.

To Down Rum. These delegates who came to St. Paul imbued with the thought of downing the Demon Rum are so different from the crowds who attended conventions of other political parties as the frock-coated city merchant is from the gnarly-fisted aproned store keeper at Hicks Corners, or any other cross road. The Prohis seem more earnest, and caring less for show.

The women brought their tatting, their knitting and their patch work. It was a hot day and coatless, collarless, suspender-showing shirts—some of them blue and some of them "boiled"—dotted the crowd at the auditorium.

Wears Diamond Stud. For instance, there was Col. James M. Ingersoll of Pooniteilo, Idaho, a grizzled, gray-mustached ranchman, who sat on the platform. His boiled shirt was collarless, he wore no coat, but his diamond stud illuminated his shirt as no necktie could. His gray socks came down over the tops of his square-toed black shoes, and he twirled his mustache, appearing like a gruff good scout, dressed up in his Sunday clothes and dreading it. Col. Ingersoll, the only Progressive leader attending the convention, was in the limelight continually.

Prohibitionist 63 Years. Mrs. Kate M. Hamilton of Los Angeles, Cal., who is 74 years old and has been a Prohibitionist for 63 years, was "grandmother" to many of the women delegates who greeted her. She sat near the platform dressed in prim white, with a bit of vanity expressed in ear rings that bobbed as she nodded her gray head.

This convention sings for amusement, where other parties shouted, marched and yelled. The Prohis joined in the chorus when A. M. Thatcher, who positively has the deepest voice in captivity, rumbled hymns and songs of the dries to the accompaniment of a piano—played by the same type of a girl who played the organ back at the Hicks Corners church.

The delegates seemed religious and comfortable. There was no dressing for style—but a lot of "amens," devoutly pronounced, when the ministers prayed or the hymns were sung.

SHAW GIVES ADDRESS

"When good men and great parties, for political expediency refuse to commit themselves to a great cause vital to the happiness and success of the people, they should be set aside," declared William Shaw, prohibition candidate for governor of Massachusetts in 1915, in an address this morning at the convention.

SEVEN YEAR OLD SON GETS $5,000 DAMAGES IN BRABETZ CASE

Frances A. Brabetz Gets Judgment in Case Against Emory Jarvis.

ASSERTED LIQUOR CAUSED FATHER TO FREEZE FEET

Three Other Cases Still Pending; Nymore Barber Was in Hospital for Long Time.

Frances A. Brabetz, the seven-year-old son of Albert Brabetz, who was found lying in the snow near his home Feb. 1 with his hands and feet frozen, has been awarded a judgment of $5,000 in a suit brought by his mother, Leora Brabetz, guardian ad litem, against Emory Jarvis, Nymore hotelkeeper, whom it was asserted sold liquor to the senior Brabetz.

Judge C. W. Stanton of the district court, awarded the judgment. Carl L. Heffron was attorney for Brabetz.

FORMERLY A BARBER

Albert Brabetz, who was formerly a barber in Nymore, it is asserted was intoxicated when he laid down in the snow on the night of January 31 and became so badly frozen that parts of his hands and feet had to be amputated. It is alleged Jarvis sold him "squirrel" whisky.

The action was brought under the statute which holds that a man who sells liquor is liable for damages that may result to an intoxicated person.

NO LEGAL SALOONS

Brabetz is the father of two small children. There are no legal saloons in Nymore, which is in the Indian "lid" district.

There are still three other actions in the present case pending against Jarvis. These will probably be taken up at the September term of court.

LINDBERG MAY YET FILE FOR CONGRESS IN "SIXTH"

Washington, July 20.—Report here has it that C. A. Lindbergh, recently candidate for United States senator, may file as an independent candidate for congress in the Sixth district. The Republican nomination was recently won by Harold Knutson. It is considered there would be nothing surprising in Mr. Lindbergh's candidacy as an independent as his connection with the Republican party in the past has been tenuous.

BIGGEST RESORT BUSINESS IN HISTORY OF BEMIDJI

Bemidji is enjoying the biggest resort business in its history this summer. Every summer resort in this vicinity reports crowded conditions.

