

BACHMAN CHAPEL LETTER

T. J. W. Writes Interestingly on Union Academy Subjects.

Mr. R. E. Hunter has been quite sick for the past week.

We are truly sorry to say that Mrs. M. L. Kinard is gradually growing worse, with no hopes of recovery.

Rev. P. H. E. Derrick made a mistake when he announced that there would be communion at Bachman Chapel on Sunday last, which has been corrected in both of the county papers. But nevertheless the announcement placed us in a somewhat awkward position, as we had given out the information as was first stated, to a good many people.

There was communion at St. Phillips last Sunday and there will be communion at Bachman Chapel on the fourth Sunday, the 25 inst.

Mr. J. W. Richardson has repaired the Tom Kinard bridge across Cannon's creek, and also the bridge near Mr. G. L. Sease's, crossing the same creek. I am sorry to say it, but nevertheless it is true; the public highways are receiving the least attention in this section that I ever knew in all of my life. Well, as long as it stays dry I suppose we can get along some way. But my, oh! whenever it commences raining, how are we to travel? I believe in economy, but I always like to have a little consistency along with it. I hate to see the county's money thrown away and then cry out economize. We are heels over head in debt now.

The Herald and News has kept its readers posted up to date on the Jim Tillman trial by the able pen of young Mr. J. K. Aull who has been with the court in Lexington ever since the beginning of the trial. John Aull is an excellent writer, and we predict that it will not be long before he reaches the top of the ladder.

About three-fourths of the cotton crop is gathered in the best condition I ever knew it, and when it is all sold some people will find out that it is a very short crop. What's the matter with our newspaper men? I notice they are not advising the farmers what to do about holding or selling their cotton. I believe this is about the first time I ever knew them to keep silent in this respect. Possibly the cotton mill men have whispered in their ear to keep quiet and let us get some cheap cotton. The farmers can smell a rat, but it is always after the rat is gone.

Don't feed your peas, farmers; save them, they will all be needed for seed next summer.

Beans, roasting-ears; cabbage, tomatoes, okra, fruit, soup and all such good things have given out in the country. Now, you town dudes, when you go to eat your steak and fish you can think what a hard time we country people are having. Even our old hens have formed a trust in the egg business, and our frying chickens have the sore head. But don't tell this so that our preacher gets hold of it, for he has promised to come to our home next Saturday night, and such news as this will certainly back down the bravest preacher that's in the South Carolina synod.

What's become of our daily mail? It's gone to sleep again. Mr. Editor, will you please wake 'em up? Why it is that all the other R. F. D. routes are daily except those from Slights? I would like to know. I believe that there is as much or perhaps more mail handled on route No. 1 from Slights as any other of the rural districts that you can mention. But possibly we are not entitled to as much accommodation as the rest.

While in town a short while ago we met our old friend, Prof. C. A. Mills, of Saluda. The professor ATTACKS ADVERTISING QUACKS.

J. T. Lewis Advocates Imprisonment for Illegal Practice of Medicine.

New York Tribune.

James Taylor Lewis, of this city, counsel of the New York State Medical Association, said, with reference to Justice Mayer's remarks before the Medical Jurisprudence Society on Monday evening:

The Justice was doing much by such a statement to educate public opinion to a point where it would demand the withdrawal by some of the daily papers of New York and other cities throughout the State of all advertising on the part of irresponsible and fraudulent astrologers, midwives, fortune-tellers and quacks who are so openly advertising their wrongdoing in the columns of some of the great dailies. If the Justice would take a step further in practice, and for the ensuing six months would imprison every case brought before him where the defendant was convicted of practicing medicine illegally, instead of imposing a small fine, he would assist the medical profession in this State to the greatest degree in stemming the increasing wrongdoing of these medical mountebanks.

The Court of Special Sessions, in that direction has almost unlimited power, and I believe that the imposition of small fines, to which there is at present no minimum, actually tended to an increase of these practitioners, rather than as a deterrent, because the defendants have come to the belief that no imprisonment will result from their wrongdoing, and that they will be simply called on to pay a small fine, which they can well afford to do, and immediately return from the Court House to their offices. It is only a short time ago that my inspector secured the conviction of a quack, who was practicing under the name of an advertising registered physician, where it was discovered that not only was the person examining and prescribing not a physician, but the alleged pharmacist, who put up the physician's prescriptions, and was only an adjunct to the office of the doctor, was not a pharmacist at all, but a former ball player.

I believe the profession looks on these quacks as, perhaps, the greatest menace to the public health to day. The advertising midwives, while their advertisements are usually for an apparently lawful purpose, are well known to be wholly improper and criminal.

A Negro Cotton Thief Killed.

The State. Abbeville, Oct. 18. — Charles Killingsworth, colored, was found stealing cotton from the field of R. E. Frierson, near Calhoun Falls, on the Cotton Hill plantation in Abbeville county, last Thursday night. He was called on to halt but ran and Frierson fired at him with a pistol to make him stop. The ball went through his heart but this fact was not known until Friday evening when his body was found. An inquest was held and a verdict rendered that Killingsworth came to his death from a wound inflicted by R. E. Frierson, while defending his property.

Frierson is in custody of Sheriff Lyon and will apply for bail before Judge Dantzler at Anderson Monday morning.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by W. E. Pelham & Son, Newberry, S. C., and Prosperity Drug Co., Prosperity, S. C.
