

EDITORIAL NOTES.

With this issue I again assume control of the DEMOCRAT, after an absence of something over three years. I am somewhat broken in health, just now, but hope to soon regain my usual vigor.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Independence has organized a board of trade. Richmond could follow suit to a good advantage.

Frederick T. Ledeburger, a prominent republican politician of St. Louis has been indicted for pension frauds.

The State Board of Equalization in session at Jefferson City. W. D. Fisher of this county has been chosen one of the clerks.

The Slater Index says fifteen bodies have been born in that town in the last two weeks. That speaks well for the health of the place.

The city council last night ordered a vote taken on the proposition to extend the city limits. The day on which the vote is to be taken has not been set.

Mr. Anderson has given the people a live, wide-awake newspaper during our absence in search of experience. Now that we are back in harness we will try to do the same thing.

The fifth regiment of state militia, Col. C. C. Allen commanding has been disbanded, on account of the failure of the appropriation by the legislature for the support of the militia.

In Holt county last week Orra Keffler aged 12 years shot and killed his brother aged 9 years. It is the old story. They were playing with a gun when it was accidentally discharged.

It was our intention to this week print a picture of the new school building, but for some reason unknown to us the artist has failed to send the plate. We hope to receive it in time for our next issue.

The talk of a boom in Denton, Texas, is all bosh. We owned a nice house and there was compelled to sell it for less than the improvement of taking less after a while.

At the trader's union in St. Louis will have a grand street parade on the first of May, in commemoration of the adoption of the eight-hour rule. All flags other than our national colors will be excluded from the procession.

The telegraph says about 6,000 shoe makers in New York have withdrawn from the Knights of Labor, and organized a union of their own. The attempt of the local association to manage the affairs of the shoe makers caused the trouble.

The Interstate Fair at Kansas City is a thing of the past. The company has been dissolved and the grounds will be sold. It is in the hands of a million. The improvements will not sell for much.

A good turnpike road running along a farm incloses a value 80 on the acre at least. Every farmer can afford to subscribe liberally for such work as it is of great benefit to him and his subscription can usually be paid in work and produce.

The jury in the case of Page, the man charged with wrecking a train at Sedalia, some time during the strike of last year, failed to agree and were discharged. The evidence against Page was very strong, but a majority of the jury favored his acquittal.

The Wash Railway has served notice on the St. Louis & St. Joseph railway that in 60 days it will cancel its contract and draft agreement. This will lead the St. Louis & St. Joseph to bridge the river at Lexington and make a contract with the Missouri Pacific of Alton.

My Gould has been making a tour of Kansas with his son George and other railroad celebrities. The result will doubtless be the purchase of building of connecting lines. Mr. Gould is no longer absolute railroad king, as other great corporations are crowding him on all sides.

After all there seems to be a little life in the British Parliament, as only last week one member was excluded from the House of Commons for calling another member liar, and the prospect for a row is growing stronger daily. The Irish question is the bone of contention.

The wife of Geo. W. Frame, an ex-newspaper man, has filed a petition for divorce. He is the same man, and as chief clerk of the lower house of the legislature, a few years ago, caused the insurance bill to pass, to disappear and was indicted for the act. George is a clever fellow, but don't keep him from getting drunk and mistreating his family.

As soon as we get well enough we propose to solicit every business man in Richmond for an advertisement. Of course we do not expect to succeed in getting all to advertise, as there are always drones in every hive and it would be strange if Richmond did not have a full share, still we hope to see the live, bustling little city of Richmond well represented in the columns of the DEMOCRAT.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

STATIONERY STRAW. We wrote to the new editor. The only thing that was a dandy. Our are looking well.

The late rains have helped the wheat crop wonderfully. How are having good use of the peach and red bud bloom.

Most all the school districts voted monthly school sessions. Fairview voted to repair their house but we learn the opposition will carry the matter to the committee.

Constable Byers of Richmond was interviewing the boys this week. Tobacco farmers raise their rates for the witness, as they had been watering their plant-lands for the first time since 1871.

A Black Oak boy and his brother-in-law had a first class row one day last week. Farmers report their early planted corn coming up nicely.

Our professor of pathology says the teachers will meet in school. A ventriloquist and negro minstrel combination of a man, has been gulling the boys around here since the fall.

Quit a number of farmers have had their fences burned, during the late dry and windy weather. We have not noticed John Stone, Pole's bomber around here lately.

Joe Hasty will dispose of his stock, and move to Freedom county, Cal. Mrs. Boyer, who moved to Kansas some two years ago, has returned and will spend her remaining days in old Italy.

Sleep owners were kept busy last Sunday looking after the newly stored hocks, and we hear of several farmers losing quite a number from exposure.

The hunters and trappers living on Crooked about a mile from town, that they allowed a snipe to grow so tall that it became chieftain enough to raid a Methodist church.

What a Farmer Trust Druggist and Prominent Business Man Says About Dr. Jackson's Common Sense Liniment. TRENTON, Mo., Jan. 15, 1887.

In March, 1887, Dr. T. H. Jackson advised me to use his city in introducing his Common Sense Liniment and other remedies. During the following winter, I contracted rheumatism in my drug business.

What One of Our Citizens Says. GALLATIEN, Mo., April 18, 1887. Editor Democrat: We beg a small space in your paper that we, daughters of Hebekeki, may state to the sisters and brothers what we are doing, and going to do.

DEAR SIR: On last Friday I called on you and asked if your Common Sense Liniment was good for Caked Bag in cows. Your reply was to hand me a bottle with the request that I try it. At the same time you gave me a copy of your instruction on Friday, noon and night and Saturday morning which time every particle of caked had disappeared from my udder, leaving it and the teats soft and in excellent condition.

DEAR SIR: I have used your Common Sense Liniment for my udder and teats, and it has done me a great deal of good. I have used it for my udder and teats, and it has done me a great deal of good. I have used it for my udder and teats, and it has done me a great deal of good.

The working of the interstate commerce bill has not been very satisfactory so far, but its earnest advocates hope for a better outcome. In many instances it seems to be the purpose of the railroad managers to make it odious, while others view it with favor and are confident it will work advantageously to railroad interests. The law is evidently imperfect and will require some changing at the next session of congress.
