It doesn't merely stimulate you and make you feel good for a few hours, but takes hold of the weakness, and builds you up to a healthy, normal condition. It is a real nerve-food tonic, a real builder of healthy nerves, rich blood, strong muscles, good digestion. It contains the Hypophosphites, to tone the nerves and give energy, and pure Olive Oil, to nourish the nerves, the blood, the entire system, and give vitality, strength and health. It is pleasant to take, the greasy flavor of the Olive Oil having been removed. For you who are tired out, nervous, run-down, debilitated, weak, emaciated—for convalescents—for old people—for puny children—we recommend Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion as the best medicine we know of to make and keep you well and strong.

The February American Magazine. Probably the most remarkable contribution to the February American Magazine is a description of an execution, written by F. P. Dunne of "Mr. Dooley" fame. Mr. Dunne was a Chicago newspaper reporter at the age of seventeen and as a reporter saw three men hung. This experience he describes and interprets with such vividness and wisdom as to make perhaps as wonderful a document on capital punishment as anywhere exists. Hugh Fullerton begins a series of articles entitled "American Gambling and Gamblers;" Ray Stannard Baker begins a series of letters from the field entitled "Singing America;" George Fitch, the Illinois humorist, describes the "Homeburg Weekly Democrat" in a sketch of life in a small town; Walter Prichard Easton describes a great and successful fight against loan sharks now being made in Atlanta; W. P. Eaton, the theatrical critic, writes entertainingly and ably on the subject "What is a Moral Play?" and J. Breckinridge Ellis contributes an article entitled, "The Finger Test of Literature," which is an account of a blind man's ideas of literature gained from the slow process of finger reading. Edna Ferber, Kate Jordan, Alfred Ollivant, Samuel Merwin and Maravene Thompson contribute fiction. Prize-winning letters are published in the contest entitled, "What is a Criminal?" The interesting People department contains five short articles about remarkable living Americans. James Montgomery Flagg, Kin Hubbard, Ed Howe and Oliver Herford make humorous contributions.
