

DISDAINED KNIFE AND FORK

"Swell" Fooled Both Men Who Made Bets as to His Manner of Eating Breakfast.

Tex Rickard said to a group of correspondents the other day: "It isn't only scrappers that make bad mistakes in etiquette. I was eating breakfast in one of the swell New York restaurants one morning when a fat man came in. "He's one of the biggest swells in the town," says my friend. "Watch him." "The fat man—he was dressed like a prince—ordered two portions of ham and eggs, two of country sausage, two of baked potatoes and a couple strips of fried chicken, all that, fish and milk, in a chop, liver and bacon, fried potatoes, oatmeal and corned beef hash. "All these things were brought to him together, and he dumped them into a big soup dish and proceeded to eat them up and mix them round well. "Hanged if that ain't the worst sight I've ever seen," I said to my friend. "I'll bet you three to one, George, he eats it with his knife." "No, no," says George. "He's a big swell, I tell you. I bet he eats it with his fork." Mr. Rickard shook his head gloomily. "We both lost," he said. "He ate it with a ladle."

Mouse Wore Diamond.
Some women may be afraid of some mice, but when a mouse gets civilized and swaggers enough to run around wearing diamonds—well, the heroine of this story tells it, and responsibility begins and ends with her.
Miss Genevieve Allen of New York, head of the abandonment bureau of District Attorney Swan's office, returned from a vacation in Maine to find a mouse cawing on the floor of her office with a diamond gleaming from its tail.
Miss Allen realizing, perhaps, that she could never get away with the story without something resembling proof, caught that mouse. Whether she did it with gas, hypnosis or a depth bomb may never be known, but she got close enough to extract a diamond curving from the mouse's tail though she let the mouse get away without attempting to arrest it for burglary. The curving was turned over to Acting District Attorney Barton.

A New Role for Baby.
Johnny—Mother, may I take out the perambulator? I want to play with it for a little while.
Mother—Well, Johnny, I should think you might ask to take baby, too.
Johnny—Oh, yes, he shall come; he'll make a splendid fireman. Billy Gubbins has his mother's clothesline, the carriage will be the fire engine, and there'll be about twenty boys to pull.—The Scotsman.

Trees Strong.
Trees and plants display a wonderful strength at times. Some of them will lift a heavy stone which blocks their way or even split a rock, but there is one thing which they can not withstand and that is the stranglehold of another plant which encircles them. A honeysuckle will soon kill a tree which it takes hold of and in the tropical forests there are many creepers which kill the trees they climb and save themselves by reaching out to neighboring trees.
