Taking to the woods is perhaps as good a way as any to escape election dilemmas; so Vice-President Sherman retired to North Carolina instead of helping the Colonel "hit the line hard."

One of the many Republicans who have joined the Independent Business Men's League of New York is H. H. Sevier, a Broadway merchant, who has coined a new title for the Colonel by calling him the "Rough Rioter."

What is Mr. Roosevelt's position on the tariff? asks an esteemed subscriber? We hate to show our ignorance on such an important matter, but we really do not know and we question whether the Colonel himself does.

What is whiskey? Well, under the decision of Attorney-General Wickersham, just made, most anything goes. All whiskey is good; but some whiskey is better than other whiskey according to his Republican interpretation of the Pure Food Law.

That New Jersey Republican who asked Woodrow Wilson a string of question received prompt replies, and doubtless wishes that he had kept quiet. The Republican managers of New Jersey say they were not responsible for the blamed jackass.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer declares that the countries of the world are spending annually $2,250,000,000 upon machinery of war. The people have to pay all of this enormous sum in taxes, and they get but little benefit in the way of protection to life and property.
 The United States is one of the worst offenders because she has no neighbor to fear.

Boss Cox of Cincinnati has decided to remove to New York where he will be in closer touch with the Colonel; but what will son-in-law Longworth do if left in Cincinnati to fight his own battles? However, the Wall Street sharps may "trim" Cox-ey, old boy, and he may shake the New York dust from his feet and take up his burden in Cincinnati again before long.

The Petersburg Index-Appel says Roosevelt calls people liars, and people call him a liar, and in some cases they prove it on him. There has been no more pleasurable and altogether despicable spectacle in all the history of American politics than the mud-slinging role, in which this ex-president of the United States is appearing. Decent Republicans, in common with other citizens, are shocked and disgusted.

At a meeting of the national guard officers in Columbia the matter of the payment of salaries to big officers on the rifle range who had no special business there and other abuses of the privilege of handling the cash that is appropriated to the use of the militia and the maintenance of the citizen soldiery for the protection of the public, were very forcefully discussed and some very plain talk was indulged in.

That the Democratic party is on a higher plane than its opponent is shown by the very high character of the nominees for governors and for other high state offices and for Congress. This is universally admitted except by the most ultra partisans.
 Dr. Butler, president of Columbia College, who is an ardent Republican, admitted the superiority of the Democratic nominees, and said, "It indicates that politics will be elevated to a higher plane of principles instead of personalities."

Some people have queer ideas of what constitutes a "good fellow." Not long since a defaulting postmaster, who had squandered $3,000 of public money, who for months had been a fugitive from justice, and who when caught had just a nickel left, consoled himself by saying:
 "I've been a good fellow." Dishonesty with certain punishment awaiting him, disgrace, a fugitive from justice, and the contempt of his fellows were the heavy toll for a few weeks gay life which his stolen money gave him. That man needs to revise his stimat of a "good fellow."

A noted architect recently said that the time will come when Chicago and other cities will be beautified in the extreme by virtue of what will be accomplished through a highly trained esthetic taste and the application to true scientific methods.
 No dirty streets, no dust, no smoke, no foul sights or smells, no slums, nothing but beauty, order and prosperity. That, indeed, is a vision that everyone hopes may be realized in every place. But while waiting for it to materialize it would be just as well for everyone to keep his own premises clean. By so doing he will make present conditions better and will help forward the municipal millionaire.

Prices Here and Abroad.
 While in consequence of good average crops, except cotton, the prices of cereals have declined, the general average of the price of all necessities was only one fifth of one per cent lower on October 1st than on September 1st. Bradstreet's index number shows that the average price of commodities on October 1st is the highest ever recorded for that month, and is only 3.2 per cent below the highest ever recorded, which was on January 1st of this year, or 62 per cent higher than on July 1, 1896. So, present prices are now a little less than 60 per cent above the low prices in 1896.

