BETTER THAN ANY PHYSICIAN. NOT A DEALER IN FLATTERY.

Mr. Brown's Remarks Quickly Brought Wife Back from Borderland.

"William, dear," feebly called the invalid wife, who was supposed to be nearing the end of her earthly career. "Yes, darling," answered the sorrowing husband. "What is it?"

"When I am gone," said she, "I feel that for the sake of the motherless little ones you should marry again."

"Do you really think it would be best, darling?" asked the faithful William.

"Yes, William, I really do," replied the invalid. "After a reasonable length of time you should seek the companionship of some good woman."

"Do you know, my dear?" said the husband, "that you have lifted a great burden from my mind? Now, there is that charming Widow Jones across the way. She has acted rather friendly toward me ever since you were taken ill. Of course, dear she could never fill your place, but she is young, plump and pretty, and I'm sure she would do her best to lessen my grief."

"William Henry Brown!" exclaimed the female whose days were supposed to be numbered, as she partly raised herself upon the pillow. "If you ever dare install that redheaded, freckled-faced, squint-eyed hussy in my shoes, I'll—!" And then she fainted.

But the next day Mrs. Brown was able to sit up, and two days later she was downstairs.

STILLED AUDIENCE IN MOMENT.
 Presence of Mind of Daniel Webster Averted Great Peril.

Once, when Daniel Webster was addressing a political meeting in Faneuil hall, the standing multitude within the hall, pressed by those who were endeavoring to enter from without, began to sway to and fro, a solid mass of human bodies, as helpless to counteract the movement as if Faneuil hall were being rocked by an earthquake. The orator was in the midst of a stirring appeal, urging the necessity of individual exertion and unflinching patriotism to avert the dangers that threatened the political party whose principles he espoused, when he perceived the terrible swaying of the packed assembly and the imminent danger that might ensue. Webster stopped short in the middle of a sentence, advanced to the edge of the platform, extended his arm in an authoritative attitude, and, in a stentorian voice of command, cried out: "Let each man stand firm!" The effect was instantaneous. Each man stood firm; the great heaving mass of humanity regained its equilibrium, and, save the long breath of relief that filled the air, perfect stillness ensued. "That," exclaimed the great orator, "is what we call self-government!"

IN THE TEETH OF HURRICANE.

What Sailorman Meant When He Told of an Adventure in Force 10.

Doubtless there were many puzzled readers when a deep-sea skipper rolled into this harbor a few days ago and reported that his ship had been belated by a gale which had piped up to "force 10." "Force 10," it was explained, meant something like a hurricane.

It is a term borrowed from the Beaufort scale, a scheme of wind measurements devised by the British admiral Beaufort before the days of ocean-going steam. Force 1 was a calm, force 2 a light breeze, and so on up the hurricane velocity.

Perhaps, too, the Beaufort scale may give a clue to those who have been wondering for some time at the title of a popular German picture. It is just one expanse of frowning cloud and storm-tossed billow, and the artist has named it "Windstarke 10, 11."—New York Sun.

On Being Happy.

Pleasures are more beneficial than duties because, like the quality of mercy, they are not strained, and they are thrice blessed. There must always be two to a kiss, and there may be a score in a jest; but wherever there is an element of sacrifice, the favor is conferred with pain and received with confusion. There is no duty we so much underrate as the duty of being happy. By being happy, we shower anonymous benefits upon the world. A happy man or a happy woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of good will; and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Bibulous Prisoner Punished.

In one of the Basque provinces of Spain there is a prison which opens the doors every morning and the prisoners go into the town for housework, gardening or some trade. Some act as commissioners. In the evening they quietly return at the appointed time to the prison, and the jailer most carefully identifies them before withdrawing the bolts for their admission. Once a prisoner ventured to present himself at the gates of the prison in a state of inebriety, and the jailer refused to admit him. "To punish you," he said, "you will to-night sleep out of doors." And the prisoner, it is recorded, in spite of tears and entreaties, was condemned to pass the night outside of prison!

Where Dante May Have Studied.

St. Edmund's hall, Oxford, Eng., is now the sole survivor of the original "halls" from which university life arose at Oxford. It bears the name not of the martyred Saxon monarch, but of Archbishop Edmund Rich, who possibly about 1219 delivered near this spot the first Oxford lectures on Aristotle. This legend once enabled the present principal to retort that if Dante really visited Oxford he might conceivably have studied at St. Edmund's hall, but not at Queen's college, which did not then exist.

Penalty of Firmness.

The comptroller of the treasury is an autocrat whose decision overrides even that of the chief magistrate of the nation. Some years ago the then incumbent of the office refused to sign a warrant for money which Gen. Grant thought it proper to expend. "That is right," the president said; "I admire your firmness. Where your conscience is concerned, never permit yourself to be coerced. You may consider yourself clear in this affair; for I shall appoint a new comptroller to-morrow."

CAUSES DEBILITY

Here Are Facts Backed Up by a Strong Guarantee.

Debility is caused by catarrh. In our opinion, a person free from Catarrh was never troubled with Debility. Debility can never be cured by medicine not designed to cure Catarrh. We positively guarantee to cure Catarrh, and thus cure Debility. In every case where we fail to effect a cure, we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Mucu-Tone will cure Catarrh. It is designed for that one particular purpose. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is a specific. Rexall Mucu-Tone is absorbed in the stomach and carried by the blood until it penetrates every part of the body, acting as antiseptic, disinfecting, cleansing, soothing and healing agent. It rids the system of all germ and poisonous matter, purifies and enriches the blood, rebuilds injured tissues, cleanses and invigorates the mucous cells, neutralizes the acids of the body, stops mucus discharge, tones up the entire system, promotes nutrition, increases body weight and brings about a feeling of healthfulness that is lasting.

We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. We urge you to try a bottle on our guarantee. Sold by Crenshaw & Young.
