

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH THE Farm Journal

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim milk") is the great little paper published for 36 years in Philadelphia by Wilmer Atkinson. It is taken and read by more families than any other farm paper in the WORLD. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people that grow, and they always say the Farm Journal helped to make them so. Their potatoes are larger, their milk tests higher, their hogs weigh more, their fruit brings higher prices, because they read the Farm Journal.

Do you know Peter Tumbledown, the old fellow who won't take the Farm Journal? By showing how NOT to run a farm, Peter makes many prosperous. Nobody can go on reading the Farm Journal and being a Tumbledown too. Many have tried, but all have to quit one or the other.

The Farm Journal is bright, brief, "boiled down," practical, full of gumption, cheer and sunshine. It is strong on housekeeping and home-making, a favorite with busy women, full of life and fun for boys and girls. It sparkles with wit, and a happy, sunny spirit. Practical as a plow, readable as a novel. Clean and pure, not a line of fraudulent or nasty advertising. All its advertisers are guaranteed trustworthy.

The Farm Journal gives more for the money and puts it in fewer words than any other farm paper. 32 to 80 pages monthly, illustrated. FIVE years (60 issues) for $1.00 only. Less than 2 cents a month. No one-year, two-year or three-year subscriptions taken at any price.

The Farm Journal Booklets have sold by hundreds of thousands, and have made a sensation by revealing the SECRETS OF MONEY-MAKING in home industry. People all over the country are making money by their methods.

POULTRY SECRETS is a collection of discoveries and methods of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, the Curtis method of getting one-half more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, and priceless secrets of breeding, feeding, how to produce winter eggs, etc.

HORSE SECRETS exposes all the methods of "bitching," "plugging," cocaine and gasoline doping, and other tricks of "taps" and swindlers, and enables any one to tell an unsound horse. Gives many valuable training secrets.

CORN SECRETS, the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King," shows how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn, rich in protein and the best stock-feeding elements. Pictures many every process plain.

EGG SECRETS tells how a family of six can make hens turn its table scraps into a daily supply of fresh eggs. If you have a back-yard, get this booklet, learn how to use every scrap of the kitchen waste, and live better at less cost.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells how seven cows were made to produce half a ton of butter each per year. (32 pounds is the average). An eye-opener. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn the good ones into record-breakers.

STRAWBERRY SECRETS is a revelation of the discoveries and methods of L. J. Farmer, the famous expert, in growing luscious lull strawberries almost until snow falls. How and when to plant, how to fertilize, how to remove the blossoms, how to get three crops in two years, etc.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your backyard supply fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, keep a better table, and get cash for your surplus. How to plant, cultivate, harvest and market.

DUCK DOLLARS tells how the great Weber duck-farm near Boston makes every year 50 cents each on 40,000 ducklings. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

TURKEY SECRETS discloses fully the methods of Horace Vose, the famous Rhode Island "turkey-man," who supplies the White House Thanksgiving turkeys. It tells how to mate, to set eggs, to hatch, to feed and care for the young, to prevent sickness, to fatten, and how to make a turkey-ranch PAY.

THE MILLION EGG-FARM gives the methods by which J. M. Foster made over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. All chicken-raisers should learn about the "Rancher Unit," and how Foster FEEDS HENS to produce such quantities of eggs, especially in winter.

DRESSMAKING SELF-TAUGHT shows how any intelligent woman can design and make her own clothes, in the height of fashion. The author has done it since she was a girl. She now has a successful dressmaking establishment and a school of dressmaking. Illustrated with diagrams.

SHALL I FARM? is a clear, impartial statement of both advantages and drawbacks of farming, to help those who have to decide this important question. It warns you of dangers, swindlers, and mistakes, tells how to start, equipment needed, its cost, chances of success, how to get government aid, etc.

These booklets are 6 x 9 inches, and profusely illustrated. Farm Journal FOUR full years, with any one of these booklets... both for $1.00

The Booklets are NOT sold separately—only with Farm Journal. Be sure to say WHICH booklet you want.

What Our Folks Say About F. J.

"I have had more help, encouragement and enjoyment out of it in one year than I did out of my other papers in ten years," says C. M. Persons.

"It is a queer little paper. I have sometimes read it through and thought I was done with it, then pick it up again and find something new to interest me," says Alfred Krogh.

"Farm Journal is like a bit of sunshine in our home. It is making a better class of people out of farmers. It was first sent me as a Christmas present, and I think it the choicest present I ever received," says F. R. LeValley.

