

NEW PAPER MONEY

FRESH DESIGNS ADOPTED FOR THE CURRENCY OF THE REALM.

The Treasury Disatisfied With the "Art Notes" Now in Circulation—How the New Patterns Are Being Turned Out.

Correspondence of the Boston Transcript. The people of this country will be spending several new kinds of money within a couple of months from the present time. Already a few specimens of it have been distributed in Washington, but the treasury will not be prepared to issue it for a while yet, because it takes a good many millions of notes and certificates to fill the demand, and after they have gone through the presses they have to dry for weeks very slowly, so that the ink on them may not blur in handling. Besides, only the $1 and $5 silver certificates have been rejected by the secretary of the treasury, and the other denominations are to come.

The reason for preparing these new designs for the paper currency is simply that those which adorn the bills now in circulation are not considered satisfactory. As one treasury official said the other day: "The pattern of the present $1 note wouldn't make a decent newspaper cut. A couple of years ago the government had to issue a new kind of money, and the country really wanted an artistic money, and it hired some well known artists to execute designs for the various denominations of certificates and notes. It was a beautiful idea, but somehow it has not proved a success. The high art bills in general circulation, with their allegorical pictures and ornamental shields, medals and things, have been the cause of much derision on the part of the public and most particular disgust in banks and counting rooms, where their obscure numbers have made them difficult to reckon.

The new design. About 50 per cent of the surface of the new bills on both sides will be left blank. In order to show the fibres of the paper better, and, secondly, because this arrangement brings out the engraved designs more clearly, the new patterns will have the "art notes" that the treasury confide the eye, making it more easy to detect any counterfeit. The new money about to be issued, on the other hand, is almost entirely plain. An eagle with outspread wings is the principal ornament of the face of the $1 silver certificate. The figure 1 and the treasury seal are in bright blue, and both seal and denomination are in red. The new design on all of the new certificates, so that the latter may be distinguishable at a glance from the old ones, is a red eagle with its wings spread, and a red seal. The $5 certificate has a head of Washington.

The treasury people say that the value of the portrait as a safeguard against counterfeiting lies in the fact that we are all so much used to seeing human faces than any other objects in the world. We are accustomed to recognize our friends, and very soon we become so used to seeing a face on a bill as to notice the smallest alteration in its expression. A steel engraver is not so easily deceived, and the difference of a line will induce a change in the expression which any one will see. The "art notes" have portraits on their backs, and these, being so easily seen, are comparatively obscure, and the face of a bill, anyhow, is the side usually examined.

The fiber paper will be retained in the new bills, notwithstanding objections made to it by some experts, who were that it is practically worthless as a protection against counterfeiting. It was used long ago for a considerable time by the government, but was discontinued because the people who owned the patent for the fiber paper were not willing to pay the price of employing it. In the issue of United States notes of 1870 the ingenious scheme was originated of placing a band of colored fibers on the left hand side of the denominations under $5, and on the right hand side of the higher denominations. The object of this being to beat that enterprising gentleman, Peter McCarty, who had developed the fiber paper, and the ink of small bills and printing big ones on the blanks thus obtained. In this way, obviously, he could get the best treasury paper, fiber and all, at a relatively cheap rate.

Indeed, the practicableness of this process constitutes one objection to the fiber paper, and it is a serious one, inasmuch as false notes produced on the fiber paper plan actually acquire a superior verisimilitude through the help of the fiber. However, the fibers can be imitated quite perfectly by making a few irregular scratches on a steel plate and printing from the lat-

ISLAND OF AMAZONS

COLUMBUS HOPED ALWAYS TO FIND FIGHTING FEMALES.

Monterrat a British Possession. Where Lime Juice is Made—The Island an Ideal Plantation Home.

From the Washington Star. There is probably no legend of the Greek mythology that dies harder than that of the Amazonas or Amazons, fierce, fighting women, who have held men at bay for so many centuries. They were located in various parts of Asia, and finally in Africa, but long after the crystallization of the myth into the Grecian stories of the heroes and heroines the tale survived, or rather reappeared, in the New World. Columbus, as we know, when seeking a passage across to Asia, was all the time dwelling upon Old World traditions and had in mind only what had been written by voyagers and travelers in the East. In the island of Cuba he sought the court of the grand khan, in Hayti the Upanago of Marco Polo, and he looked for the verification of Oriental fables and expected at every turn to come across their fabulous monsters.

Near the termination of that voyage, when in the Bay at Samana, on the north coast of Santo Domingo, he heard of something that set his blood tingling and caused him to shape his course southward instead of toward Spain and home ports. Some of the Indians captured there told him of an island of the Caribbees that was inhabited by a race of fighting women, whom they called the Amazonas. They had been taken aboard as pilots, he steered in the direction they indicated, resolved to add their discovery and conquest to the fruits of that voyage.

The prevailing trade winds, however, were baffling, and he turned about and bore up for the Azores and Spain, taking along with him a fleet of several ships and a caravan of his men. He was influenced by the reports of the Caribs and Amazonas, and he looked for the verification of the story that he had heard of. He did not get a sight of the island he sought, but he did not lose heart, and he sailed on, and when, nearly a year later, he set sail from Santo Domingo, he had a fleet of several ships and a caravan of his men.

