

J. C. DARRAGH MAY BE TRIED.

JUSTICE MAY YET GET A CHANCE AT THE BANK PRESIDENT.

It Looks a Little as Though Prosecuting Attorney Lowe Would Force the Case to Trial Before Witnesses Are Dead.

The March term of the criminal court began yesterday at Independence. The cases against J. C. Darragh, president of the Savings Bank, were all set for hearing on June 14. Judge Wofford made the setting to suit the convenience of Prosecutor Lowe. It is expected that it will take at least ten days for the trial. There are many cases pending against Darragh on the criminal court docket, charging him with receiving deposits when the bank was known to be in a failing condition. The prosecutor will elect to try one of the cases out of the batch of indictments returned in the Southern district, and a special effort will be made to send Darragh to jail Saturday in the state penitentiary.

NEW GRAND JURY AT WORK.

County Court Selects Three Jurors Who, Under the Law, Were Ineligible to Serve.

It is a well known fact that the jury wheel which turns out jurors for the circuit court is just as apt to turn out the name of a dead man as a live one, but it remained for the county court to draw county officials as grand jurors. There seems to be little difference between the misadventured juror and the county court to shuffle names of possible grand jurors about and the more intricate jury wheel. The county court puts the names of eligible jurors in the jury wheel and performs the same function for the grand jury as the grand jury does for the circuit court. At any rate, the results are the same. When Judge Wofford had the marshal call for the grand jurors summoned for the March term of the criminal court, he up walked Deputy Sheriff J. D. Shawhan, who begged to be excused. Judge Wofford excused him without remark. S. B. E. and the plaintiff was the next grand juror and he pleaded that he was exempt by reason of being over age. Mr. J. R. Spencer, a druggist, who under the law, was ineligible, was next excused, only nine out of the twelve men chosen by the county court remained to act for the criminal court. Judge Wofford appointed Joseph J. P. Wells and O. L. Mann to serve. This made the panel and the court charged the grand jurors with the usual instructions. Judge Wofford named Colonel Joseph W. Mercer as foreman and the jurors were ushered into the courtroom and the cases considered by that body yesterday were for minor offenses and the jurors adjourned early.

HEIRS SUE FOR THEIR SHARE.

H. J. Daniels and Mrs. Dennis Want the Courts to Order an Accounting of the Daniels Estate.

H. J. Daniels and Mrs. W. S. Dennis have begun suit in the circuit court in this city for an accounting and a division of the property of William F. Daniels, who died intestate in October, 1886. The defendants to the suit are Helen E. Stone, H. E. McCurdy and A. J. Daniels. The plaintiffs are H. J. Daniels, E. A. Daniels and S. M. Daniels. William F. Daniels was a son of Mrs. Esther Daniels and was the youngest child of the plaintiffs. He died in 1886, and his estate was administered by Mrs. Dennis, who was appointed executrix. She collected $10,000 and invested $4,625.50 of it in a house and lot in McGee's addition, having the real estate in the name of Mrs. Esther Daniels. Prior to the death of Mrs. Daniels, she executed a deed to the property to her son, H. J. Daniels, and in the suit, H. J. Daniels and Mrs. Dennis, the plaintiffs, were in California and did not seek to be appointed executrix. They came to Kansas City and demanded an accounting, but were refused. They claim to be the real owners of the property and allege that the deed to the property was secured by chicanery, fraud and undue influence. They claim that Mrs. Dennis was in her dotage and incapable of concluding a business transaction. They ask the court to force an accounting of all the property.

TRINITY CHURCH SOLD.

The Property Finds but One Bidder—Services Will Go on Just as Usual.

Attorney D. B. Holmes, as trustee, yesterday sold the Trinity Episcopal church, which is situated at the southwest corner of Tenth street and Tracy avenue, in this city for a deed of trust for $20,000, held by the American Church Building Fund Commission of New York. The church was sold to the public auction from the postoffice steps and there was but one bidder, Attorney E. B. Krawford, who bid $20,000 for the building. The fund commission, the property went for $20,000. The sale will interfere with the conduct of the church. Rev. Robert Talbot will continue to act as its rector and arrangements will be made with the new owners of the church whereby services will continue to be held in the edifice. Either a stipulated rental will be paid or property will be bought outright. Trinity church contains about 20,000 and was built in the "boom" days, when real estate was selling for $100,000. The edifice was shipped from Lake Superior. When property values came down to their normal level, the church was sold. The decrease in other prices and the church was unable to meet its obligations. Judgments for $20,000 were entered against the church in the circuit court by Mrs. Pullman, of Virginia, and the second attempt of Andrews to sell, but the execution of the judgments was stayed.

CLARK AND JUDAH WILL TRAVEL.

Must Go Into Another County for Settlement of the Damage Suit Against Judah.

Judge Slover has granted a change of venue in the $50,000 damage suit of Henry D. Clark, proprietor of the Ninth Street theater, against A. Judah, proprietor of the Grand opera house. Judge Slover decided to send the case outside the county for trial. The suit is out of the burning of the old Ninth Street opera house, which was tried once in this county, but the jury disagreed. Mr. Clark alleges that Judah was manager of the old Ninth Street opera house and did not take necessary precautions to prevent a fire. The attorneys on both sides made bitter insinuations against the principals in the suit.

TESTIMONY WILL OUT.

At Least, in the Andrews Divorce Case It Is Bound to Be Heard Soon.

Application was made to Judge Henry yesterday to stay the taking of depositions before Attorney R. E. Ball as special commissioner in the divorce case of Amador Andrews against Maria Theresa Andrews. This is the second attempt of Andrews to secure legal separation from his wife. When he made the first effort he held a position with a local express company that paid him $40 a month, but he lost his job and the suit. Two weeks ago he instituted new proceedings for a divorce and asked that a special commission be appointed to

SALARY REFORM NEEDED.

