Big Agricultural Exposition.

Eighteen acres of ground in the heart of Kansas City's most beautiful park district, the Parade and Paseo has been secured as the site for the fall entertainment.

The plans for Kansas City's fall festivities will give her the most ambitious entertainment the southwest has ever known. The live stock exhibit will include horse, cattle, sheep, hog and poultry shows. The cash prizes offered will amount to $5,000. Merchandise prizes will also amount to $5,000. Competent judges will make the awards. There will also be competitive exhibits in display of horticultural and agricultural products. This feature alone is to be one of the most important and interesting of the whole fall festivities. It gives to the people of the southwest an interest which is proprietary since it is to them the success of the fair is due. No one is barred from taking part. The housewife who preserves, pickles and jellies have a neighborhood reputation will in this Kansas City fair have an opportunity to gain a wider field of approbation and a valuable prize as well. In the horticultural and agricultural fields the same opportunity is open; prize fruits, pumpkins, potatoes, wheat, corn, alfalfa and many other things that grow will have a place to be seen, admired and secure a share of the prizes offered.

In the live stock exhibits it is hoped that the farmer who has a fancy horse, cow, steer, hog, poultry or sheep will enter it as well as the breeder who makes a specialty of raising pure and thoroughbreds.

Another interesting and educational feature of the fall entertainment will be the manufacturing exposition. In very many things this department of the big show simply represents a graduated phase of the country fair. The hide of the cattle will be shown in shoes, saddles, harness, trunks and bags, the meat and fat of cattle, hogs and poultry in the various forms of canned and preserved food products made in the big packing houses of Kansas City. The products of the fields in flour, meat, rolled oats, syrups, preserves and countless other food products. Then will come the wonder-worker—machinery and its kindred metal products, gas engines, hay presses, rakes, plows, cultivators, farm machinery in general household and mechanics' tools, novelties, brass, copper and tin products.

The manufacturers' pavilion is 800 feet long and this area will be filled with miniature factories in active operation and displays of goods made in Kansas City. In the retail merchants' pavilion will be model stores, artistic displays of all kinds of goods, dear at once to all the epicure and to the artistically inclined. Kansas City manufacturers are taking hold of the plan and there will be a splendid showing of Kansas City's representative factories.

Through the efforts of the Retail Merchants' Association the thirty railroads centering at Kansas City from all points around Kansas City have made low extension rates covering the period of the big fall exposition. The dates, September 29 to October 11 come at a time, when with the harvesting laid by, the people of the southwest can take a well earned holiday and Kansas City this year offers more in the way of instructive amusement and a royal good time than any other place in the west this fall.

Let Us All Say Amen.

A recent writer asks: "Would you advise a young man with $5,000 capital, intending to become a business man, to spend that sum first on a college education?" Certainly not. Let him work in vacation and use only the interest of $5,000, and he will have both his education and his principal when he gets through. Because some foolish parents spend a sum like this each year on an effeminate or luxurious boy does not concern him. He can get a better education in the same college by his unaided efforts. If our colleges insist that their students must get down to work or go home, we should hear less of lavish expenditure or of the complaint that colleges are for rich men only. It is the college where the students are poor that will some day have the rich alumni.—President David Starr Jordan in the Independent.

Mrs. John W. Newman.

Again has the home circle been broken by the death angel. In the early morning of August 31st, 1902 the beloved wife of Jas. W. Newman was called to leave the pains and cares of earth for the higher life to be with her Saviour. Mrs. Mariel Newman made the confession of her faith in Christ in 1857 and joined the Christian church faithfully discharging every duty from that time until death. The bereaved husband, the aged mother and every member of her family have so much to comfort and strengthen them when they consider her triumphant death. E. L. P.

Natural Gas at Malta Bend.

The Saline County Oil and Developing Company have struck natural gas at Malta Bend. There is apparently enough of it to supply all Saline county. The gas was struck at a depth of about fifty feet. A boy, to see if it would burn, stuck a lighted match to it, and with two companions came very near being burned to death.

Mayview Display.

The citizens of Mayview and vicinity had an exhibition at Odessa during Street Fair, a grand display of fruit, principally apples, and agricultural products.

This display was on exhibition at Higginsville at the Lafayette County Fair and was considered the finest gathering and most tastefully arranged display at the fair.