"We have read your dear little paper for nearly 40 years. Now we don't live on the farm any more, yet I still have a hankering for the old paper. I feel that I belong to the family, and every page is as dear and familiar as the faces of old friends," says Mrs. E. W. Edwards.

"I fear I neglect my business to read it. I wish it could be in the hands of every farmer in Virginia," says W. S. Clites.

"I live in a town where the yard is only 15 x 18 feet, but I could not do without the Farm Journal," says Miss Sara Carpenter.

"I get lots of books and papers, and put them aside for future reading. The only paper I seem to have in my hands all the time is Farm Journal. I can't finish reading it. Can't you make it less interesting, so I can have a chance at my other papers?" writes John Swail.

"If I am lonesome, down-hearted, or tired, I go to Farm Journal for comfort, next to the Bible," says Mabel Dewitt.

"Farm Journal has a cheerful vein running through it that makes it a splendid cure for the blues." When coming home tired in mind and body, I sit down and read it, and it seems to give me new inspiration for life," writes G. E. Halderman.

"I have a brother-in-law who loves a joke. We live in Greater New York, and consider ourselves quite civilized, so when he sent us the Farm Journal as a New Year's gift we nearly died laughing. 'How to raise hogs—we who only use bacon in glass jars.' 'How to keep cows clean—when we use condensed milk even for rice pudding!' 'How to plant onions—when we never plant anything more fragrant than lilies of the valley.' I accepted the gift with thanks, for we are too well-bred to look a gift horse in the mouth. Soon my eye was caught by a beautiful poem. I began to read it, then when I wanted the Farm Journal I found my husband deeply interested in an article. Then my oldest son began to ask, 'Has the Farm Journal come yet?' He is a jeweler, and hasn't much time for literature; but we find so much interest and uplift in this fine paper that we appreciate our New Year's gift more and more," writes Ella B. Burkman.

"I received 'Corn Secrets' and 'Poultry Secrets,' and consider them worth their weight in gold," says W. G. Newell.

"What your Egg Book tells would take a beginner years to learn," says Roy Chaesey.

"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. Warnock.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg-Book, I would consider them cheap at double the price," says F. W. Mansfield.

"I think your Egg-Book is a wonder," says C. F. Sherry.

"The Farm Journal beats them all. Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription," writes T. H. Potter.

"One year ago I took another agricultural paper, and it took a whole column to tell what Farm Journal tells in one paragraph," says N. M. Gladwin.

"It ought to be in every home where there is a chick, a child, a cow, a cherry, or a cucumber," says I. D. Bordus.

Controlling The Chinch Bug.

Now is not the time to save the wheat from the chinch bug. Last summer when the bugs moved from the ripe wheat to the corn was the first time for the first stroke, and if that had been followed by burning in the winter when the bugs were collected in their winter quarters, the wheat and corn crops would be safe from chinch bug damage this year. Wheat fields badly infested at this time will produce but little if any wheat and in many cases stock might as well be turned in and make use of it for pasture.

There is a parasitic plant which attacks and destroys the bug. This is what produces the well known "inch bug disease" and when weather and moisture conditions are just right it works like a charm but seldom in time to save the wheat. The spores of this disease are always present in every soil. As soon as weather conditions become just right the disease will start up and but seldom in time to save the wheat. The spores of this disease are always present in every soil. As soon as weather conditions become just right the disease will start up and make quick work of the chinch bugs. With the first change in the weather, however, the disease will die out as suddenly as it started. There is absolutely no use of distributing diseased bugs because as soon as they are turned out in the open the disease disappears, except under the proper weather conditions and if the weather conditions are right for the disease, there is no need of distributing it for it is already present. For this reason the state and government workers no longer send out diseased bugs, having found that is simply a waste of energy.

At this late date the best we can do is to prepare to save the crops of next year. Clip out the following cautions and paste "Caution No. 1" in your calendar at the end of the month of June or the first of July and "Caution No. 2" on the November or December page.

Caution No. 1. The bugs will crawl from the wheat fields into corn about the first of July. Be prepared to use a dust strip, or ditch and leg, as a barrier and in case of rain run a line of tar or road oil in front of them as a barrier. Find out at once where and how long it will take to get the tar or oil. This will save the corn and help much to save next year's crops.

Caution No. 2. Next winter after the first heavy freezes the bugs will be found collected in woods, fence rows, scattered straw, and more especially in pastures and waste lands over grown with heavy grasses and weeds. Select a warm, dry day when the wind is low and burn over such places. Join with your neighbors; it is too big a job for one man to attempt. The Missouri College of Agriculture, Columbia, Mo., will be glad to supply information as to the methods employed during the summer and fall in fighting the chinch bug.
