WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP

Missouri State Sanatorium Calls on the People for Help in Checking the "White Plague."

If the citizens of our state realized the good that is being done by the state sanatorium for tuberculosis at Mount Vernon—how many people are being cured, how many more are being taught how to take care of themselves and of others when they go home, and above all how many puny, sickly children are being transformed into red-cheeked, romping kids, they would want to help in the work.

The sanatorium accommodates 225 patients and is full all the time, while many are on the "waiting list" eagerly looking for admission. The capacity for patients ought to be doubled, which can be done without doubling the size of the rest of the establishment, for with the same administration offices, kitchen, power house, laundry, etc., twice as many patients could be cared for. And this increase in capacity ought to be provided for as soon as a building can be begun next spring and pushed to a conclusion. This cannot be done unless your senators and representatives at Jefferson City understand how urgent is the need and that you, the people whom they represent, want to have this thing done. Then at their next session in January they will vote the funds to accomplish this, otherwise they will not. Speak to them, then, before the first of January and make them understand that you and all the intelligent people of Missouri want this life-saving station at Mount Vernon enlarged and equipped according to its needs.

WAR IN MISSOURI.

We all rush to our newspapers as soon as they are within reach now-a-days to learn about the war in Europe. We try to understand the position of the various armies opposing one another and to pronounce the names of the cities that are being bombarded or destroyed and we wonder what will be the final outcome of all this struggle.

There was a time when there was a smaller scale, between men in gray and men in blue, that is now going on in Europe. Thank God that day is past and can never return! But there are other wars being waged within our boundaries that will count for much in the future of our state, carried on not by armed men seeking one another's lives, but by earnest citizens battling for what they consider their own best interests or the good of the commonwealth. Such are the conflicts between vice and virtue, between temperance and intemperance and between health and disease.

Foremost among the latter, and having enlisted on its side a host of the thoughtful people of our various communities, is the fight against tuberculosis or consumption which has been especially active during the past ten or fifteen years and which has won notable victories.

We used to think that if a person had consumption they might be cured if they could afford to go and live in Colorado or New Mexico, but that there was small chance for recovery at home. Now we know that the question of a cure depends not on the climate in which one lives but, first of all, on recognizing the disease early, and then on carrying out such methods of treatment as can be employed as well in Missouri as elsewhere. Rest, open air living and good food are the trinity that work for the salvation of the body and that may put an end to this dread disease.

To some degree and by a certain number of people this fight can be made successfully at home, but with many this is not practicable. House-room and domestic arrangements may forbid. And how, under any circumstances, is it possible for the mother of a family, perhaps accustomed to doing her own work to secure the rest which is so vital an element in the cure of consumption? Manifestly it is impossible. No sleeping porch can do it. Only leaving home and betaking herself to some place where she is free from responsibility and from the necessity of working can give her the chance. Just exactly this opportunity for rest, for out-door living and for properly regulated diet as well as wise medical supervision, is offered to her in the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis at Mount Vernon and nowhere else. Furthermore, for those unable to pay their own way the state and the county provide this care without expense.

In establishing this State Sanatorium it was not the purpose of the legislature to furnish a hospital for advanced consumptives whom there is very little hope of curing, but to provide a place where early cases might be sent, with a good prospect of having their disease arrested and of being returned to their homes in a few months greatly improved if not cured and having learned how to properly care for themselves. This plan has succeeded wonderfully well, and it is surprising to see what a contented and even happy crowd is here assembled.

The first step to take for admission to the sanatorium free of expense as a county patient is for the patient or his friends to apply to the county court to send him there. Then the court notifies the superintendent and he writes to the patient telling him what to do. All simple enough if the people would only do it.

Who Does Your Family Washing?

When the weather is cold, your wash-woman is sick, when it rains, you cannot get the clothes dried, and finally, when you do get them they are covered with soot, these are just a few of the disappointments in depending on home washing. Why not try our service—we have plenty of good, clear, soft water, a great big drying room, and an immense flat work ironer to take care of the unstarched pieces. Each family wash is washed and kept separate from any other and given just as much care as if we were doing it in your home. We wash every day except Saturday and washes coming in before noon Friday, will be delivered Saturday. Our charge is 5 cents per pound, and remember, you get your flat work ironed free of cost. Let us come for your clothes this week and avoid the disappointments of home washing. Our phone number is 130.
