

Stolen and Otherwise.

The postal Telegraph company has extended its line to Tombstone, Ariz., and opened an office in that growing town.

This is a billion dollar country, all right. At least that is the amount annually spent for liquor in the United States.

A heavy hail and rain storm on the 23th of April, is said to have done some damage to the fruit crop in and near Sauta Fe.

The reform spirit has broken out in El Paso and the old police are being replaced by new ones who presumably, are not onto the graft system.

All who can should read President Roosevelt's speeches. They preach the gospel of true Americanism as it has never been preached before.

Farmers of the Rio Grande valley believe that there will be plenty of river water this year to produce good crops and are planting more than in any recent year.

The Las Vegas Advertiser will be issued as a daily newspaper on and after May 1. There is room for a live morning paper in Las Vegas, and the Advertiser will deserve success.

Douglas' Arizona is going to celebrate the Fourth, among the attractions offered for the day are Bull fights, Prize fights and all kinds of brutal and cruel sports; surely they will have a time.

Mexico is to have a new steamship line to Europe. With all this talk of the difficulties of the present monetary system, Mexico seems to be going right ahead with its trade expansion.

The Phoenix Democrat announces that the bonus for the beet sugar factory for that place has all been subscribed, and that the plant will be one of the largest and most modern in the United States.

The El Paso news has a statistical article showing that ninety-five gambling places in El Paso have 350 men on pay rolls who receive $1,400 per day. Of course rents, monthly fines, and other expenses are heavy and the managers must receive much more than $1,400, say $3,000 per day, to make any profit on capital invested.

The newspapers that questioned the sincerity of Attorney General Knox, who has knocked out J. P. Morgan, a greatest railway merger scheme and thus headed off other plans of the same character owe that able lawyer an apology. The New York World has editorially asked pardon for its fling.

New Mexico ranges and farm lands had not in many winters received as much precipitation of snow and rain as fell last winter. The same may be said of the mountains of Colorado. The rivers will supply more water than usual for irrigation and a year of plenty is promised to producers in the agricultural districts of the southwest.

The man who had the town name of Eddy changed to Carlsbad, to advertise a salt spring over on the Pecos, thinking a boom would follow, never lived to see the place become a rival of the European Carlsbad. If he had a few more lives he would not see such a result. A return to the name of him who founded the town, built its railway and nursed the place to strength, would now be a fitting apology for the Carlsbad folly.

Notwithstanding the president will only make one stop in Arizona, and that at the most inaccessible point, at the end of a branch railroad, on the rim of the Grand Canon, he will be welcomed by many prominent citizens from every part of the territory. A special car will carry a party of Bisbeeites. We hope all who go to see the President will impress upon him the desire of our people for statehood.—Bisbee Review.

Some New Mexico people are kicking at giving the governor of the territory a small appropriation for the contingent expenses. In New York the legislature has just appropriated the sum of $50,000 to defray the cost of an official visit to the dedication of the St. Louis World's Fair by the governor of the Empire state. Take it all in all, it seems that the people of New York are doing the right thing, but then that state is the richest and most powerful state in the union and New Mexico is only a struggling territory. But in view of the fact that members of the council and house of the last assembly appropriated $3,000 to pay for the junketing trip to Washington in which several of them participated there is not much where-upon to base opposition to an appropriation for contingent expenses for the governor's office. With these honorable representatives of the people, however, the saying: "It makes a great deal of difference whose ox is gored," seems to have had much effect.—New Mexican.

The forests should be preserved to protect the water sources and the lumber supply of the future; the mining laws should be improved to give greater encouragement and protection for prospectors and mining operators and greater revenue to the reclamation fund; the grazing districts should be put under control in order that the remaining grasses may not be destroyed and that barren ranges may be restored. The present situation is a serious menace to the meat supply of the nation.

When I get to the west, here, I feel thoroughly at home. I know you; I have been with you. I worked here on the plains in the old days. I believe in you with all my heart and I have taken the keenest pride in watching your growth, in seeing these states of the plains and the Rocky mountains go steadily onward in their career of greatness. What I admire this great western country most for is its men and women, and as I believe in the stock I am mighty glad to see the children.—President Roosevelt.

Some of the remarks made by the uninitiated easterners who alight at this place to see the sights are rather funny, says the Albuquerque Journal-Democrat. A lady who stopped off here Sunday made her companions halt in front of the Alvarado cafe and all listened enraptured to the charming and romantic sound of "old Spanish chimes," coming from some quaint old adobe church "over yonder somewhere." This was a great compliment to the musical ability of the gentleman who performs on the dinner gong at the entrance to the lunch counter.

The American Girl.

Of course all of us have known it all the time but this is what an English nobleman, who has just returned from a visit in this country, says of the American girl:

"The American woman is the most glorious production of the American civilization. No means are spared to perfect the American girl's education, no money lacking to purchase suitable adornment for her person. Is it to be wondered at that when she comes over here and takes her place like one to the manor born among the fairest flowers of our old aristocracy?"

"It is not necessary for an American woman to marry a title to be received among the aristocracy abroad. Her grace, her charm, her independence, her perfect poise and assurance will open any door to her, and I think that she is beginning to realize this. A duke or a prince may be proud to have an American girl for a wife, but it were better could he feel always that he had won her because he was a man and she loved him than because he was a nobleman."

Pullman Sleepers Daily to California.

When you reach El Paso board the Santa Fe train for Albuquerque; equipped with pullman and free chair cars. From Albuquerque to Los Angeles or San Francisco two classes of Pullmans are in service—palace and tourist. Space in the latter costs considerably less than the former, but both are Pullman cars and have pullman conductors and porters. The two sleepers differ only in upholstery and decorations. Service is the same.
Apply for copy of free leaflet describing these Santa Fe sleepers.
