Mrs. Fred Pitman of Enid, Oklahoma, came in Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. James Shelby and small son, Horace, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of L. B. Shelby near Lexington.

Dr. W. G. Harwood had quite an experience Saturday night about 12 o'clock which made him think he was somewhere in the neighborhood of the North pole. He was driving near what is known as the Todhunter farm, when his team got stuck in a snow drift, and he lost about two hours of valuable time in digging them out. We believe now that the Dr. thinks the "ground hog" saw his shadow on the 2nd.

Willard Smith came home Saturday morning from a two weeks visit with relatives in Newark, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Nannie Littlejohn and Miss Helen Cole of Lexington spent Saturday and Sunday here with relatives.

Messrs. Wm. Wilson of Corder, John Wilson of Higginsville, and C. L. Wilson of Lexington, were here Sunday to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Agnes Vaughan.

On account of the severity of the weather, the protracted meeting which was to have begun at the M. E. church last Sunday was postponed for a while.

Died at the home of Mrs. Edna Turman two miles west of town, on Friday night, Feb. 2nd, Mrs. Agnes Vaughan, aged 91 years. Mrs. Vaughan, whose maiden name was Wilson, was born in England and came to this country about the year 1841. She was twice married, her first husband's name was Howard. Her last husband was the late Benjamin Vaughan. She was of the Episcopal faith and was a good Christian woman. Her funeral was conducted at the Christian church here Sunday morning by the Rev. J. H. Carter, and interment made in the Dover cemetery.

LOST APPETITE AND HOPE

Neglected Cold Caused Complication, Promptly Restored by Peruna.

Mrs. Rosa Boyer, 1421 Sherman Ave., Evanston, Ill., writes: "If any one has reason to praise Peruna it is surely myself."
 "Last spring I became so run down from the serious effects of a lingering cold, that several complications united in pulling me down. I could neither eat nor sleep well, and lost flesh and spirit."
 "I finally tried Peruna and it did wonders for me. In two weeks I was like another person, and in a month I felt better than I ever had before."
 "I thank Peruna for new life and strength. I send you two pictures, so you can see what Peruna has done for me."

der, John Wilson of Higginsville, and C. L. Wilson of Lexington, were here Sunday to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Agnes Vaughan.

Those who miss this day of feast of good things will regret having done so.

REAL MASTER OF LANGUAGES

Applicant for Place as Tutor Said He Could Speak Philately Like a Native.

Sixty years ago there appeared in the newspapers notice of the dissolution of a scholastic partnership in the neighborhood of London, which was signed by one of the teachers of youth with his mark.

Disclosures of this sort do not often hit one in the face nowadays; but a northern schoolmaster came near to falling a victim to effrontery of a somewhat similar character the other day.

Being in urgent need of a tutor, he opened up negotiations with a "master of languages" whose invaluable services were on offer in the columns of a London newspaper.

Could he speak French? the schoolmaster demanded of this paragon. Oh, yes, fluently. Had he a nodding acquaintance with Italiana? Indeed, he had—was excellently well versed in it, in fact.

These answers pleased the schoolmaster mightily, but he was an enthusiastic stamp collector, and preferred to have, if possible, a tutor with corresponding tastes; so he telegraphed the question:

"Have you any knowledge of philately?"

And back came the triumphant answer:

"Can speak it like a native, sir!"
 The negotiations ended abruptly.

WHEN WOMAN WAS SOLDIER

David Lloyd-George Says That Her Reputation in Battle Stands Very High.

They say you cannot make good soldiers out of women. You have never tried. There was a race at one time, I believe, that had an army of women, and its traditional repute in history stands very high. The women gave up the job; they thought it was better suited to the intellect of men. But after all, men, of course, are better for some tasks; women are better for others equally important. Men make the better soldiers, women make the better nurses. After all, the healing of wounds is a nobler work than inflicting them. What is more, it demands higher qualities of brain and heart.

War, after all, is not a permanent institution. Heaven forbid that it should be. The duel is vanishing, and I think you will see war receding along the same dark road. And if women by their presence on the register, saved us from the infamy of a single war they would have justified their vote before God and man. And when women get the vote, not merely here, but on the continent, for the movement is not confined to this country, I think you will find that the mothers of these great countries will see that the fields of Europe are not drenched with the blood of their sons.—Lloyd-George's Address at Bath.

AFFINITIES OF EXPEDIENCY.

Love, like the smallpox, is most dangerous when you take it the natural way. Those made matches, which heaven is supposed to have a hand in, when placing an unmarried man's property in the neighborhood of an unmarried woman which destine two people or each other in life, because their well-judging friends have agreed "They'll do very well; they were made for each other;" these are the mild cases of the malady; this process of friendly vaccination takes out the poison of the disease, substituting a more harmless and less exciting affection.—Charles Lever.

NOTHING MORE TO SAY.

"John Henry, there is about a half bushel of dirt and ashes to take out of the cellar. I want it done right away."

"Hang it all, can't you let me alone for a minute, Mariar? That job'll take half a day."

"John Henry, I'm surprised at you. A little job like that! Do you know that there are 35,669,715 cubic yards of dirt still to be excavated at Panama?"

"Aw, gimme the shovel!"

ORATORICAL IDEAL.

"That was a fearful long and tiresome speech of yours," said Senator Sorghum.

"I was trying to bring my auditors to a state of conscientious introspection."

"But you are hardly justified in giving them the third degree."

"TRIAL SHORTHAND LESSON"
 100 words written with 100 strokes. Eclectic Shorthand speaks for itself. You can both read and write this lesson in one hour or less. Try it, and mail sample of your work for correction, we will then send you two additional lessons, free of charge.
SHORTHAND LESSON No. 1
 Memorize the following characters:
 m n s d h i t r w y o p
 All words in shorthand are spelled by sound. There are five positions, representing the five vowels, and by writing any of the above consonants on i position which is the line, the letter i will follow each written character, thus:
 a e i o u
 Now if this is true of i position, it is also true of all positions, thus:
 NOTE.—A dot on i position is I; on o position O or one; on u position you.
 Read and write the following sentences several times:
 Ma I see you? He ma no me. Do you no me? I sa I no you. Do you see the wa to go to the sea? Ma we go to? Yu no he ma li to you.
