INFLUENZA SPREADING THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

Washington, Oct. 14.—The epidemic of Spanish influenza which reached practically every section of the country continued today with no signs of abatement. Detailed reports as to its spread among the civilian population were not available at the public service bureau last night, but officials said nothing had been received to indicate that the malady had reached its peak.

New cases of influenza in army camps showed a slight decline in the 24 hours ending at noon today, but pneumonia cases increased over yesterday.

YES, HE'D TAKE THE JOB.

(By United Press.)

With the American army in France, Sept. 13. (By Mail.)—He was a private, and he looked the part. But he hesitated when some war workers who wanted to establish a billet in some ruins offered him and his bunkie $2 apiece to help sweep out the place. He wasn't busy just then.

Finally he followed the example of his bunkie and accepted the job. "If anybody'd offered me money to sweep out a house over in the States, I'd have turned up my nose," he told his friend. "You see I own a couple factories over there, and got a pretty good fortune beside that. But over here when you can't write a check and get it cashed, you'd do most anything for a couple dollars for it's about the end of the month, and you haven't drawn your $30 per for two months. War sure makes a fellow demagogic."

be she's out to her mother's," he told the distracted bridegroom. Ten minutes later they were in each other's arms. "I thought he said: 'I'll pack my grip and you go out to your mother's,'" she explained. "I thought it was funny, but supposed he knew his business—I didn't."

ENGLAND HAS AD OPTED THE YANKEES; WELCOME IN HOMES

By ARTHUR B. MANN.

(United Press Correspondent.) London, Oct. 1. (By Mail.)—England has adopted the American soldiers and sailors within her shores. Her hospitality is limited only by the number of men who come here. Today, Vice-Admiral Sims, Commander of the American naval forces in European waters, and Maj. Gen. Biddle, commander of the American army in England, told the United Press what this hospitality means to the United States forces in waging the war.

"Since our entry into the war," said Admiral Sims, "nothing has been more impressive than the hospitality of the British people to the officers and men of the United States navy based on these islands.

"Organizations and private individuals have vied with one another in opening their clubs to us, presenting up with their residences, arranging entertainments, and even attending personally to our wants. To military men serving far from home in a foreign country, the importance of this in maintaining the morale and happiness upon which success in war depends, cannot be over-estimated. We have been deeply touched."

Gen. Biddle Enthusiastic. Gen. Biddle was equally enthusiastic and appreciate in declaring: "During the past week the British entertainment committee has been arranging for the extension of private hospitality and also for various forms of entertainment in different parts of the country to American officers and men, whether stationed or on leave in England. This means that American soldiers will find more home life while in England, that they will have by way of recreation a well organized system of stimulating entertainment and a great opportunity for athletics.

"The British entertainment committee is helping us make the American soldier in England a happier and healthier man."

Hospitality plans recently worked out provide for invitations to American army and navy officers and men on leave in England to spend at least part of their time as guests in English households. Information-bureaus have been established at ports of debarkation and at military camps where records are kept of the addresses and accommodations of those who have opened their homes to Americans. As the men report for leave, those who desire to accept such invitations will be assigned to homes, and, as far as possible, they will be sent to the parts of the country they desire to visit.

For Convalescents. The same plan has been arranged for officers and men who are convalescent from wounds or sickness and discharged from hospital but need further rest before returning to duty. Hundreds of English parents whose sons have died in the cause for which America is fighting are opening their homes under this arrangement. Hundreds more, whose sons are still on the battlefield, are doing likewise. Those who have no sons are doing their utmost to be foster-parents to the Americans over there.

The work of entertaining American troops at rest camps and sailors at shore stations is already well under way. There are movie shows at most of the camps and frequent concerts, boxing bouts and theatrical performances by professionals and amateurs from nearby towns. Artists and performers are showing the greatest readiness to volunteer for this work during their spare time.

In fact, the objective which England set out to achieve not many weeks ago has been reached—England is "Blighty" for the American soldier and sailor.

DUTIFUL WIFE GOES HOME TO MOTHER

Misunderstanding Causes New Husband Some Anxiety—Calls Police.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Married at eight o'clock, bride gone fifteen minutes later. This was the fate of a young Tulsa bridegroom.

After leaving the church the couple drove to the hotel where the bridegroom had registered. He left the bride in the lobby with these words: "Now you stay here while I go and pack. Then we'll get out to your mother's and stay a few days."

When he returned to the lobby she was gone. Thirty minutes' frantic search followed. Then he thought of the police, so called in Chief Nichols. The chief thought a moment. "May-

TO SHOW WOUNDED MEN THE WAY TO FIRST RELIEF.

(By United Press.) Paris, Oct. 1. (By Mail.)—To guide the "walking wounded" back from the front to the first available aid station, the Red Cross is furnishing the army with thousands of small cloth signs. Medical officers have learned that many wounded suffer great hardships during severe fighting because of their inability to find the nearest dressing station.

In some cases men have become lost and wandered about for hours. The Red Cross markers will be distributed following each advance, and tacked to trees, posts or any conspicuous object by Red Cross men and stretcher bearers. The markers are of white cloth with large Red Cross and arrow to indicate the direction of the nearest dressing station.

PRESIDENT APPEALS TO AMERICAN PEOPLE TO SPEED UP LAGGING LOAN

Washington, Oct. 14.—President Wilson has appealed to the American people on behalf of the lagging Liberty Loan.

With only a little more than $2,000,000,000 of the $6,000,000,000 subscribed, the president took occasion to declare that the best thing that could happen in this critical hour of the nation's history was an oversubscription to the loan.

Nothing has happened, the president insisted, which makes it safe or possible to lag in war preparations. The president's statement follows:

"Recent events have enhanced, not lessened, the importance of this loan and I hope that my fellow countrymen will let me say this to them very frankly. The best thing that could happen would be that the loan should not only be subscribed, but very greatly over-subscribed. We are in the midst of the greatest exercise of the power of this country that has ever been witnessed or forecast, and a single day of relaxation in that effort would be of tragical damage alike to ourselves and to the rest of the world. Nothing has happened which makes it safe or possible to do anything but push our effort to the utmost. The time is critical and the response must be complete."

Secretary W. G. McAdoo also issued a personal appeal that subscriptions be doubled.

Reports reached the treasury that persistent rumors are being circulated among Hungarian populations that every Hungarian who buys Liberty Bonds will be imprisoned if he ever returns to his native land after the war. This report, apparently promoted by enemy interests, will be combated with explanations of its absurdity.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL AT CROOKSTON OPEN OCT. 15

(Special to Pioneer) Crookston, Oct. 14.—The fall term of the State Agricultural School at Crookston opens on October 15. Students who are planning to attend should write to the school for room reservations in the dormitories in order to be certain of securing accommodations.

The school course has been adapted to meet war time conditions which will include more intensive work in military training special emphasis on mechanical training, including gasoline engines, automobiles, trucks and tractors, and a newly organized business course for girls.

From the preliminary inquiries that have been received at the school, a large enrollment is expected. Many of the boys in the draft ages will attend school until they are called into service. In that way many will be able to complete the year's work.

For Mildew. An old Scotch gardener says for plants subject to mildew take two tablespoonfuls of sulphur and a like quantity of air-slaked lime and boil for ten minutes in five and a half pints of water, stirring continuously. Allow to cool and when settled pour off the liquid into bottles and cork.

Use one part of this stock solution to 100 parts of water. Plants likely to be affected should be syringed every three weeks, and mildew then will seldom appear. Plants badly affected before treatment have to be syringed three times in succession.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache. The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.