At the Birchmont Beach hotel there are 140 guests and reservations are being made for later in the season. Many guests have been turned away on account of lack of accommodations.

The regular weekly dance will be given at the Birchmont hotel tonight. A large number of Bemidji people are planning to attend.

About 35 guests are at the Jester Farm resort. Other reservations have been made. Fishing is reported to be very good in the lakes around Bemidji.

Mrs. A. G. Wedge of St. Paul returned to her home this morning after spending two weeks here as the guest of her son, A. G. Wedge, Jr.

SPECIAL ARTICLES FOR THE PIONEER

San Antonio, July 20.—William G. Shepherd, United Press war reporter, who has been on every battle front in Europe during the last two years, arrived here today to start a series of stories for United Press papers, comparing the militiamen of the various states with the fighting soldiers in Europe. Shepherd went through the Madero revolution in Mexico and entered Mexico City with Madero. He was in Mexico during the Huerta regime and was with Funston at Vera Cruz, being intimately familiar with Mexican war conditions.

FRENCH TROOPS RESUME OFFENSIVE ON BOTH SIDES OF THE SOMME

British Troops Preparing for a New Attack Against German Positions.

DEUTSCHLAND MAY RUN FOR CAPES AT NIGHTFALL

Germans Take a Little More Ground in Longueval and Delville Attack.

(By United Press) Paris, July 20.—(Official)—The French resumed the offensive on both sides of the Somme last night.

They successfully drove against the Germans northwest and southwest of Peronne, North Somme. Then French infantry established new lines along Combles, taking 400 prisoners. The French stormed and took the entire first line trenches between Barleaux and Soyecourt.

DEUTSCHLAND STILL HERE

Baltimore, July 20.—The Deutschland is still here. Barges and tugs are hiding it. Activities today led to the belief that the submarine intends to dash for the capes tonight.

DRENCHED WITH FIRE

With the British Army in Northern France, July 20.—Every foot of the new German positions behind the line the British captured north of Somme are being carefully and slowly drenched with destructive British explosives. Preparations are being made for a new attack. Giant British shells from guns miles in the rear are dropping on the German works. The Germans are replying only occasionally, which means that they are either outgunned or that they are saving ammunition. The British air craft, unmolested, is directing the allied artillery.

TAKE MORE GROUND

London, July 20.—The Germans have taken a little more ground in a counter attack at Longueval and Delville.

SLAVS IN OUGLI

Petrograd, July 20.—The Russians have occupied Ougli, repulsing all enemy attempts to advance.

TO INVESTIGATE CAMPAIGNS

London, July 20.—Asquith told the House of Commons today that an investigation of the Dardanelles and Mesopotamia campaigns has been decided on.

FOR POLISH RELIEF

Washington, July 20.—Ambassador Francis of Petrograd today cabled that he had a conference with Premier Sasonoff and that the latter had promised co-operation for Polish relief.

WISCONSIN MACHINISTS WANT EIGHT HOUR DAY

(By United Press) Milwaukee, July 20.—Three hundred more machinists have gone on a strike, making a total of 2,500 machinists striking. The strikers demand an eight-hour day. A spread of the strike is possible.

NINE PATIENTS AT NEW TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

Nine patients have made reservation at the new Lake Julia tuberculosis sanatorium. Three patients were taken to the sanatorium today and one will be taken there tomorrow. The sanatorium was opened last week and cost the counties of Hubbard, Koochiching and Beltrami $50,000.

ONE KILLED IN LABOR TROUBLES IN TENNESSEE

(By United Press) Memphis, Tenn., July 20.—John Jensen, former street car employe, is dead as a result of knife wounds. Two others are in a critical condition. Police blame labor troubles for the fracas. A strike of street car employes is expected soon.

ONE KILLED IN ILLINOIS SPECIAL TRAIN WRECK

(By United Press) Chicago, Ill., July 20.—One person was killed and several were injured this morning when an Illinois Central theater special struck a B. & O. train. Mistaken signals was the cause of the wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Heindeman of Lake Itasca spent Tuesday in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Koors.
