Let the Public Decide!

There is hardly a Clothing Store that doesn't claim to keep the Best Goods, and to either buy or manufacture their merchandise for less money than any other house in this country.

But of the Retail Clothing houses, which is fairly, honestly and justly at the Front? We are too modest to claim for such distinction, but let an intelligent, honest public answer.

MOST RELIABLE CLOTHIER In the West.

We keep the Goods people want, and never print a word about them that we could not back up by facts in the Store. There lies the secret of our success.

We Have an Elegant Stock to Select From.

Gent's Undershirts from 25c to $2.50. Rubber and Oil Coats, Caps. Leggins—every one warranted.

LITTMANN, "The Clothier."

AN ADDRESS TO SALOON-KEEPERS.

Three saloon-keepers in Chicago were found guilty of selling liquor to minors, and the following is the address of the judge who sentenced them, as reported in the Chicago Tribune.

"My law, you may sell to men and women if they want. You have given your bond and your license to sell them; no one has a right to molest you in your legal business, no matter what families are distracted and are rendered miserable, no matter what wives are treated with violence, what children starve or cry over the degradation of a parent, your business is legalized, and no one may interfere with you in it.

"The BASCALS SPENT GO."

The enormous sums spent in "Hetting" the Executive Mansion.

New York, Oct. 25.—The Sun leads its editorial columns as follows: "Before the civil war congress unlawfully appropriated every fourth year a sum of $10,000 or $15,000 to reimburse the White House for an incoming president."

The Hon. Billis Flint.

Senator of the Dominion Parliament (Ontario Canada), writes: "I tried to get Jacobs Oil for my face and toothache. It acted like a charm. A few times rubbing with it took away all soreness and pain; far better than having them drawn at the price of seventy-seven."

Sedalia, Missouri: The Fayette Advertiser, complimentary for its adherence to old-fashioned Democracy, calls upon Gov. Crittenden to resign.

Polishing the Wrong Ends.

Many men daily polish their boots with the hair cure, and the condition of their hair, except to borrow it casually with brush and comb, or submit it to the paralyzing attentions of the average barber.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

These are not all the facts in connection with Gov. Crittenden's nomination, but the Democratic leaders know that the railroads of this State contribute $4,000 each toward the result—possibly excepting the St. Louis and San Francisco—and that from the moment of that contribution the nomination of Crittenden was an assured fact.

The Democratic masses of Missouri heartily condemn the railroad politics of certain would-be leaders.

Whoever publishes a lie to the prejudice of his neighbor shall be set in the stocks or receive ten stripes. A drunkard shall have a master appointed by the selectmen, who are to deter him from buying and selling.

No one shall run on the Sabbath day or walk in his garden, or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

Each citizen shall swear by the blessed God to wear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only King.

Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver or bone lace above 2s. per yard shall be presented by the grand Jurors, and selectmen shall tax the offender 500 pounds.

No Quaker or dissentor from the established worship of this dominion shall be allowed to give a vote for the election of magistrates or any officer.

No one shall read common prayer-books, keep Christmas or any days, eat minced pies, dance, play cards, or play on any instrument of music, except the drum, trumpet and Jew-harp.

Whoever sets a fire in the woods and it burns a dwelling, shall suffer death; and persons suspected of this crime shall be imprisoned without the benefit of bail.

No man shall count a maid in person or by letter, without first obtaining consent of her parents; 5 pound penalty for first offence, 10 pound for the second, and for the third imprisonment during the pleasure of the court.

CHARACTER IN SMOOKING.

Watch His Cigar and You May Judge of a Man's Character.

"It's twenty years," said a Chicago dealer, "since I began to sell tobacco, and in that time I have closely studied the characters of my patrons, forming my conclusions from the kind of company they keep. I mean by the kind of cigar they smoke. I can always tell. An even tempered, quiet fellow never goes to an extreme in following a tobacco; a nervous man wants something strong and furious; a mild man something that smokes and nothing more. Then there is a great deal in the way men handle their cigars. If a man smokes his cigar only enough to keep it lighted, and releases taking it from between his lips to cut a whirling curl of blue smoke into the air, set him down as an easy-going fellow who cares little how the world goes, and no more for himself. He has been seen perceptions and delicate sensibilities. He will not let his cigar burn, but he will see to it that it is once begun. Beware of the man who never releases the cigar from the grip of his teeth, and is indifferent of whether it burns or dies. He is cool, calculating and exacting. He is a man of energy, physically, but lives easily off of those who perform the labor.

A man who smokes a lit, rests a bit, and fumbles the cigar more or less, is apt to be easily affected by circumstances. He may be energetic, careful, generous and courageous, but he is vacillating and liable to change on a moment's notice. If the cigar goes out frequently, the man has a wholesome disposition, is a devil-may-care sort of fellow, with a lively brain and a clear, bright eye. He is generally a fine hand of anecdote and yarns. To hold half of the cigar in the mouth and smoke indifferently is a lazy man's habit. They are generally of little force, and their characters are not of the highest order. A nervous man, or one under exciting influences, fumbles his cigar a great deal. He is a kind of popjany among men. Holding the cigar constantly between his teeth, chewing it occasionally, and then tearing whether it is lit or not, is a sign of a man of characteristics of men with the tenacity of bulldogs. They never forget anything, and never release a hold. The top stands his cigar on end, and an inexperienced smoker either puts it straight up or straight down at right angles with his course."