Those editors who are analyzing and criticizing Secretary Shaw's Morrisville speech on the tariff question are too hard on the secretary. It was a noble effort. It lacked logic, veracity and coherency, it is true, but those omissions are inevitable in a discussion of the tariff question from a republican standpoint.—Marshall Progress.

21 YEARS A DASEPTIC.

R. H. Foster, 315 S. 2d St., Salt Lake City, writes: "I have been bothered with dyspepsia or indigestion for 21 years; tried many doctors without relief; recently I got a bottle of Herbine. One bottle cured me. I am now tapering off on the second. I have recommended it to my friends; it is curing them, too." 593 at Crenshaw & Young's. 9 6ml

A convention was held at Boonville recently to decide upon submitting a proposition to build a court house for Cooper county. The proposition was defeated by a vote of 60 to 58. The present court house was erected in 1888 and is long out of date.

"Central Missouri is now realizing the benefit of the splendid agricultural display made by the state commission at the Buffalo and Charleston Expositions," says former State Senator Ben Anderson, of Columbus.

"Within the last ninety days we have sold a half million dollars worth of lands in our county.

"The displays at the two expositions show what valuable agricultural lands we have out in central Missouri. Persons desiring to purchase that sort of land have investigated and larger investments therein have resulted.

"They have been misled previously by the cry of 'poor old Missouri,' voice by certain newspapers."

John H. Taylor who recently died at the Baltimore hotel was one of Missouri's foremost citizens. He was the first man to see the possibilities of the Joplin mining fields and organized the first mining company in that place, the Joplin Mining and Smelting company. He also was the organizer of the first bank in Joplin, the Joplin Savings bank, and was for many years its president. Before going to the Joplin district Mr. Taylor lived in Independence and was for several years the city attorney of Independence. He was born in Leesburg, Va., of English parents. His father emigrated to Missouri, settling in Independence several years previous to the civil war. Mr. Taylor was an Odd Fellow of forty years standing, being a past grand master in that organization. In 1898 he was appointed a commissioner to the Omaha exposition by Governor Stephens.—Jackson County Judge.

Mr. J. B. Hereford was married to Miss Elizabeth McDonald at the home of the bride's parents in Covington, Kentucky, Wednesday, September 3. The announcement of this marriage was a complete surprise to the many friends of Mr. Hereford at this place. When he left for the east last week his many friends presumed that it was his regular trip to the eastern market to buy fall goods for the firm of J. B. Hereford & Bro. Jack Hereford, as he is known to everyone here, comes of one of our best families, was born and reared in this community and is truly a man amongst men. The young lady he led to the altar is a niece of E. Q. R. T. Russell and belongs to one of Kentucky's oldest and best families. She has visited in Odessa and by her many accomplishing and charming manners has won a warm place in the hearts of Odessa's young society folks. Mr. and Mrs. Hereford are expected home some time the first of next week.—Odessa Ledger.

After almost a year's continuous working, the deep well being sunk west of town by the Moberly Improvement and Prospecting Company, was abandoned Sunday at the depth of 2,000 feet. Nothing was struck only an abundance of water, which is now too salty to be used for drinking purposes. The presence of oil was detected in several instances but not in large quantities. The hole will be plugged up so it can be used again if desired. While oil in paying quantities or gas was not discovered, Randolph Springs water was found at 900 feet.—Moberly Democrat.

Dr. J. V. Smith, brother of our townsman Dr. Geo. Smith, has passed an examination before the State Board of Health and is now a registered physician. Landis, porter for the Oriental Hotel, Chanute, Kan., says: "I know what it was to suffer with neuralgia, dead I did, and I got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Linctament and I was 'raised from the dead.' I tried to get some more, but before I had 'deposed' of my bottle I was cured entirely. I am telling 'de truth too." 25c, 50c and $1 at Crenshaw & Young's. 9 6ml.

Rev. J. W. Berry (of Arkansas Methodist Conference) writes: "I have used Dr. Moffett's Teethina for my children for several years and it has done me a great deal of good. It is the best teething powder I have ever used. It is safe and reliable for days, and nothing that we gave did any good, the second dose of 'TEETHINA' did the trick and he had no further trouble. Other members of the family have used it and every time had a perfect result."
