The Greenwood Daily Journal gave such a vivid description of the "crazy scene" in the jail over there when Louis Lomax went bugs, one would almost believe that the writer was on hand from the very beginning of the act.—Laurens Advertiser.

Maybe that's the reason Lomax "went bugs."

The second primary in Newberry county for county officers held Tuesday left the Blease men high and dry, politically speaking, of course.—Greenville News.

The Greenville News is to be congratulated that there was something to its liking in the many primaries held throughout the State during the summer.

If Attorney General-elect Peeples is in Columbia today, we hope some one will show him the location of the supreme court room.—Greenville Piedmont.

Probably the paragrapher of the Piedmont could render a service to South Carolina by acting as guide for Mr. Peeples, and also expounding to him the law. We have no doubt the Piedmont regards itself as fully competent.

Let us hope for the sake of the State that Attorney General-elect Peeples will have an assistant that is a good lawyer.—Greenville Piedmont.

We might also express the hope that he will not find it necessary to engage the services of as many high-priced assistants as his predecessor did. Possibly the Piedmont would recommend the services of one T. B. Felder, but we doubt if he would appeal to Mr. Peeples.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson, it was announced after his addresses in New York on Saturday night, will not make any more campaign speeches until Col. Roosevelt is able to get back into the campaign. As soon as Gov. Wilson learned that Col. Roosevelt was wounded, he made an effort to cancel all his engagements, but found it impossible to cancel those for the past week. This is a very high position for Gov. Wilson to take, and will meet the approval of the voters of the country.

The Spartanburg Herald's account of the "Bull Moose" meeting in Spartanburg on Saturday night would indicate that there is some "Bull Moose" sentiment in this State. While the Democracy in South Carolina is not in the slightest danger either from the Taft or the Roosevelt forces, it is nevertheless the duty of Democrats to go to the polls and vote in the general election, and to keep up Democratic enthusiasm in an almost solidly Democratic State between now and the election will help the cause of the Democracy in the country at large.

If those newspapers which are lamenting the defeat of Attorney General Lyon and speaking in more or less sarcastic terms of Mr. Peeples' lack of experience would hark back some six years they would find Attorney General Lyon entering upon the duties of his office with very little experience. This lack of experience is all that we have seen urged against Mr. Peeples. He is a young man who created a favorable impression everywhere during the campaign, who has the endorsement of his home people, and who has been declared the choice of the South Carolina Democracy for the position. But he has one unpardonable sin in the eyes of some of the newspapers—the fact that he is regarded as a political friend and supporter of Gov. Blease.

THE "D. I. C."

Commenting on the statement that "the dispensary investigating committee will meet in Columbia on October 31, at which time it will, in all probability, resume the taking of testimony," the Chester Lantern sees in the dim and distant future a possible monument for South Carolina rearing its head proudly among the things of greatest antiquity. "The only weak point in the scheme," says the Lantern, "is that the proposed everlasting D. I. C. (dispensary investigating committee) might, some centuries from now, run out of testimony to take. This, however, could easily be gotten around, in case the supply of testimony should actually become exhausted, by letting the committee investigate itself, the members to take testimony from each other."

The Lantern even sees the D. I. C. running until the end of time and the beginning of eternity. "With just a little care and forethought," it says, "it is quite possible that, at the last, when Gabriel throws his wings back, sticks out his chest, and blows the golden dust out of his cornet with the final call for Grand Assembly, the last of earth's dwellers to respond to the summons will be five musty, dusty, old gentlemen, emerging from beneath countless tons of type-written MSS, 'at the usual place in the State library,' where, up to the end of time and the beginning of eternity, they have been dutifully engaged in 'taking testimony.'"

If we are to judge the future by the past—and we believe Patrick Henry agreed with thousands of others that this is about the only safe way of judging it—the Lantern's wonderfully vivid picture would not seem to be a great deal over-drawn.

ROOSEVELT TAKEN TO HIS OYSTER BAY HOME

dition as good, emphasized the need of absolute quiet.

The position of the bullet which so nearly cost Col. Roosevelt his life was fixed with precision for the first time tonight. Another X-ray photograph, the third, was taken today, and from this it was learned that the bullet lay on the outside of the broken rib. Until this photograph was taken the physicians had been unable to say positively whether it was on the outside or the inside of the rib.

May Never Remove Bullet.

"We know definitely now that the bullet lies outside of the rib, where it can do no harm," said Dr. Lambert. "It lies in such a position that I could reach the spot precisely through a small incision, should Col. Roosevelt desire to have it removed at any time. It is a matter of his own preference. Col. Roosevelt said he did not think he would ever have the bullet removed.

When the dressing was removed from the wound today it was found to be stained with blood, mingled with the discharge of serum.

"The discharge is from the entire infiltrated track," said Dr. W. B. McCauley. "In such a case as this white corpuscles of the blood are deposited over the surface of the wound to form a protective wall. When the inflammation subsides permanent tissues begin to grow to fill up the wound. The white corpuscles dissolve and are discharged as serum."

Caring For the "Inner Man."

Mrs. Roosevelt supervised final arrangements for her husband's journey to Oyster Bay and gave orders to have his car stocked with his favorite things to eat. Dr. Lambert and Dr. Terrell, who are to have charge of the colonel during the trip, said they would try to keep him in bed most of the time.

On arrival in New York the two cars which will be occupied by Col. Roosevelt and his party will be switched to the tracks of the Long Island railroad and sent direct to Oyster Bay, so that the colonel will not be obliged to leave his stateroom until he gets into the automobile which will take him to Sagamore Hill.

Once back at home there will be little relaxation in the strict regime of the physicians for a week or ten days. Col. Roosevelt believes, however, that he will be able to speak in Madison Square Garden, New York, October 30. He hopes to make one speech to summarize all of his reasons for seeking support for the Progressive party and has begun to plan an address which he can deliver in twenty minutes.

"But I am going to the meeting anyway," he said, "even if I can speak only three words."

Went Through Small Hole to Liberty.

Odell Suber, a negro, made good an escape from a cell in the city guard house on Friday night, the manner of his escape showing considerable head-work, arm-work, and ability to squeeze himself through a very small hole.

Odell was taken to the lock-up by Jacob Lurey, a shoe-maker in lower Main street, Lurey charging that Suber had stolen a pair of shoes from him. Suber was placed in the middle cell and locked up. Near the top of one of the walls are several iron bars protecting a small square hole to allow the passage of air from one cell to another. Suber prized a plank from the floor of his cell and managed to bend one of these iron bars, and through an opening which hardly looks sufficiently large for the passage of a large cat he made his way to the next cell, which was unlocked, and too; his departure. Suber had not been recaptured Monday.

He Knew When.

"The time will come," thundered a suffragist orator, "when women will get a man's wages!"

"Yes," sadly muttered a man on the rear seat; "next Saturday night!"—Tit-Bits.

And Several X's Follow.

Well, I've just planked down five dollars for my railroad ticket.

Jokely—That's proper. Vacation with a V you know.—Boston Transcript.
