

SHIP CATTLE FROM MONTANA

Estimated That Between 500,000 and 600,000 Head Have Been Shipped Out of State.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An unusually large movement of cattle out of Montana has taken place in 1919, according to the bureau of animal industry. Normally, the movement of cattle from this state is between 200,000 and 300,000 head annually. It is estimated that between 500,000 and 600,000 have been shipped out for all purposes. Figures are not available for a similar comparison in regard to sheep, but reports from representatives of the department in the field indicate that between 400,000 and 500,000 sheep of all classes of range stock were moved out of the Northwest for feeding and grazing in sections east and west of the drought area.

These animals went first into the available nearby pasture lands in the Dakotas and Nebraska. Later they were moved into the middle cornbelt states, into Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the upper peninsula of Michigan, and still later into Texas and New Mexico. The movement into the two latter states continued on into November. The heavy snowfall that occurred early in the season overtook some ranchmen who were taking chances on the weather and they found it necessary to move their herds quickly. It is thought that enough railroad cars were made available to fill all orders. Stock cars moving west were given preference over dead freight.

Information that has reached the department indicates that the movement of cattle into New Mexico and Texas has been satisfactory, and with certain exceptions, the same holds true with respect to Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan. Reports indicate that a considerable movement of sheep and cattle into Michigan and nearby territory for summer grazing is likely in future years. Feed supplies in the Northwest appear to be adequate for live stock remaining on the ranges and there is now no expectation of serious shortage.

PROVIDE SHELTER FOR SHEEP

Exposure to Wind and Storms is Cause of Much Loss—Protection is Not Costly.

Great sheep losses come through exposure to wind and storm. In all parts of the country farms that have sheep on them will do well to provide shelter from bad weather. These do not cost so much as to have the sheep die in the cold and wet. If we had all the money that is lost in sheep in any one year through exposure to storm we would be far richer than we are.

PROFIT FROM BABY BEEVES

Farmer With Pasture Land Could Raise Few Without Great Expense—Grain Needed.

Every farmer who has pasture land could raise a few baby beefs profitably without great expense. In addition to the pasture a silo will be needed and a single crop. It may be advisable in addition to plant soiling crops to supplement the silage and pasture. Some hay should be available and enough grain to finish the calves for market.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Send the scrub sires to the butcher's block.

The water supply is of paramount importance in raising animals.

Pigs grow very fast when they have pasture and some grain as a supplement.

Beef cattle are able to convert coarse feeds such as hay, stover and silage into meat.

For a general farmer who raises animals and grows diversified crops a silo is almost indispensable.

Beef, pork, milk or mutton can be produced more economically by good pastures than by any other means.

Massachusetts Under Fire.

A western congressman was joking with a congressman from Massachusetts. "My congressional district," said he, "is several times as big as yours. In fact it's bigger than the whole state of Massachusetts."

"Well, well, that explains something I have never understood," replied the Bay State man.

"What is that?" asked the Westerner.

"It explains how you happened to be elected to congress," replied the politician from Massachusetts. "I suppose that most of your constituents have never even seen you!"

No Tonic Needed. "Your hair is getting thin," said the barber as he ran his long fingers through the stray hairs of his victim. "Now, we have the greatest tonic in the world, guaranteed to—"

"Oh, but I put something on it every morning!" said the customer. "May I inquire what sir?"

"My hat."
