Mr. Wilson's Letter.

EDITOR INTELLIGENCER:
Jefferson wanted the turkey adopted as our national bird instead of the eagle, the emblem of rapacity. He did not know how well he hit it. Most Western readers know how to make a "turkey pen" into which wild turkeys will go through a ditch that leads into it at the bottom but once in they never look down to find the place through which they came in, and by which they could go out. The INTELLIGENCER discusses the tramps, to whom we pass out ten millions a year in cold grub. And as fast as the worn out tramp passes out for good another passes in. Dr. C. A. Elwood, professor of sociology in the Missouri University, has a treatment for them. So have thousands of other sociologists and reformers I am within pistol shot of a great International Reform Bureau; which accomplishes the important object of paying its officers salaries. I took up its pamphlet and found Cleveland and leading eastern millionaires who have grown rich by miffing the eighth commandment—among its shining lights. A patch on trousers is still called "Cleveland badge". Every Monday, metropolitan papers in the East have sermons from the Rev. Somebodyorother telling how to cure the tramp evil, wipe out the saloon, force men and wives who hate each other to live together and make "everything lovely" every where. These plans are about as good as the eight year old royal English princess' plans for the Irish in whose homes there was no bread: "Why don't they buy it from the baker?" An Arkansas druggist kept a demijohn into which he poured all the remnants of medicines in the bottle sent to him to be refilled, and when a case befell him he tried some of that mixture on it. If all the reformers, the editors, preachers, and sociologists could mix their remedies and apply them to the various "evils" it would be like a Lexington druggist's patent medicines—"good as any" that they do give us. The tramp evil is not a speculation with me, for I was for years a contractor for government, railroad and other corporations and lived in daily contact for years with working men and what I know of the tramp evil I learned by seeing how and why it originates. The N. Y. Tribune says the trouble all comes from people leaving farms and crowding into cities and the N. Y. Times says it is because farming is so easily learned that too many go at it and the result is overproduction. They tramp because bread is cheap.

Three professors of economics in a New England college came into the house in which I room and when acquainted I asked them if they had seen Wilson's Financial Philosophy in alcove? in the Congressional Library. As they had not, I showed them a copy and they read it, discussed it and asked why they had never seen it in a bookstore. I told them it was in some of them, carefully hidden away, for if the issue-banks' officers found out that the bookseller was selling it, they would cut off his line of accommodations and let him drop. The great booksellers, Harpers, Appletons, etc., have failed and are said to be now run by banks.

Having said so much by way of preface there is little room left to say more. George Forester in 1833 that we would get into these conditions, the reason why we would and that no body would look for the cause or try to remove it but would make efforts to cure the conditions and the remaining, the conditions would remain. The cause in the displacement of money and the substitution for it of what Webster defined as thief-currency. The tramp evil is one of the many branches of that upas tree. We can't walk always in the wrong direction and get to the right place. We can't ignore the laws of health and not pay the penalty. We can't ignore the multiplication table and solve problems in mathematics. We can't ignore the science of money and know sociology. We can't fail to apply the science of money to government and not have tramps. The science of money tells that economic legislature has been manipulated dishonestly, so that some are getting more than their share and hence for some of the others there can be no share. Social returns will never come through political parties. There is not much prospect that they will ever come. There is too much turkey-nature in man. If the college professors knew the cause of the evils they talk of and would tell it and the only remedy, most of them would lose their places. The same with most of the preachers and editors.

After a long discussion with Prof. Nipper of Washington University I sent him my "Principles of the Science of Money" and asked that he commend or refute it, for he is an able man. But I warned him that if he ever publicly endorsed the principles of the money science and called paper substitute for money and promises of money by their right name as Webster did he would lose his position in Washington University. And he has heeded my warning. Why in the American Association for the advancement of Science is the science of money never discussed? If we even get out of the pen of evil complained of it will be by going back over the road by which we went into it. For instance in another column you rebuke an advocate of the Initiative and Referendum panacea. I once asked one of them: "If voters are bribed or bulldozed into voting against their convictions and interest now, why will they not be the same in voting under the Initiative and Referendum? And like the guest who was asked about the absence of a wedding garment, immediately he became speechless."

BASEBALL PLAYERS AND FOOT RACERS.

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland writes, Oct. 27, 1901: During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c, $1 a bottle. Sold by Crenshaw & Young.

Myra Kelly's Sudden Rise.

Myra Kelly's rapid rise to wide popularity as an author in less than a year's time is a remarkable occurrence in the publishing world, but the reading of her stories is its own proof of the eternal fitness of her success. Into "The Land of Heart's Desire" Miss Kelly takes her little company of East Side school children, in the July McClure's. Out of the tenements away from brick walls and stone streets, these children of the poor journey to Central Park, and the story of their experiences there, in this undiscovered country of rare delight, is refreshing, humorous, and, at times, pathetic. The struggle for car-fare, the guest of "the rubber-necked boat-birds," the joys of discovery, beauty and novelty and the final disappointment are sympathetically described, and mark one of Miss Kelly's best efforts.

All the pathos of child life in New York's crowded tenement district is reflected in this soliloquy of one of these children: "The Central Park is awful pretty, awful pretty! I likes we should live here all the time."

MRS. CECELIA STOWE,
Orator, Entre Nous Club.

178 Warren Avenue,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.
For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Cecelia Stowe
Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

Coal Company.

At a meeting of the Commercial Club Thursday night of last week a committee composed of Mayor S. L. McBurney, R. W. Broughton, C. L. Glasscock, J. P. DeMoss and I. W. Carson, were appointed to organize a stock company to sink a shaft and open up the coal fields adjacent to Odessa. This is one of the best things that could be done for the business prosperity of our town.

The men who compose the committee are reliable business men and all of them are directly interested in the welfare of our city and will do all they can to make the company a success. The commercial club is taking hold like it meant to do something for Odessa and it will succeed if it will keep up the present interest and all work for the benefit of the town.

The British Income Tax.

The income tax was introduced into England by William Pitt—who otherwise had his points—in 1799 under the stress of the French war. It ceased in 1816, but when revived by the disastrous Robert Peel in 1842, and extended by the ubiquitous Gladstone in 1853. From being a temporary war-tax it has now become a permanent part of the British financial system and is resorted to by every Chancellor who finds himself in difficulties. It is not such an iniquitous tax as you would think, as over half—I have seen it stated two-thirds—of the amount collected is not assessed directly on the ultimate payers, but at the source of origin. I own stock, let us say, in a railroad and industrial company. The income tax is assessed on and collected from the railroad company in one sum, and the burden of it distributed among the stockholders in proportion to their holdings. My dividends, that is, reach me "less income tax." In this way evasion is made extremely difficult, the productivity of the tax is largely increased, and its incidence is deprived of that personal element and that direct contract between the individual and the tax-collecting agency which are usually responsible for the unpopularity of imposts. On the whole, it is probably true to say that in no other way can the wealth derived from property add investments be so equitably, so regularly, and so equably laid under contribution.—Indianapolis Journal.

PROTECT YOUR HOUSES
From burglars by using the Hart Burglar Proof Automatic anti Battering Sash Lock. We warrant every lock to do as represented below or money refunded. 1st, because the window cannot fall and break the glass. 2d, because it will stop the window at any desired height to admit air from top or bottom and cannot be raised by any one from the outside, making it burglar proof. 3d, it prevents the window from rattling, which is worth the price of the lock and there is no other lock on the market that will do what we claim for it. Call on M. T. Slusher, agent for Lafayette county, or at Frank Kriehn's Shoe Store and see it.
