Be it Resolved, that we reaffirm our allegiance to the principles set forth in the party platform of the National Convention assembled at Denver in 1908, and that we pledge our support to the principles for which our representatives in congress are at present contending, and that we further pledge our support to the candidates nominated by our party for election in the approaching November election from president to constable.

And be it further resolved, that we are heartily in favor of the nomination of our distinguished fellow citizen, speaker of the House of representatives, the Hon. Doctors Said
Health Gone

Suffered with Throat Trouble

Mr. B. W. D. Barnes.

Mr. B. W. D. Barnes, ex-Sheriff of Warren County, Tennessee, in a letter from McMinnville, Tennessee, writes: "I had throat trouble and had three doctors treating me. All failed to do me any good, and pronounced my health gone. I concluded to try Peruna, and after using four bottles can say I was entirely cured." Unable to Work.

Mr. Gustav Himmelmreich, Hochheim, Texas, writes:

"For a number of years I suffered whenever I took cold, with severe attacks of asthma, which usually yielded to the common home remedies. Last year, however, I suffered for eight months without interruption so that I could not do any work at all. The various medicines that were prescribed brought me no relief. After taking six bottles of Peruna, two of Lacupa and two of Manalin, I am free of my trouble so that I can do all my farm work again. I can heartily recommend this medicine to any one who suffers with this annoying complaint and believe that they will obtain good results."

J. K. Gray.

Middleton—Geo. Hackley.

Freedom—Thomas W. Hill.

The delegates were instructed to support Champ Clark president and those present at the Joplin convention were empowered to cast the vote of the entire delegation.

Leap Year Dance.

The leap year dance given Thursday night in Turner hall by forty young ladies was one of the best social events of the season. The elaborate arrangements were carried out perfectly in every detail. The ladies escorted the gentlemen in carriages and made the engagements for dances. The hall was decorated with drapery and palms. Punch was served in a booth throughout the evening. At eleven the dancers went to Barron & Sheets' restaurant, where an excellent supper was served.

Day's orchestra furnished the music and nearly every number received two enthusiastic encores. The gentlemen were presented with appropriate souvenirs of the occasion. Dancing continued until two and even then the party was loath to break up.

The young ladies certainly proved themselves excellent entertainers and received many congratulations on the success of the evening.

An Excellent Lecture.

The lecture at Wright's Grand Opera House Thursday night by Dr. Homer T. Wilson under the management of the Young Mens Club of this city was one of the best ever heard in Lexington. Dr. Wilson lectured chiefly to the young men, but his talk was enjoyed by the entire audience which packed the house. The Young Mens Club are to be congratulated in bringing such a noted lecturer as Dr. Wilson to the city.

Prof. M. J. Patterson went to Kansas City Thursday evening to assume his duties as Principal of the Garfield school.

M. Ladeson was in Sedalia Thursday on business.

Edward Aull returned Friday morning from a business trip to St. Louis.

Young Ewing went to Kansas City Friday to spend the day on business.

F. Lee Wallace went to Kansas City Wednesday to spend the day on business.

ELECTRICITY TO WARM CRIBS

Contrivance Designed to Benefit Poorly Nourished Infants—Can Be Used Out of Doors.

Ailing, feeble, poorly nourished children of low vitality require artificial heat until they can furnish their own natural heat. Unless a baby's feet are kept warm it cannot digest its food.

There has been devised for use in the children's ward of the New York Presbyterian hospital an electrical crib warmer that has been found to be less costly than hot water bottles. This electrical contrivance, which is made to extend over the whole bottom of the crib, but so arranged as to give the greatest degree of warmth at the feet.

The heat of the entire warmer can be regulated by switches and it can be kept constant at any stage day and night. Electricity is supplied through a flexible cable from the house current.

The hospital has now six of these electrically warmed cribs in use. The original crib with this equipment was built in the hospital a year ago by its own workman, and this crib is still in commission.

By the aid of these electrically warmed cribs children that would benefit by out-of-doors treatment can now be kept in the hospital's open-air pavilion with their bodies perfectly warm and comfortable.

DENTIST REFUSED TO BITE

"Jokeless" Congressman Tries to Put One Over About Man With False Teeth.

In listening to the constant recital of jokes about the corridors and in the cloakroom, one sometimes wonders whether they echo the vaudeville dialogue or monologue, or are really new. When a new joke comes out, no time is lost in having it properly labeled. It may be "Sam McCall's joke," "Senator Bob Taylor's joke," or "Captain Weeks' joke," and woe to the man who appropriates another man's joke, no matter what the occasion. He had better take his watch—for story larceny is next to high treason in Washington.

One of the new congressmen, who, despite arduous efforts, still remains "jokeless," rushed into a committee room during recess and declared that he had a new story. He told of how a man laughed so heartily at the theater that his false teeth fell out. "And would you believe it," he hurried on, as he observed the menacing glare of eleven pairs of eyes, "four men were bitten by those teeth before they were caught? And we have no laws against dental hydrophobia." Even the dentist refused to bite.—National Magazine.

CHANGING CAPITALS.

Changes of capitals have occurred several times within living memory, but that is not likely to afford much consolation to disestablished Calcutta. Perhaps the most notable instance is that of British Columbia, whose original capital was New Westminster, so christened by Queen Victoria herself. But after some years New Westminster was found unsuitable, and the metropolis was shifted to Victoria. Our crown colony of Fiji, in the south Pacific, has also changed its capital from Levuka to Suva. The first seat of government in Australia was Paramatta, but the authorities soon shifted to Sydney, although Paramatta for a long time remained the official residence of the viceroy.—London Chronicle.

LAST OF THE PARIS LANTERNS.

A relic of the days of terror in the revolution, when the aristocrats were strung up to lanterns in the Paris streets, has disappeared. Until a few weeks ago the last of these old lanterns, which were pulled up and down on a pulley to a gallow-shaped iron rod, still hung opposite the Hotel de Lausanne on the Quai des Celestins. Some necessary repairs to the quay made it imperative to pull down the wall, and the lantern has been sent to the Musee Carnavalet. It was the last oil lamp in the Paris streets, and until a weeks ago was filled and lighted every evening.

TIMELY HINT.

"What resolutions have you made for the new year, Jack?" "My chief one is to stop telling inquisitive friends what the other ones are."