If wages, salaries and incomes would all increase uniformly with prices there would be but little to complain about; but prices increase much more rapidly than do wages and incomes, and that is the reason for the present business depression.
 People cannot buy more than they have wages to pay for, so they cut off luxuries and even some necessities; thus there is a lessened demand for such articles, and the manufacturers decrease production, the wholesalers buy less and so do the retailers. Whatever the reason for the disparity between incomes and expenditures, the result is to greatly disturb business.

The Democrats show that one of the chief causes of these abnormally high prices is the tariff protection to the trusts and combines that very generally control production of not only manufactured goods, but also many food products. The Democratic contention is fully borne out by the difference in the increase in prices in Great Britain and here during the same period, as shown by the index number of the London Economist. The percentage of increase in the average price of commodities in England from June 1897 to September 1, 1910 has been 33 per cent.

As England is virtually a free trade nation, the tariff being low and on but a few articles, the rise in prices there must be from a worldwide cause, and the 27 per cent higher prices in the United States can be fairly charged to the tariff.
 As England buys a great deal of food stuffs from us, the greatly increased price of food here has increased the price of food in England, while clothing and other necessities have been practically stable there.
 So, the real difference in the cost of living in protected America and free trade England is actually greater than 27 per cent, as the figures show. If we all could buy what we now purchase for 27 per cent less, we could save over one quarter of our incomes and wages, or could spend it in better living or luxury. What "boom" times that would make!

The Crook and Jackass Club.
 The Colonel has organized a new club to supersede the old Ananias Club, which, as a political asset, has become stale and unprofitable. The new club has been organized especially for "crooks and jackasses", and the Colonel has named Judge Anderson, of Indiana, as president, who, he declared, is an adept in both characters. Other members nominated by the Colonel are, former Justice Baldwin of Connecticut, now Democratic candidate for governor; John A. Dix, Democratic candidate for governor of New York; Judge Holt; Judge Holmes, and some other Justices of the Supreme Court, with plenty more candidates in view. All of these have not been formally declared "a crook and a jackass", but they belong to the same category, and an appropriate name for the club—from the Colonel's standpoint —would seem to be the "Crook and Jackass Club". All who oppose Mr.
 Roosevelt are crooks, and all who do not do his bidding are jackasses; so, as to numbers, the future of the club is assured.

Tariff Taxes.
 Republican spellbinders, headed by Mr. Roosevelt, have felt compelled to misrepresent the revenue produced from the new tariff law. Like a lot of parrots they are all repeating the criminal delusion of the publicly bureau of the Republican party that "the new tariff law has turned a deficiency into a surplus." Yet the Treasury Department's daily financial statement shows that the excess of expenditure is increasing as the fiscal year advances, though less than in 1908 and 1909. The report for October 21st shows the deficiency since July 1st to be $25,651,987, including the Panama expenditures of $11,866,654. The customs receipts for the month, and including October 21st, were $17,779,234, whereas for the same time in 1909 the receipts were $18,430,615. But supposing the Republican contention were true, and that the customs receipts had increased enough to wipe out the deficiency of revenue, it would only show that the tariff taxes paid by the people are heavier than ever before.

Touchy Wall Street.
 Why is it that if some eminent public man speaks on elemental honesty Wall street begins to talk about disturbing business and the prospect of a panic? Why should an insistence upon sixteen ounces in the pound, thirty-six inches to the yard and unwatered stocks be considered by the "vested interests" as a menace? Is not the threat which all this talk of business disturbances and panic implies a confession that Wall street and the "interests" are anything but honest? The menace to business and stable conditions comes not from men who demand personal integrity and business honesty but from those whose wrong business practices make that demand necessary.

What has become of Senator Jonathan Bourne and his third term for Mr. Roosevelt? Has he taken to the Canadian woods to think it all over?

LUXURIOUS SLEEPING CARS.

