When the Children go to School

You have a feeling of security if there are telephones in the community. As a means of protection the telephone is of inestimable value in rural districts. In widely separated districts neighbors can communicate quickly with each other and with the nearest town.

Under the plan of the Bell System any farmer can secure telephone service at low cost.

MIND'S INFLUENCE ON BODY.

Dr. Vaughn Says the Dogma is Without a Scientific Support.

Talking for his subject "The Physical Basis of Life," Dr. Vaughn, speaking before the Association of American Physicians, said that much had been heard of late concerning the influence of the mind over the body. That assumption was as old as the philosophy of Plato. It always had been and remained to-day a dogma without scientific fact. Every attempt to apply it to the treatment of disease had led to the development of conscious or unconscious charlatanism and resulted in more or less marked atavism.

Medical observation and study had shown that healthy cerebral function was to be found only when the activity of the brain was influenced properly by normal function of all the correlated organs.

"We know equally," said he, "of the influence of the brain on the other organs of the body. We are fully aware of the fact that impulses may be started in the brain through any of the five senses that may favorably or unfavorably influence the activities of the correlated organs. And for centuries the medical profession has employed this physiological principle in the treatment of disease."

Use of Naphtha.

Naphtha is an inflammable liquid which exudes from the soil in certain parts of Persia. Subsequently the use of the term spread to include some volatile oils found in Europe and even America. The product of the oil fields of Southern Russia is usually called naphtha, although it differs in no way from the ordinary grades of petroleum. Naphtha properly includes the lighter oils which pass off first in the distillation of petroleum, the gravities ranging from 90 to 62 degrees Beaume. Pennsylvania crude oil contains from 8 to 20 per cent of naphtha. In the refining of such naphtha several products are obtained by fractional distillation. Those which pass off first—namely, rhigolene and cymogene—are gases at ordinary temperatures and are seldom saved. The next product is known as gasoline, a material largely used in machines and for illuminating purposes. After this comes stove naphtha and gas naphtha, the latter being the base of much of the illuminating gas now made. Petroleum naphtha is often treated with chemicals to deodorize it. Naphtha may also be made in the distillation of wood and coal tar.

That Got Him.

A theatrical manager delighted in taking a rise out of conceited or vain members of his company.

"I see you are getting on fairly well," he remarked.

"Fairly? I am getting on very well," replied the hero of the play, proudly. "I played Hamlet for the first time last night. You can see by the papers' glowing criticisms how well I got on."

"I have not read them," replied the other, "but I was there."

"Oh, you were. Well, you noticed how swimmingly everything went off? Of course, I made a bungle of one part by falling into Ophelia's grave, but I think the audience appreciated even that."

"I know they did," said the manager with a slight smile; "but they were frightfully sorry when you climbed out of it again!"—Pittsburg Press.

The Way of a Woman.

The suffragette was practicing her address for the Woman's Rights Club at her own little home. Her words were defiant. "Women are marionettes. Since the beginning of time woman has been the real power behind the throne; now she fearlessly demands her place on the throne. She is triumphant; she defies the world; she—"

The doorbell rang. The man with the bookagent manners bowed. "May I see the head of the house a moment?"

"He is not at home," said the suffragette, slamming the door and resuming her oratory. "Let me see, where was I?"—Lippincott's.

Proof Positive.

A Western newspaper man visited Washington recently and told the following story on former Representative Amos J. Cummings, of New York, who was once city editor of the Sun. One Saturday night it was announced that all the saloons were to be closed next day.

Cummings called his star reporter, Murray. "Tom," he said, "go out to-morrow and find out if the saloons are selling liquor."

It was Thursday when Tom again appeared at the city desk.

"They were," he reported.

The Price of Peace.

The announcement that France is going to spend three milliards of francs for new ships of war—that is to say, for peace—reminds us how prices have gone up since 1871.

In that year France bought peace of Bismarck for one milliard. And a milliard, furthermore, was deemed in that day, a fairly stiff figure—the thrifty French more than hinted that Bismarck had driven a sharp bargain; whereas, on the occasion of the present purchase, the nation is reported as quite in a glow of delight.

A different sort of an ad— Craig & Kennedy's ad about High Quality.

In these days of "Sales" and "Under-Values" and "Cut-Prices," it is sometimes hard to be heard. Unfortunately, so many mis-statements and india-rubber claims are made in advertisements that many persons doubt the sincerity of all ads and the possibility of buying splendid values without a half page of cut-throat prices. But while some stores hunt REASON we hunt QUALITY. Better Values than other stores can sell regularly or irregularly. Better goods that are worth every cent you pay for them.
