Every man who voted in the first primary should vote in the second.

Are the patrons of the school at Pageland willing to accept four hundred and eighty dollars each year as a gift? The election which has been called for September 10th is to decide this question. The patrons have voted an extra school levy upon themselves and everything necessary has been done to secure this state aid for the school, but it is classed as a graded school, and the aid is for high schools. The election is to change the name from "Graded" to "High" and thereby entitle the school to this additional school fund without cost. We suppose there will not be a vote cast against this proposition.

North Carolina, including Union county, has been inclined to poke fun at South Carolina for some time because of the warm political times we have down this way, but they can not say much now. We haven't seen anything lately that was hotter than the recent primary election in Union county. From the information obtainable, it seems that there was about as much heat there as here, and the main difference in the campaigns there and here is that South Carolina campaigners are out spoken and do not mind calling a lie a lie, while North Carolinians try to say the ugly word in pretty language.

The Journal is not a partisan paper, and it takes no active part in politics. Ordinarily measures and not men are discussed, and nothing is said for or against any particular candidate.

This week we depart from this position, and ask our readers to vote for R. I. Manning for governor. Manning is a clean and able man, and seems to have all necessary qualifications for a good governor. He is a successful business man, and if his record is not clean his opponents have failed to point out the dirty parts. South Carolina would be in safe hands with Richard I. Manning in the governor's chair.

John G. Richards is also an able man, and he has proven himself one of the best railroad commissioners South Carolina has had. He yet has four years to serve as railroad commissioner at a salary of nineteen hundred dollars per year. He has been commissioner long enough to be familiar with the workings of the office and is therefore better able to serve the state during the coming four years than he has been in the past. He has no special qualifications for governor, and there is no reason to suppose that he could under any circumstances make a better governor than Manning. Why then should he be taken from the position he holds to try him in a new one?

Then Richards' record has been criticised. They say he tries to be on the big side always. In other words we can't be quite sure of the stand he will take when the pinch comes. We believe it is for the best interest of all concerned that Manning be elected governor in the next Tuesday's primary.

CHURCH NOTES

Baptist

J. M. Sullivan, Pastor.

Everyone who failed to attend the W. M. U. Convention last week missed a great spiritual blessing. The ladies are showing us how to bring things to pass in the spiritual realm. They had the division Supt. Miss Adams of Darlington, Mrs. Fizer Car. Sect. Columbia and Mrs. Gouch State field worker. All bringing a good message to the workers here in our local societies. All the papers and talks by our county ladies were real interesting and helpful, proving a great spiritual uplift to all present.

We are glad to announce that Mrs. Gouch the field worker for the State will visit our association again in October. We entertain the hope that her visit will mean much to our association as she has not only the information we need but the inspiration and consecration.

Our meeting at Taxahaw closed last Sunday with six additions by experience and baptism and the entire church greatly revived. The people were well pleased with our help, Bro. Leon Funderburk. He did real good preaching for a beginner. We also appreciated having Bro. Frank Funderburk with us helping in the prayer services etc.

Our meeting at Pageland is now on in full blast, Bro. J. E. McManaway is here and giving us the messages that are stirring and uplifting. All christians are invited to be with us in these services. Let us work together for the salvation of lost souls in this town and community. "To every man his work," something for all to do.

Next Sunday White Plains 11 a. m. Saturday before 3:30 p. m. Center Grove School house 3:00 p. m.

Brethren pray for us.

Hostess (at party)—Does your mother allow you to have two pieces of pie when you are at home?

Willie (who has asked for a second piece)—No, ma'am.

Hostess—Well, do you think she'd like you to have two pieces here?

Willie—Oh, she wouldn't care. This isn't her pie?—Ex.

I Thank Chesterfield County

I'm satisfied with the results of the primary in Chesterfield County. The majority of my friends know my reluctance in offering the financial sacrifice which I did. I thank those who had the honor at heart. I thank those who had my financial interest at heart for as I stated among half my friends to send me to the Legislature would mean more than $1500 out of my pocket. Hence, I appreciate both considerations by my friends.

The fight is now over and I do not hesitate saying that I took the stump for two reasons in particular. First—to keep down bull ragging on the stump by certain candidates against certain candidates who could not be present, as was exercised two years ago. Second—to defend certain parts of records of certain officers which were kept from the public. I succeeded in both and Chesterfield has voted to suit me in nearly every particular. So far as who shall represent Chesterfield County in the General assembly, I have no particular choice.

Again I thank my friends. My political enemies have favored me financially. Thanks to them also. T. W. Belk.

From Mr Evans

I desire to thank my friends for the handsome vote given me in the first primary for magistrate of Mt. Croghan township. I appreciate all that has been done in my favor, and I respectfully ask your support in the second primary next Tuesday.

Impertinence Rebuked.

An old lady hurried into one of the Glasgow railway stations and, going up to a porter, said, "I say, porter, can't you tell me where I shall get my train?"

"Where are you going, madam?" he asked.

"What have you got to do with that? Can you tell me where I shall get my train?"

"But I cannot tell without—"

"Well, I'm not going to tell you where I'm going. I'll get some one else to help me."

With that the old lady toddled farther up the platform, and, meeting another porter, propounded her conundrum to him.

"Where are you going, madam?" was his natural question.

"Oh," she retorted, "you are just as impertinent as your mate. I'm not going to tell you where I'm going."

She went up to a third porter and asked him if he could tell her where her train was. She got the same reply, and, in apparent discouragement over the insatiable curiosity of railway porters, said, "well, if you must know, I'm going to Paisley."

The porter directed her to the Paisley train, and just as it was leaving the platform she put her head out of the window, and shouted, "How do you feel when you've been 'had'? I'm not going to Paisley at all. I'm going to Edinburg"—which, it need hardly be added, is in quite the opposite direction.