Those in India to Have Bathrooms and Other Conveniences.
 The latest sleeping cars in India are fitted luxuriously. Like most foreign cars they are divided into compartments, but a corridor runs from end to end of the car. Each compartment contains two berths. The upper berth is of peculiarly ingenious design, so compactly constructed that a casual observer would fail to see how it can be lowered.

The compartments are large enough to accommodate the luggage that any two persons can require, and are fitted up with all kinds of conveniences.
 Every compartment has an electric fan under the control of the passengers, and of the three electric lamps one is a small night lamp that can be kept burning all night without inconvenience.

If a party is too large for a single compartment, says the Railroad Man's Magazine, a sliding door connecting with the adjoining compartment can be thrown open. On the other hand, if the passenger desires he can lock his door, pull down his Venetian blinds and be secure from intrusion.

At each end of the coach is a roomy bathroom, with a large bath tank in the floor, the walls lined with mirrors, and equipped with every imaginable sanitary device. There is also a servant's compartment. It is said that this coach has been approved by the railway board as the standard type for India rolling stock.

How a Monkey Pleaded.
 In Barbados the monkeys frequently injure the sugar cane. As a general thing, however, they are inoffensive creatures and the average planter regards them with good-natured tolerance. Once in a while, however, they commit a little too much damage on the growing cane, and an example has to be made of one poor culprit by shooting a member of any particular troop of monkeys that may be found near the scene of destruction. Exposing the dead body as a warning is usually sufficient, and the cane is no longer attacked.

On one occasion great damage had been perpetrated, and the planter—Clarence Agard, now residing in St.
 Lucy, Barbadoes—went out with his gun to act as executioner. He succeeded in isolating one stray simian in a tree that was detached from all adjacent shrubbery. The poor animal, realizing that it was trapped, rushed up to the utmost end of the branch, and then looked in the most appealing manner at the man below. The latter finally raised his gun, and was on the point of pressing the trigger when the monkey suddenly took a little infantile replica of itself from its back and held it out in the most sup-plicating way conceivable.

The planter, who is fond of animals, had his heart quite touched, and he promptly lowered his gun. A companion, however, in his endeavor to see what else the poor simian would do, raised his gun, and apparently "saw more its life was in danger." Then ensued a most striking exhibition of animal reasoning. The monkey at once grasped the fact that her first claim for consideration had apparently failed, and the only reason her intelligence could suggest for the failure was that the infant simian was not regarded as her own genuine offspring.

What was to be done? How could he convince these two human brutes that she really was a sad and distressed mother? A happy thought occurred to her. She plucked a leaf from the tree, held it close to her breast and then pressed the breast until a few drops of milk exuded.
 Then she dropped the leaf, and again held up her baby to the gaze of the astonished men below. Needless to say, she escaped with her life.—London Globe.

Time at the North Pole.
 At the north pole time is nothing, and if one were residing at the north pole it would be unnecessary to wind one's watch. You are always at 12 o'clock and can't walk out of the hotel without walking south. All times of day meet at the pole, as the meeting-place of all the meridians.
 A man sitting with the invisible mathematic point right under him would be in all 24 hours at once. Or a 24-hour watch placed on the pole could be made to point to the correct time in every part of the world.
 There used to be something of an approximation to this in the extreme north of Norway, where the degrees of longitude squeeze in, until recent days. Captains of Norwegian coasting schooners will tell you how inconvenient it was to change between the time of Holland at Bergen and that of Cote at the North Cape, while correct local time was maintained.
 General Norwegian time became indispensable.—London Chronicle.

So He Didn't.

 care much for. One day his aunt was looking at a Christmas book and turned to a picture of a little boy on a standing back of the horse pulling its tail. George's aunt said: "George, come and look at this little boy on a rocking horse just like yours, and having such a good time; why don't you care for yours?" George looked at it a minute, considering an answer, then turned away indifferently, saying: "I don't have any little girl to pull his tail."—Cincinnati Commercial
