

PRINCES LODGED IN SCHOOL DORMITORIES

(By United Press.)
Cambridge, Eng., Oct. 1.—Princes Albert and Henry, second and third sons of King George, temporarily laid aside uniforms today, and went into residence here, donning cap and gown as ordinary "freshmen" at Trinity college.

Their fellow undergraduates studiously avoided taking any special notice, although several week-end parties were formed to visit the rival university of Oxford, in order to indulge in a "gloat" of pride at the possession of two royal "freshers."

Oxford had the smile over Cambridge a few years ago, when the Prince of Wales was in residence there, but Cambridge has the longer list of recent royal undergraduates. King George, himself, did not go to either variety, but the late King Edward and his father, the Prince Consort, as well as the late Duke of Clarence, were all Trinity students.

The two princes will follow the customary university course, but Prince Albert will work on special lines, making a particular study of history, economics, civics, and French. He is a captain in the Royal Air Force, and is particularly proud of his pilot's "wings." He has an aeroplane of his own, and will probably spend most of his spare time flying from the neighboring aerodrome.

Prince Henry, a quieter, and none too strong youngster, is credited with the determination to excel at athletics, being very keen to get a place on his merits in either the college boat, the cricket eleven or the football team. He performed fairly well at athletics at Eton, and has just passed through the Royal Military college, having been given a second-Honour in the King's Royal Rifle Corps.

The brothers will lodge together in characteristic undergraduate "diggings," with one of the royal aides as secretary.

Fowl Dealings.

During a trip that Bud Fisher, the cartoonist, made, the train stopped at San Tamale, or some other such greaser tank town. The travelers got out to stretch their legs, and a Mexican in front of the station offered Fisher a fighting cock for $20. Realizing what a glorious effect it would have on Villa if the Americans should arrive with that desperate bird as their mascot, Fisher peeled off twenty, and the desperate bird was his. Since a fighting cock is hardly a congenial fellow traveler inside a car, Bud tied him up on the rear platform, where two eating chickens were already tethered. At the next stop he went to look after his pet. Lo and behold, the eating chickens had killed the $20 fighting cock!

SUFFERED SINCE HE WAS A BOY

Hawley Had Been in Poor Health for 20 Years—
Restored by Tanlac

"I have been in bad health for over twenty years and my condition has gradually been getting worse all the time, but about a month ago I commenced taking Tanlac and now I feel like a different man altogether," said William Hawley who lives at Deer River, Minn., while in Abbott's Drug Store in Duluth the other day.

"As far back as I can remember," continued Mr. Hawley, "I have been bothered with stomach trouble and indigestion. Even as a small boy I would often have spells of sick headaches after meals, and would have indigestion in the worst way. As I grew up I gradually got worse until I finally reached the point to where everything I ate would cause me to suffer something awful afterwards. Those terrible headaches kept up, too, and some times the pain was so severe it would almost drive me wild. This trouble just kept on until I was just about all in, and had to lose a lot of time from my work. Handling lumber is no easy job, and I was simply too weak and run down to keep at it.

"Finally Tanlac came along, and to tell the truth, I had very little faith in it, but I thought I would try a bottle of it anyway, and that first bottle did me so much good that I just kept right on taking this wonderful medicine. The more Tanlac I took the better I got, and now I am in better condition in every way than I have been since I was a boy six years old. I haven't had a headache since I took my first bottle of Tanlac, and my stomach is in such fine condition that I can eat just anything I want and I never suffer any afterwards. It is simply wonderful to feel like this after suffering for twenty long years, and a medicine that will do that much for a man deserves all the good things that are said for it. I have gained eight pounds already, and am so well and strong that I am getting ready to go back home and get on the job again. I sleep like a top every night now, and I feel so fine every morning that I just know I can get around and handle as much lumber in a day as any of the boys. You can put me down as a regular booster for Tanlac, for it has been a godsend to me."

Tanlac is sold in Bemidji by the City Drug Store, in Kelliher by Mrs. M. Sterling, in Blackduck by French & Moon, and in Baudette by J. Williams.

WAS ALWAYS POPULAR GAME

Those Who Think There is Anything New in Profit-taking Have Another Guess Coming.

The high cost of living was just as much a problem in Elizabethan times as it is today. The Rev. William Harrison, as quaint a gossip as Pepsy, and equally gifted as a chronicler, complained that magistrates in his day winked at merchants who charged more for commodities than they were permitted by law to charge. In that day, as in this, "beggars"—this delightfully descriptive word is of the dominion's own coining—were allowed "to burn up corn and raise the price of it; to carry it home unsold, or to a distant market, if they want more money than the buyer likes to pay; nay, they've leave to export it for the benefit of enemies abroad, so as to make more profit."

During the world war there was much talk of certain Americans who deliberately destroyed carloads of potatoes, cabbages and other vegetables and foodstuffs in order to raise the prices of these commodities. Same old story. There's nothing new, remarks J. N. H., in Rochester Post-Express.

Again, to hark back to good Canon Harrison, "pestiferous purveyors buy up eggs, chickens, bacon, etc.; butter men travel about and buy up butter at farmers' houses, and have raised its price from 18d to 40d a gallon. These things are ill for the buyer and the poor man, and should not be allowed."

After all about the only thing that is true is that there is no new thing under the sun. Like the poor, the profiteer is always with us.

TAX EXPERTS LOSING SLEEP

Question, "When is a Girl a Miss?" is Puzzling Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The other day Lew Hahn, executive secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods association, took the joy out of life for the experts of the bureau of internal revenue when he asked whether corsets were underwear. Now he has gone and done it again, the query this time being:

"When does a girl become a miss?"

Framers of the new revenue tax law included in the list of taxables "women and misses wearing apparel." Experts of the bureau, Mr. Hahn says, have informed retailers that no tax is to be collected on wearing apparel for girls.

Retailers say there are hundreds and hundreds of misses, and quite a few married women, who are so petite that they can still wear, and therefore buy, girls' clothes. Does the fact that such articles of clothing are to be worn by women of mature years change the nature of the apparel in the eyes of the law; or do garments designed for girls remain girls' wear, regardless of the age of those who buy and wear them? This is the puzzle Mr. Hahn has put up to the bureau experts.

A Waiting Game.

"Suppose you wait here in this comfortable seat while I match these two samples of ribbon," said Mrs. Simson sweetly to her husband, who had been entrapped into going shopping with her.

When she came back she said contritely: "Have I kept you waiting an unpardonable long time, you poor dear?"

"Oh, I haven't minded it," he said cheerfully. "I just jumped on a car and ran up to the football match, and then I took a little spin in Jack Dance's new car. Did you match the samples?"

"One of them. It's so provoking, I shall have to come in again tomorrow, for they are just closing the shop."—London Ideas.

Tubs May Strike Next.

Add to the strikes for higher wages that of negro washerwomen of Louisville.

Aunt Katie (last name not known even to patrons) was asked the other day if she could do a washing the next day.

"Deed no, chile," was the reply. "An' any more washings I do is goin' to cost yuh ten cents moah," she added.

Pressed for an explanation, Aunt Katie said that she and "several other washer ladies are goin' on a picnic today and won't do no washin' for no-buddy."

"Furdemoah, dis ten cents moah goes all the time now. De street car men is gonna git moah dan dat fer strikin', and so is us," was her explanation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
