

CHANGES IN THE BIG LEAGUE

HOW THE PLAYERS ARE BEING MOVED ABOUT.

Deals and Drafts Plentiful—Pittsburgh and St. Louis Making Great Changes—Brooklyn Seems to Be Doing Little.

If there is any subject that the average ball crack likes to keep tab on, it is the complexion and makeup of the various clubs of the National League, and the subject, especially during the long months between October and April, is not only accurate, but also very interesting.

Since the official close of the season, the apparent dullness in the market for trades and deals and drafts of fast players have been made to diversify the complexion of the clubs quite agreeably.

A raft of young players, most of whom will never get so much as a trial in the big league, have been listed on the market.

Club by club, the deals and drafts likely to be actual effect upon the playing line of the teams are being noted.

DID DALY BUY HAMBURG?

New York Newspaper Says the Copper King Has Bought the Great Animal.

New York, Dec. 12.—The Mail and Express says today: "Those who connect the visit of William Lakeland to Kentucky with the purchase of Hamburg say there is no doubt that Marcus Daly, the Montana copper king, is the new owner of Hanover's greatest son. Mr. Daly has expended a quarter of a million in the last few years trying to get a good horse. His costly efforts have not been in vain, and success since the time of the all-conquering champion of the world, the late General Sherman, in 1862, Mr. Daly has announced his intention of retiring from the management of the mine and to believe that he has engaged Lakeland as a trainer and will try his luck again."
