

A Doctor's Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is not a simple cough syrup. It is a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. It cures hard cases, severe and desperate cases, chronic cases of asthma, pleurisy, bronchitis, consumption. Ask your doctor about this.

"I have used a great deal of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and hard colds on the chest. It has always done me great good. It is certainly a most wonderful cough medicine."—MICHAEL J. FITZGERALD, Medford, N. J.

You will hasten recovery by taking one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime.

In the wilds of the Yellowstone, when the only law to punish crime or enforce order is the rope or rifle—away out there on the borders of civilization are laid the scenes of Holden Bros. great melodrama, "Nobody's Claim," which will appear here Saturday afternoon and night. The scenery truthfully depicts the land of the setting sun and is beautiful beyond description. The mechanical effects are the most costly and effective to be procured.

Some Invisible Certainties.

"What definite facts has science acquired?" asks Vance Thompson in his article "The Invisible World," in the March Everybody's.

"The change of personality; that is classic now. The evidence for telepathy is indubitable. That may seem a bold statement; it is a commonplace for those who are in touch with the latest experiments of the metapsychic clinics. Only a few years ago—before Pasteur came—it would have been deemed sheer idiocy to talk of studying typhoid fever or cholera or erysipelas in a laboratory. Telepathy is an acquired certainty—as much as Harvey's theory of the circulation of the blood, which three academies of physicians declared impossible.

"And the explanation of the strange phenomena; are they hints and investigations from another world—the intervention of spirits of the dead, of angels or demons? This is the opinion held by almost all the sects of the occult, those who worship in the hundred and one little religions of mysticism. Science does not go quite so far. It declares:

"First—There exist in nature certain unknown forces capable of acting on matter.

"(This covers all the objective phenomena of metapsychics, such as the transport of bodies from one place to another, luminosity, etc.)

"Second—We possess other means of knowing than those of reason or the senses.

"(This applies to the subjective phenomena of metapsychics, including telepathy, second sight, clairvoyance.)"

A Passing Totem.

Alaska has been given many far-fetched and ridiculous appellations—"Seward's Folly," "the Refrigerator of the Republic," "Russian Sop," "The Ice of Uncle Sam's Cake," "the Attic of the United States," and the like. It is usually to the attic that cast-off and useless possessions are relegated, so to this attic we turn to find the out-grown and rapidly disappearing totem poles of the Alaskan Indian. Before the invasion of the paleface the totem was the Alaskan Indian's pride of birth and heraldry. Those who escaped civilization are rapidly killing their ambition to represent their descent from the animal kingdom. It is only here and there that one finds today a conservative old chieftain, father of his clan, who still blesses himself with a totemic genealogical monument.—Little LaGrand Lockwood in Sunset Magazine for February.

Unhappy Women!

No woman can be happy when her health is undermined. No woman can have good health when she suffers from female weakness, inflammation, ulceration or any disease of the delicate womanly organs. Nervous, sleepless, fretful, suffering in body and mind, she does not live but only exists. More than a half a million such women have found a perfect and permanent cure for their diseased condition in the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Women cured by this remedy say it is a "wonderful medicine," so perfectly does it restore them to health and comeliness. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium, cocaine, nor any other harmful drug. It is in the strictest sense, an honest, temperance medicine. Its ingredients are purely vegetable, and it will agree with the most delicate constitution. Don't be hypnotized, or over-persuaded, into accepting a substitute. This medicine has a record that's worth far more than any difference in price. Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, either personally or by letter, absolutely without charge or fee, thus avoiding the unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments considered necessary by many local practitioners. All correspondence treated as strictly private and speedily confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 233 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

These tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules regulate Stomach, Liver and Bowels, cure Constipation and Bad Stomach, attended by foul breath. One or two for laxative, three or four for cathartic. ## Listed Oilmeal a Profitable Hog Food.

(Weekly Agricultural Letter.) Every farmer knows that oilmeal is good for cattle and also that it will give a great gloss to the coat of a horse, but when it comes to feeding hogs most farmers consider oilmeal to be too expensive, that it will make oily pork, and many even believe that for hogs it is a dangerous feed requiring to be used with great care.

At the same time many of these same men are buying oilmeal in patent stock foods for their hogs, and little is the wonder, for oilmeal is a remarkable feed, and if it has taken the stock food people to properly impress this fact upon us, then we are indebted to these gentlemen for a service.

The Missouri Experiment Station has fed oilmeal with corn to a great many hogs in the past three years. The packers tell us that the pork produced is very firm and the fat hard and white. There is less oil in new-process oilmeal than in corn. Oilmeal does not make oily pork.

In four tests with young hogs weighing about 100 lbs. each and fed out at fat hog weights, we made 100 lbs. of pork with an average expenditure of 375 pounds of a mixture of five parts corn and one part oilmeal. It takes about 560 pounds of corn alone to make 100 lbs. of pork.

Oilmeal is a greater appetizer as well as a laxative. Hogs will eat too much, for best profits, of a ration containing it, if allowed to do so. Feed a little less of the ration than the hogs want.

