

Announcement!

FIRST.

March 4th, 1916, closes a period of thirty years in the retail lumber business in Lexington. I take this opportunity to thank all of our good friends and customers for favors and patronage extended for so long a time. In looking over our first day book and ledger, we find many names who are still our friends and customers. I wish to make them especially, and all others, due acknowledgment of appreciation.

SECOND.

Beginning April 1st, the business will be in charge of my two sons, James R., Jr., and Wingate B. Moorehead.

We have the ambition to have "the boys" succeed to, and succeed in, "Dad's" business.

THIRD.

With the object of keeping up with the times in modern merchandise methods, with the inauguration of the new management we are going to adopt a new system of "Credits and Terms of Sale." Here is the plan, effective April 1st:

- Terms 90 days net.
- 3% discount on $1.00, or more, for cash in advance or on delivery.
- 3% discount on estimates amounting to $100.00, or over, if paid on or before building is completed, or occupied.
- 2% discount on any amount if paid in 15 days.
- 6% interest charged on all accounts after 90 days unless secured by a bankable note.

The best terms we get are 2% net 10 days, 1% 30 days or 60 days net.

The terms we offer, therefore, are much more liberal than we receive. We have long recognized the importance of showing some appreciation of the cash customer. Heretofore the man who bought on time, and more often than not fixing the time for payments himself, bought as cheaply as the man who paid cash. The above plan gets away from that unfair practice.

We ask you to study the terms of sale and decide for yourself if they are not fair.

Now, "the boys" are going to adhere strictly to these terms. If you pay the cash you will get the discount if only on a dollar purchase. If you prefer your account to run longer than ninety days, interest will be added each month, charged on the books to your account, and a statement of the amount sent to you by mail. A copy of the new terms will be furnished on the sale of and at the time purchase is made.

We would much prefer to make a discount for cash than to charge you interest. We prefer you should borrow the money elsewhere than to have you pay us interest. This is not a plan to charge interest, but to better business conditions. We want to put our business as nearly on a cash basis as possible for your benefit as well as our own.

We have a well balanced stock of lumber and building material. We have installed the most expensive and up-to-date set of plan books and building aids to be obtained. We invite your inspection of the same, and your co-operation in making the new terms of sale a success.

Soliciting the same fair treatment and generous patronage for "the boys" that the people of Lexington have always accorded their "Dad," I am,

Yours very truly,

J. R. Moorehead

Walker-Trail

On Monday March 6th at 3:45 P. M., the wedding of Miss Susannah Adelia Trail, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Trail of this city, and Mr. Samuel Robert Walker of Tulsa, Oklahoma, was solemnized at the home of the brides brother, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Trail.

The bride is a popular and accomplished young lady and in every way fitted to preside over a happy home. Miss Trail was born and reared near Lexington, but in recent years has made her home in Kansas City. She is a graduate of Lexington High School and has a host of warm friends both here and in Kansas City, who wish for her happiness and prosperity that will make the coming years a joy complete.

Mr. Walker is the son of Mr. Prestey Green Walker, a prominent business man of Cooper County and is well known throughout the State, his family having come from Kentucky in the earlier days and ever since been associated with the history of Missouri. The groom holds oil interests in Oklahoma and Kansas and after a tour to the South, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be at home in Tulsa.

The cottage home of Mr. and Mrs. Trail was not elaborately but tastefully decorated with palms and white roses and in the midst of these, beneath a large white Wedding bell, the solemn service by Rev. T. M. Cobb was performed that made the twain, one. The only attendant was Master Stewart Preston Trail, nephew of the bride, who was dressed in white and carried a large white rose in the center of which was hidden the circlet of gold.

The toilet of the bride was a blue silk suit with hat and gloves to match, and as she stood before us, a young woman in her purity it brought to our minds, the sunny days of youth, that we all, the older we grow, love to dwell upon. And we are hoping with ardent desires that her entrance into the matrimonial world will come, bringing joy and a new found happiness, two most priceless treasures we can hope to attain and we can but hope that destiny has decreed that this young woman has entered a life union with one whom we believe to be pure and honest and may they make the most of life.

Only the immediate families were present, among them being, Mr. P. G. Walker, father of the groom, Miss Alma Walker, Mrs.

H. A. Longan and Mrs. C. H. Morgan of Kansas City; Mrs. George F. Longan and Miss Frances Longan from Sedalia.

Blackleg Vaccine Free

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in dealing with blackleg as with many other diseases. The germ which causes it lives in the soil and if there is reason to believe that the farm is infected the farmer should secure the free vaccine supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture through the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station at Columbia. Full instruction for vaccination are supplied with the vaccine, which if properly administered is very effective in preventing the disease. It is successfully used by cattle raisers all over this country and Europe wherever there is reason to believe that blackleg is likely to occur. It is entirely unnecessary to vaccinate healthy animals on a farm which there is no reason to believe to be infected. This would mean a loss of time and valuable material which should not be wasted even though supplied free of charge.

Rev. R. N. Allen, N. E. Baskett, F. Lee Wallace, Rev. F. M. Burton went to Kansas City Tuesday on church business.

Mrs. W. Combs went to Kansas City Wednesday for a visit.

Death of Capt. W. A. Redd

Capt. W. A. Redd died at his home in Dover on Sunday, March 5th. He was born in Lexington, Kentucky, on February 12th, 1835, therefore was 81 years of age at the time of his death. In May 1869 he was married to Miss Mildred Taylor, who with three sons: J. M. Redd, H. T. Redd, S. C. Redd and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Wille Ragland survive him. For several years Capt. Redd had been a sufferer from an incurable disease and for the last months he was never free from pain. Everything that could do was done for his relief.

He was a man of superior intellectual gifts, was well informed on public affairs, a public spirited citizen, this added to his genial disposition and true old fashioned Southern politeness and hospitality made him a favorite with everyone who knew him. He had been a member of the Presbyterian Church for over sixty years.

The large concourse of friends and neighbors who gathered to pay the last tribute of respect and the exquisite floral offerings was evidence of the respect in which he was held and the sympathy that was felt for his wife and children in their sad bereavement.

His funeral was preached in the Christian church Tuesday morning by Rev. Xenophyn Ryland of Higginville and he was laid to rest in the Dover cemetery.
