

MILLER, OSCAR F., Major, 361st Inf. (Deceased.)

FOR conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Gesnes, France, 28 September, 1918.

After two days of intense physical and mental strain, during which Major Miller had led his battalion in the front line of the advance, thru the Forest of Argonne, the enemy was met in a prepared position south of Gesnes. Though almost exhausted, he energetically re-organized his battalion and ordered an attack. Upon reaching open ground, the advancing line began to waver in the face of machine-gun fire from the front and flanks and direct artillery fire. Personally leading his command group forward between his front line companies, Major Miller inspired his men by his personal courage and they again pressed on toward the hostile position. As the officer led the renewed attack he was shot in the right leg, but he nevertheless staggered forward at the head of his command. Soon afterward he was again shot in the right arm but he continued the charge, personally cheering his troops on thru the heavy machine-gun fire. Just before the objective was reached he received a wound in the abdomen, which forced him to the ground, but he continued to urge his men on, telling them to push on to the next ridge and leave him where he lay. He died from his wounds a few days later.

Home address: Mrs. Oscar F. Miller, wife, 1727 West 51st Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

OSCAR F. MILLER

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

We owe it to Miller and to the thousands who went down death on the blood-stained fields of France to go through this Victory Liberty Loan as Americans should.

Victory Liberty Loan Committee

This space contributed by

The Lexington Intelligencer

ed- in ed, will said the nty, the of y in ELL, ntor.