SKETCHES ABOUT TOWN—THE POLICE PATROL.

The fastest run of the Kansas City police patrol wagon on record was made last Friday morning, when it was reported that burglars had been locked in a room in an East side residence. A lack of officers was taken to the scene, a distance of nearly three miles, in ten minutes. The patrol is known among the characters with whom it has meet to do as the "hoodlums," and at all hours of the day and night it may be seen or heard as it dashes over the paved streets to the aid of an officer who has an unsteady prisoner or a hapless "drunk."