Statement of the county Treasurer Shows the Necessity of Cutting Down the Expenses.

A very voluminous statement of the financial condition of Jackson county was filed by the county clerk with the county court yesterday. It comprises the business of the county court for one year and the record of each county warrant filed to individuals during that period. Over 6,000 warrants were issued by the county during the past twelve months ending January 1, 1897. The statement verifies the statements made that the county is rushing pell mell into debt, and that retrenchment all along the line is imperative. After receiving the statement from the county clerk, the county court went into executive session and the statement shows that during the year $69,283.63 has been disbursed by the county court, that $48,575.50 in excess of the receipts of the county for the year is expended. The majority of the shortage of $20,708.13, notwithstanding the fact that Jackson county has nearly $1,000,000 in bonds, is of sufficient amount to bring the county and the taxpayers to view the situation with alarm. It has been demonstrated that the cost of the officers and deputies in excess of fees amounts to over $55,000. The report shows that there was on hand January 1, 1896, $14,977.49, and on January 1, 1897, $15,219.59. The general revenue fund shows that there has been paid out over this amount the sum of $28,264, which goes into the special road fund, and which has been expended on the county roads. The report shows in detail the amount of each office in the county, and the statement is the best ever gotten up by a county clerk in completeness.

Here's a Man Who Resigns an Office.

The March term of the county court opened at Independence yesterday, and was devoted to the hearing of numerous road petitions. It was a banner day for the farmers, and the road applications filed for the opening of new roads and the changing of others, presented spring activity for the county. The resignation of Joseph Connelly as justice of the peace for Brookings township, which was promptly accepted, Connelly assigned as his reason for stepping out of office that he was moving out of the township.

No Marshal, No Court.

Judge Phillips, District Attorney Walker and Deputy Sheriff Collins went to St. Joseph yesterday to open the March term of the federal court at that point. In the absence of any marshal for the district, it was impossible to draw funds for the payment of court expenses, and therefore no cases of importance were brought up. Some minor matters that were before the court were disposed of, and court adjourned until March 23.

Restraints the Sale of The Elms.

Judge Gates yesterday granted a temporary injunction to the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, restraining the Central Bank of Kansas City and Sheriff J. A. Hymer, of Clay county, from disposing of The Elms hotel and the opera house at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

ELECTRIC LINE TO ROSEDALE.

Several Crews of Men Put to Work Transforming Southwest Boulevard Line Into a Modern Road.

The actual start in the work of converting the old Southwest boulevard on the Southwest boulevard to Rosedale into a modern electric line was begun yesterday morning, when two gangs of men were put to work digging holes for the trolley poles, and another gang was put to work repairing the poles by skinning and painting them. The publication of the fact that work would be begun yesterday was enough to draw to the corner of Summit street and the Southwest boulevard at least 200 men, some of whom were at the spot before daylight, so eager were they to obtain jobs. Superintendent Collins and James Clark, of the Construction Company, of Chicago, which is building the line, appeared on the scene about 7 o'clock and were at once surrounded by the numerous applicants. They picked out about eighty men for digging holes and set them to work, one gang working toward Rosedale and the other toward Wyandotte street. Another gang was set to work getting the poles ready, and by 7 o'clock the poles were in position. The contract calls for the work to be completed by May 1, and Superintendent Collins stated yesterday that it would be completed before that time.

PRAYERS AT THE LUNCH HOUR.

First of the Noonday Meetings for Business Men Attended by Representative Citizens.

Under the auspices of the Ministers' Alliance the first of the business men's Monday prayer meetings was held yesterday afternoon at the Lyceum building and was attended by about 200 business men. A large number of those present were business men who left their offices and counting rooms to attend the service. Rev. H. D. Jenkins, of the Second Presbyterian church, conducted the service. He spoke of Christ weeping over the fall of Jerusalem. He made an earnest exhortation to the business men to take an active interest in the religious welfare of the city. Dr. J. O. B. Lowry spoke of the work of the church in the world and expressed the wish they might be the sowing of much good seed. The meetings will be held daily from 12 to 1 o'clock and will be in charge of some minister or layman. The first of the series will be conducted by Rev. S. A. Northrop, who is the successor of Dr. Vassar at the Second Presbyterian church. The meetings are open for men and women alike.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS COMING.

State Convention to Be Held in Kansas City This Spring, When High Officers Will Be Here.

At the monthly meeting of the Kansas City Union of King's Daughters at the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon arrangements were begun for holding a state convention of King's Daughters in Kansas City next spring. It was announced that Mrs. Margaret Bottom, president of the International Order of King's Daughters, and Mrs. Isabelle C. Davis, corresponding secretary of the order, both of New York city, would pass through Kansas City some time during the summer on their way to California. The members of the order in this city were invited to have the two officers of the national order address the members throughout the state. After a discussion it was decided to make the preliminary arrangements for the state convention. Committees were appointed to consider the various King's Daughters questions. The matter of the transportation and classification and rates on merchandise to be discussed by the business men.

Believe in protection? Do? It's a good time to show your colors, this week is, while the hungry horde go down to Washington to Grover's closing out sale. Everything has been "Mark'd down for this week at the White House. That's what ails Hanna. Grover's going to March forth on March 4th and William is going to move right in and make himself at home. For your protection, we'd advise you to buy a Spring Overcoat if you intend to go along and get an office. Buy it now, for if you stay in Washington long you won't have money enough to buy one. $4.50 for a good Cassimere Overcoat. $7.50 for genuine pure Worsted Spring Overcoats, $8.00 for swell covert top coats. That's our kind of protection. It protects you against March winds and high prices, two things that prevail to a certain extent in this spot on the map called Kansas City.
