

ALL BUT A RIOT AMONG DEMOCRATS

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION IN WILD TUMULT.

Delegates Then Unite on Mansfield as Compromise Candidate for Governor of State.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 7.—Frederick W. Mansfield, of Boston, was nominated for governor by the Democratic State convention here this morning, the nomination being by acclamation.

The name of Mr. Mansfield was offered as a compromise following a conference, in which James Vahey and Representative Eugene N. Foss agreed to withdraw from the contest to save bitterness and to better the chances of success of the party at the polls. It was agreed that the name of Mr. Mansfield should be placed in nomination with the understanding that he will withdraw within 72 hours and that the selection of the party's candidate shall be made by a special committee. Mr. Vahey made a strong speech in which he withdrew his own name and nominated Mansfield.

The convention adjourned at 1.30.

Wild Tumult.

The convention broke out in a wild tumult at the conclusion of the announcement of an indecisive second ballot for a nominee for governor early this morning. Delegates swarmed up over the press seats and upon the platform.

Chairman Thayer called for the police and 20 officers struggled through the mass of delegates to the stage. The officers succeeded after some difficulty in pushing all except several ardent delegates back upon the floor of the convention hall.

A second effort of the officers to clear the stage resulted in the starting of several fights. Fists were used freely and at 12.25 a. m. half a dozen mix-ups were in progress with the chairman unable to secure order.

Constructive Recess.

At 12.30 a. m. a recess of 20 minutes was declared by the chairman. Scarcely any one left the hall. The melee was at its height and the announcement of a recess had little effect upon the delegates, who were pounding one another about the press box. The newspaper men were driven from their section. The officers experienced difficulty in separating the combatants and reserves were called in.

The announcement of the second ballot, which was taken very slowly under the Australian system of voting, showed that Congressman Eugene N. Foss had a lead, notwithstanding supporters of Charles H. Hamlin had done their best after the first ballot to throw their strength to James H. Vahey.

Foss Near Victory.

Vahey gained more than twice as many votes as Foss, yet did not secure enough to get the nomination, while Foss was within four votes of securing the nomination.

The vote on the second ballot was: Total vote cast $33. Necessary for choice, 442. Eugene N. Foss, of Boston, 438; James H. Vahey, Watertown 425; Charles H. Hamlin, Boston, 20.

As a last resort a conference of the leaders of the convention was called just before 1 o'clock to attempt to agree upon a new candidate for governor.

Convention Quieted.

The police and more sober-minded delegates succeeded in quieting the combatants who had attempted to take possession of the stage and the convention awaited in an orderly manner the result of the conference.

Vahey at 1.15 a. m. withdrew as candidate for governor and placed in nomination Frederick W. Mansfield, of Boston. The convention made Mansfield's nomination unanimous.

The platform adopted called for the removal of the tariff on foodstuffs and other necessities of life; adoption of a constitutional amendment providing for a federal income tax; election of United States senators by direct vote; throughout the nation; the initiative and referendum; improved conditions for laboring men; opposition to the reelection of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and economy in State expenditures.

ed in the convention hall and, after an ovation, accepted the nomination.

In the main, the convention, which was largely attended, was harmonious throughout, though there was a little breeze when Senator Tolett endeavored to have the platform amended so as to provide for a reference of the liquor question to a vote of the people. The amendment was finally voted down, the original platform being adopted. The temperance plank reads as follows:

"The Democratic party has at all times been the consistent friend of temperance reform in Tennessee and other Southern States.

"We therefore declare that the temperance question should not be an issue in a gubernatorial campaign.

"The great controlling issue in this campaign is whether Tennessee shall be turned over to a boss-ruled Republican machine in a bargain by which the public offices of the State are sought to be treated as merchandise for barter and sale between politicians and party bosses. The repudiation of this humiliating attempt to barter away the honor of the State is the first duty of every patriotic Tennessean."

The platform is mainly devoted to State affairs.

It is understood headquarters will be opened at once. Senator Taylor will take the stump within the week.

SPECIAL TERM PROBABLE.

Trial of Paul Williams' Slayers Early in November—Will Waive Preliminary.

The State.

Lexington, Oct. 6.—It is probable that Gov. Ansel will be asked to order a special term of court in Lexington county at which the 11 men held for the murder of Paul A. Williams, the young report clerk of the Southern railway's freight office in Columbia, will be tried. The application for the special term must be made by Solicitor George Bell Timmerman, who is now engaged at Saluda where the court of general sessions is in progress.

P. H. Corley, sheriff of Lexington county, said today that so far none of the men accused of the crime had demanded a preliminary hearing.

If Solicitor Timmerman asks for a special term of court, 21 days must elapse after the granting of the order before the court convenes.

Of the men confined in the county jail in connection with the murder, ten are kept in the iron cage, the other seven in the corridor on the outside and are locked in separate cells at night.

The Men Interviewed.

Confined in the cage with the negroes are three white men—the ones who are charged with complicity in the crime. They are J. O. Cabe, Hadden Hooper and George Nichols. Two of them, Cabe and Hooper, claim Georgia as their home, the other, George Nichols, says his home is in Pekin, Illinois.

All of them protest their innocence, but further than this they had very little to say when seen today. However, they talked freely of their past life and the occupations they have followed.

J. O. Cabe is of stout build and looks to weigh about 150 pounds. He is 32 years of age and has been married, his wife having died some years ago. He joined the circus at Knoxville, Tenn., two weeks ago. He worked in a copper mine at Tuckston, Tenn., for 16 years, he says. His father, L. F. Cabe, resides at Epworth, Ga., and is a farmer. Cabe admits that he was on the train on which young Williams was killed but denies any knowledge of the crime. He says that there was a general row going on all the time. He is going to make an effort, he says, to communicate with his people, and try to get released as soon as possible.

Claims He is Innocent.

Hadden Hooper is 19 years old. He joined the circus at Athens, Ga., just four days before he was arrested. He says that he worked for a livery stable for two weeks before he joined the show. Jasper Hooper, his father, is a farmer, and resides near Athens, according to his statement. Hooper seems to be well satisfied and says that he does not intend to ask for a preliminary hearing. He claims that he was not on the train that Williams was killed on, but that he went into Augusta on the first section. "I am as innocent as the angels in heaven," he said.

George Nichols, aged 32, says he joined the circus at Lawrenceville, Illinois, on the 20th of August. He says that he worked in the oil fields of Illinois until the work shut down, and he joined the circus. He says that is father's name is Stephen Nichols, and that his home is in Pekin, Illinois.

There are two more white men in the bunch, but they are not accused of having taken part in the murder, and are being held as witnesses.

The negroes come from every part of the country. None of them had anything to say, except that they hoped to get out soon. All of them said that they had only been with the show a very short time.
