THEATERS

AT THE GRAND

The feature at the Grand theater tonight and tomorrow will be Norma Talmadge, the immensely popular Selznick-Picture star, in "The Law of Compensation," a new drama of modern American life by Wilson Mizner, co-author with Paul Armstrong of the dramas, "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and "The Deep Purple." "The Law of Compensation" is divided into three intensely interesting phases of the life of an American woman.

Thus the popular young star is given the opportunity of depicting carefree youth, the romance of young womanhood, and the tragedy of an unfortunate, older woman.

AT THE ELKO

"Miss Nobody," the photoplay starring Gladys Hulette, expected here for showing yesterday, was delayed in transit and arrived this morning. It will be shown at the Elko theater tonight in connection with a Hearst-Pathe reel of news in pictures. "Miss Nobody" is a play with "just enough meat" to make it worth while. Of course there are thrills, humor, tears and ultimate happiness—all of which is done entertainingly.

Tomorrow the Elko will show a Paramount picture entitled "The American Consul," in which Theodore Roberts takes the title role.

AT THE REX TONIGHT

"Skinner's Bubble"—Essanay

A sequel to the famous "Skinner's Dress Suit," featuring Bryant Washburn, famous Essanay star.

Tomorrow—Big Feature.

Another big feature is scheduled at the Rex tomorrow when Sessue Hayakawa will be seen in the spectacular drama "The Wrath of the Gods." It was this famous actor who sprung into fame in "Allen Soul."

This most remarkable photodrama "The Wrath of the Gods" established a new standard in moving picture entertainment. Tremendous in its scope, lavish in its production, with magnificent scenes of the eruption of a volcano, the destruction of an entire village, while the lovers look on horrified; the powerful love interest and the supremely satisfying climax, together with the brilliant acting and the superb photography mark "The Wrath of the Gods" one of the greatest photoplays ever produced.