In one experiment we cut out and weighed the tenderloin muscles of five pigs at the time our feeding began. Then we took similar weights from the carcasses of the hogs in the experiment, after they had been fed for sixty days. In the lot getting carriage these muscles had increased in weight in 60 days to the extent of 17 per cent but these muscles in the hog-receiving oilmeal had grown 54 per cent heavier. But still more interesting—the muscles of the corn fed pigs contained 65 per cent more fat, while the muscles of the oilmeal fed pigs contained only 9 per cent more fat than at the beginning of the experiment. Still the oilmeal pigs had gained in weight 84 per cent more than the corn fed pigs and also dressed out a little higher per cent of carcass to live weight. The oilmeal hogs had put their fat on the outside of the carcass, where it produced a smooth and attractive finish, but the corn-fed hogs had laid much more fat in between the muscular fibres.

To purchase oilmeal at reasonable prices one should buy directly from the factory.

GIVES HEALTH, VIGOR AND TONE.

Herbina is a boon for sufferers from anemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor is diminished. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. Mrs. Belle H. Shral, Middleborough, Ill., writes, I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbina. I hope never to be without it. I have wished that I had known of it in my husband's life time." 50c. Sold by Crenshaw & Young. 3-3ml

Odessa Democrat: Mrs. W. H. McLaughlin died at her home about five miles east of Odessa at 7:15 o'clock Thursday morning February 15, 1906, aged 40 years. Deceased was born in Botetourt county, Virginia, May 10, 1865, and before her marriage was Miss Alice Deischer. Those who knew her, loved her, and her passing away has left sorrow in the community in which she lived. This death falls hardest on the devoted husband and the little daughter, who have the sympathy of all in their sad hour. Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. J. L. Downing of the Baptist church of this city at 11:00 o'clock Friday morning after which the remains were conveyed to the Odessa cemetery and interred.

Are You From Kentucky?

These are the first words which appear upon a very attractive invitation sent out from Louisville to Kentuckians in all parts of the United States.

From June 13th to 17th, 1906 there is to be in Louisville, Ky., a "Home Coming" for all Kentuckians who have wandered to other lands or foreign shores. The Louisville Commercial Club is sending out the invitations as fast as lists are received with the names and addresses of Kentuckians in different sections of the country.

There will be "great doings" in Louisville.—Mr. Henry Watterson has been invited to deliver the chief address of welcome, and former Governor David B. Francis of Missouri, the response. Among the others invited to appear on the programme are former U. S. Senators Wm. Lindsay and John G. Carlisle, of New York City, Associate Justice John M. Harlan, of the U. S. supreme court, former Governor Thomas T. Crittenden, of Missouri, and former Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois. This list will be enlarged with the names of other Kentuckians who, in adopted homes, have marked their names high on the roll of fame in the law the ministry, and commercial pursuits.

While Louisville will be the host-city, all Kentucky will join in the welcome to its returning sons and daughters. The railroads will at once be asked to name low rates to Louisville, and in addition to this, it is proposed to have side trip tickets from Louisville to any part of Kentucky, so that the returning Kentuckians may visit any part of the state.

So as to insure no discomforts in the way of lack of railroad accommodations, Mr. William Flaenelly, traveling passenger agent of Southern Railway, located in the Board of Trade Building, Kansas City, Mo., has already begun to arrange the details for the operation of special trains over his line from St. Louis to Louisville, and even at this early date, he is receiving a great many inquiries as to reservations, etc.

Mr. M. R. Gossett, Recorder of Deeds for Jackson County, Kansas City, Mo., is the one who first suggested the "Home Coming" to old Kentuckians living in western Missouri, Kansas, and other portions of the West, and he has already received the names and addresses of about 350 Kentuckians who will join his party. Mr. Gossett now has arrangements well under way and inquiries should be sent direct to him. 2-3f

American Distinctiveness.

Every year to the United States comes nearly one million emigrants from Europe. They are the failures, and they come, consciously or unconsciously, to be redeemed and made part of a community that shall summon up their pride. Americans are always giving voice to their fear lest these should sweep their national individuality into chaos; but after all American distinctiveness has triumphed mysteriously hitherto. The reason of this is not to be deduced from argument, but comprehended in those women's of revelation that come to the traveler. It is that this nation was founded not by conquering barbarians, but by civilized idealists—the pilgrim fathers of the thirteen original colonies. It is that when their descendants, and inheritors, alien or native, of their ideal spread westward, they maintained their traditions, however feeble and often unworthily they interpreted them.—Percy Vincent Donovan in Sunset Magazine for February.

CURED CONSUMPTION

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes, My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago and since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal. 25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sold by Crenshaw & Young. 3-3ml

Odessa Democrat: Mrs. Mary Jane Hillock, aged 84 years, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. W. A. Page in south Odessa at 9 o'clock p. m., Monday, February 19, 1906. She was the mother of James H. Hillock, Mrs. Walter Green, Mrs. W. A. Page and Mrs. Edith Lyons. She was a devout member of the M. E. church South, and funeral services were conducted in that church at 11 o'clock a. m., Wednesday by Rev. S. P. Clayton, in the presence of a large body of sorrowing relatives and friends. Interment took place in the Odessa cemetery.
