

LEXINGTON'S BIG CHAUTAUQUA

AUGUST 10th TO 16th INCLUSIVE

Death of James I. Hale.

James I. Hale, one of the oldest citizens of this city, died Sunday evening at 11:00 o'clock at the home of his niece, Mrs. J. P. Hausam, 788 Highland avenue. His death was due to old age and general debility.

Mr. Hale was one of the most familiar figures in Lexington, where he had lived since 1833. He was born in Lynchburg, Va., June 25, 1829, and came to Lexington when 10 years of age. He had lived here ever since. He was the most enthusiastic booster in the state for the revival of river transportation. He had lived during the period when the river was the only means of travel outside of the horse, the mule and the ox. He had lived through the dark days of the Civil war, and its attending horrors, when human life was cheap, and the established institutions of that time passed away. He dreamed of a revival of those opulent days, when the surface of the Big Muddy would again be dotted with steamers carrying the bulk of commerce. This seemed to absorb his every faculty until old age would no longer be denied and he quietly passed away.

Besides several nieces and nephews, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Fannie James of Tyler, Texas.

The funeral services conducted by Rev. R. N. Allen, were held from the home of his niece, Mrs. J. P. Hausam, 788 Highland avenue, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

D., a prominent minister of the Baptist church and a well known citizen of this city, died Wednesday morning at 2:30 o'clock at his home, 287 Southwest Blvd. He had been confined to his room for several weeks. His death, however, was very sudden and was caused by heart failure.

Dr. Hyde was born March 25, 1838, in Chancellorsville, Spottsylvania county, Virginia. When he was one year old his parents moved to Missouri, and settled at Keytesville, where he was reared. He entered Missouri University in 1855, and graduated in July, 1859. The following October he entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Greenville, S. C., from which place he graduated in 1862. From 1862 to 1865 Dr. Hyde preached a military post in Huguenot Springs, Va. After the war he returned to Missouri, where he had since resided. He took an active part in the affairs of the Baptist church, and at different times held many important offices in the Baptist association. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of Lexington College.

Dr. Hyde was first married to Miss Anna Clark, of Cooper county, who died in July, 1878. To this union four children were born and survive, Mrs. Ida Hyde Wilson, Mrs. E. N. Hopkins and Miss Laura Hyde, of this city, and Dr. B. C. Hyde, of Kansas City. In March, 1880, he married Mrs. E. G. Garnett, of Dover, who survives him.

Now For The Chautauqua.

The Lexington Chautauqua will commence on the afternoon of August 10th, and owing to the many interferences such as the street fair and the primary election, there remains a lot to be done to make the Chautauqua a financial success. Season tickets for adults are $2.00, and for children one-half price. The program is more pretentious than any Chautauqua in the county is offering. It should be an easy matter to sell every adult in Lexington a season ticket. If you haven't already bought one, call on Mr. J. C. Graddy at once, so that the committee may know that the people of Lexington endorse the Chautauqua idea, when the attractions are first class.

Far Seeing Farmers Know the Value of a Silo.

And they're the boys that are knocking down the dollars as a result of their foresight in putting one up.

If you could just take a hike over the country and see the thousands of Silos on farms that were not there even two years ago, you would get an object lesson on the value of these great feed savers, that you would not soon forget.

Ten acres of corn put into a Silo will feed 27 steers or cows for six months, and fatten or produce a flow of milk equal to summer pasture. Isn't that better than you can do with 40 acres under the old system?

And when we can furnish you the best Silo on the market at a price less than many inferior Silos, isn't it up to you to give us your order?

We're ready to talk Silos any time you are. Are you ready now?
