WILSON AND MARSHALL.
 In Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall, we have the best men chosen by a Democratic convention since 1884 when Cleveland and Thurman were the nominees. Woodrow Wilson is a man of fine culture and education. He was reared in an atmosphere of splendid opportunity and has gained his present high eminence by years of study into the affairs of the country and needs of the people. His first venture in the political arena was two years ago when he ran for governor in New Jersey and turned a Republican majority of 15,000 into one nearly as great for the Democratic ticket.

The New York Sun which will support Taft in the campaign says editorially of Mr. Wilson's nominations: "No candidate of any party since politics began ever won in convention his nomination more fairly and honorably than Governor Woodrow Wilson. He is nominated, if ever a candidate for President was for the sole reason that he is the choice of a majority of the Democrats of the United States. Since the convention met there could not possibly have been a more correct attitude than that which he has maintained, or a more honorable, decorous and manly contest than that which has been conducted in behalf by his manager and adherents. His success at Baltimore is due neither to chance nor to intrigue. It is free from the slightest taint of embarrassing bargain or corrupt procurement. It has been achieved over every obstacle which honest opposition or masked jealousy could put in the way. It results, as the record of the forty-six ballots shows, beyond the possibility of dispute, simply from the justly earned increment of strength and the cumulative impulse of obvious expediency."

Nearly all of the great Metropolitan newspapers have commented favorably upon the choice of Mr. Wilson as the standard bearer of the Democratic party in this campaign and many predict that he will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

The outlook for a Democratic victory in November was never brighter. The people have been taking more interest in national affairs, and the cardinal principles for which they have been contending are embodied in the platform of the Democratic party. Victory is assured unless some brazen voiced jackass breaks up the procession.

Your Druggist Stops That Itch

If you are suffering from Eczema, Psoriasis or any other kind of skin trouble, drop into our store for instant relief. We will guarantee you to stop that itch in two seconds.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles, but none that we could recommend as highly as this, a mild wash of Oil of Wintergreen Thymol and a few other ingredients that have wrought such wonderful cures all over the country.

This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema and it will cool and heal the itchy, burning skin as nothing else can.

A 3c trial bottle will prove it. Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big-profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE it costs you not a cent.