Legend of the Amazonas. Nearly fifty years later, or in 1540, we have evidence that the legend was not forgotten. For it appears in the account of that wonderful voyage made by Orellana down the great rivers of South America, and the Amazon, says a writer who followed him twenty years after. Orellana having met that of the Amazonas, he was struck by her stature, who defended herself with her hands and her soldiers, and he followed her to the mouth of the Amazon. He was struck by her stature, who defended herself with her hands and her soldiers, and he followed her to the mouth of the Amazon.

FIGHT BLASTED CAREER. Indian Lost His Nose in a Melee and Gave Up His Ambition to be a Lawyer. Suite vs. Marie Special to the New York World. Edward O'Shawana was the name, not of a descendant of Irish kings but of a noted Indian chief who has just passed away from his home on Sugar Island, near this place. Sometimes O'Shawana was called the "Indian Chesterfield with the Wax Nose." For he had a wax nose. His original nose was chewed off in a fight.

GREAT MEN ARE STRONG

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL STRENGTH ARE NEXT OF KIN.

Men Prominent in Finance, in Politics, Literature, Law and Theology, Almost Invariably of Great Physical Strength.

William Blake, in the New York World. Great men—men capable of mental work beyond the average—are almost invariably men of great physical strength also. Commodore Vanderbilt was six feet tall, handsome, devoted to outdoor sport, a fine swimmer, a good oarsman, yachtsman and horseman. At the age of 6 he drove race horses on the Staten Island track.

Jefferson at 17 was tall, raven-haired, freckled, sandy haired. He was not graceful, but straight as a gun barrel, sinewy, strong and alert, with a tread like an Indian's. Cromwell was a football player, fond of bolstersport. He was nearly six feet, had a strong, compact body. Milton was nicknamed at college "The Lady" on account of his slight make, but he was a good fencer.

Andrew Jackson's Way. Andrew Jackson when elected to congress rode on horseback 50 miles from Tennessee to Washington. He stood six feet and one inch, was slender but erect. He was graceful and dignified, and an excellent horseman. He was passionately fond of wrestling.

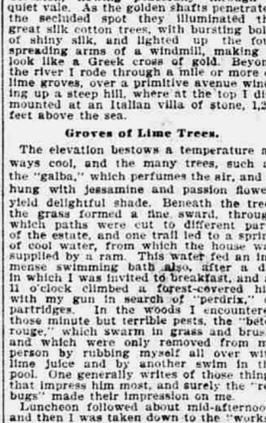

John Marshall was six feet high, agile rather than muscular. He stood ten miles a day for exercise. Napoleon was capable of sitting a horse for sixteen hours at a stretch, and for days without rest or food (except in snatches).

Henry Clay was six feet one inch high, erect and commanding. He was five feet ten inches tall, but seemed taller, and had prodigious lungs and muscles. Rufus Choate was over six feet, with a fine, well-developed neck and shoulders, a frame and huge hands and feet. Gladstone was big-framed, bonny and muscular. At 50 he was as fit as a young man of 20.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND DON'T KNOW IT.

ITS MARVELOUS SUCCESS IN ALL KIDNEY, BLADDER AND URIC ACID TROUBLES.

To Prove for Yourself the Wonderful Merits of This New Discovery, Every Journal Reader May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney Remedy.

What your kidneys need is a gentle, healing, tonic influence, that will soothe their irritability and gently regulate them.

The only thing that will do this is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney Remedy.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these useful organs.

What more natural? The Kidneys Filter and purify the blood.

When they don't your whole body must suffer. If you wait when allowed to remain undisturbed in a glass or bottle for twenty-four hours, forms a sediment or settling or dregs, and is unfit for use.

The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is that it stands in the highest of its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. Make a note of the name, SWAMP-ROOT, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle of this famous kidney remedy sent free by mail, postpaid, by which you may test its virtues for such disorders as kidney, bladder and uric acid diseases, and urinary troubles. Also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and containing some of the thousands of testimonials from men and women who owe their good health, in fact, their very lives, to the wonderful curative properties of Swamp-Root. Write to Dr. Kilmer at his address, "Sunday Journal" when sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., 1818 Hamilton St., N. Y.

QUICK CARE FOR A DISAPPOINTED BRIDE.

From the Galveston Daily News. The Borden & Borden Live Stock Company of Galveston will ship a unique cargo to Havana on the Memphis line steamship Helios, which will sail this week. It consists of bulls and bees. There are 600 head of the former, and 100 of the latter, a number of blooded and graded hives for breeding purposes. There are 700 bees in all. The bees were taken from the cars. Some of the bees got out as the hives were being unloaded from the cars, and the bees were taken to pay for a quick care for a disappointed bride.

A black and white check, with blue piping and a dark blue lining, is a very effective costume for country autumn wear.

Many so-called educated Chinese firmly believe that a king of the diet where the inhabitants are pigmies, one where all are giants, another where all are women, and still another where every part of the body is a hole through the center of his body, so that, by means of a pole thrust through this hole, they may be carried from one place to another. In substantiation of this belief they say that they have seen pictures of them.