As predicted by the Democrat last week, this excellent, Gov. Charles Ingles was on Thursday appointed prosecuting attorney of Union county, vice J. M. Lowe, resigned.

The news was first received here through a special dispatch to the Democrat, received Friday morning, and the Governor held an informal reception during the entire day to receive the congratulations of his friends. The Governor's commission arrived Tuesday morning and he qualified the same day.—Plattsburg Democrat.

A down cast Yankee is advertising a remedy for red noses. He gets a great many inquiries for the remedy, and sends this reply: "Keep on drinking till your nose turns blue."

New Broomfield, Miss. Jan. 2, 1880.

I wish to say to you that I have been suffering for the last five years with a severe itching all over. I have heard of Hop Bitters and have tried it. I have used up four bottles, and it has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines that they could use on or with me.

In an old paper I read that you had a remedy for such a relief by your medicine and from a report of the doctors, I have had fifteen doctors at me. One gave me seven ounces of solution of arsenic; another took four times a day for a year, and they could tell that it was skin sickness. Now after these four bottles of your medicine, my skin is well, clean and smooth as ever.

HENRY NUCHE.

The Republican city convention of Brooklyn, having adjourned on May 10, the Democrats resolved to put a straight Democrat in the field. Mr. Low is, however, in a sense a citizens' candidate. He owes his present position to a citizens' movement. His Democratic opponent is Mr. Joseph C. Hendrix, a Missourian by birth, and a man of ability. He is a brother to Rev. Eugene Hendrix of Central College, who is widely known all over the state, and is the "Zuko" of the Republican. As Mr. Low professes to be a citizens' candidate and does not stand as a Republican nominee solely it is likely that with a united Republican support he will be elected.—Republican.

THE BLUE LAWS.

The territory comprised in the State of Connecticut was formerly two colonies—Connecticut and New Haven. The colony of Connecticut was planted at Windsor, in 1633, by emigrants from Massachusetts, at Hartford in 1636, and at Wethersfield in 1636. The other colony was settled by emigrants from England in 1636, and was called the Dominion New Haven. The two colonies were united in 1667. The famous Blue Laws, of which a full copy is given below, were enacted by the people of the Dominion of New Haven.

Men stealers shall suffer death. No minister shall keep a school. The Sabbath shall begin at sunset on Saturday.

A man that strikes his wife shall pay a fine of 10 pound sterling. Priests may be seized by anyone without a warrant.

Married people must live together or go to prison. A wife shall be deemed good evidence against her husband. Conspiracy against this Dominion shall be punished with death.

Every male shall have his hair cut around according to a cap. No woman shall kiss her child on Sunday or fasting day. None shall buy or sell land without the permission of the selectmen. From the determination of the assembly no appeal shall be made.

To pick an ear of corn from a neighbor's garden shall be deemed theft. Whoever brings dice or cards in to this Dominion shall be fined 3 pounds.

A woman that strikes her husband shall be punished as the court directs. No food or lodging shall be offered to a Quaker, Adamate or other heretic. No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair, or shave on the Sabbath.

A person accused of treason shall have no estate shall be lost out and sold to make satisfaction. The Governor and magistrate convened in general assembly are the supreme power, under God, of this independent Dominion.

If any person turn Quaker he shall be banished and not suffered to return, but on pain of death. When parents refuse their children convenient marriage, the magistrate shall determine the point.

No minister of the gospel shall join people in marriage. The magistrate only shall join them, as they do with less scandal to Christ's church, or do with less scandal to Christ's church.

No Quaker priest shall abide in the Dominion; he shall be banished and suffer death on his return. Whoever says there is power and jurisdiction above and over this Dominion shall suffer death.

The selectmen on finding the children ignorant, may take them away from their parents, and put them in letterlands, at their parents expense. No one shall be a freeman and give a vote unless he be converted and a member in full communion of one of the churches allowed in this Dominion.

When it appears that an accused has confederated, and he refuses to discover them, he may be racked. A person accused of trespass in the night shall be judged guilty unless he clears himself by his oath.

Whoever publishes a lie to the prejudice of his neighbor shall be set in the stocks or receive ten stripes. A drunkard shall have a master appointed by the selectmen, who are to deter him from buying and selling.

No one shall run on the Sabbath day or walk in his garden, or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

Each citizen shall swear by the blessed God to wear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only King.

Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver or bone lace above 2s. per yard shall be presented by the grand Jurors, and selectmen shall tax the offender 500 pounds.

No Quaker or dissentor from the established worship of this dominion shall be allowed to give a vote for the election of magistrates or any officer.
