

JOHN A. HORTON IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Belton Man in The Ring From Third District

Friends Are Sure Mr. Horton Will Be Very Much in the Race to the End.

Belton Journal.

Congressman Aiken is to have a new opponent for his seat in congress and Anderson county, a candidate. For some time it has been rumored that Belton had a citizen with congressional aspirations, and was considering the matter of offering for the position of representative from the Third Congressional district. All rumors are now at an end and John Horton is in the race to stay and, his friends say, to win. It is believed that he will poll a large vote in Anderson county, and this is the largest voting county in the district. Coupled with the large vote he will carry in the other counties, his supporters and friends in this county see nothing in the way of Anderson's having a representative in congress.

John Aiken Horton, our candidate for congress, was born in August, 1874, on his father's farm near Belton. As a small boy he attended school here in Belton, having to walk the distance of four miles twice each day. He was determined to have an education, and never stood back on account of wind or weather, but was always present and always led his class. From here he went to the Patrick Military Institute in Anderson, teaching school there the summer months to pay his tuition. He was graduated from this institution in 1895. He then went into the grocery business on a small scale, but soon his business and growth to be one of the largest in Belton.

In 1903 he organized the Farmer's Bank of Belton with a capital stock of $25,000.00. He met with a great deal of opposition in this venture, especially by Hon. A. C. Latimer, but when this gentleman saw how determined Mr. Horton was to succeed he withdrew his objections, and was one of his biggest stockholders—showing how much confidence he had in Mr. Horton. The bank has grown to a surplus of $17,000.00, under his able management. He did all of the work himself for several years, but now he and his cashier are both taxed to keep up with it.

He was mayor of Belton for three terms retiring each time on account of business. It was during his administrations, that lawlessness was practically wiped out of Belton. His fearless administration did honor to him, accomplished the end he was striving for—a law abiding as well as clean town. He was always merciful where circumstances warranted it and did his duty as an honest man should.

Mr. Horton was married in June, 1910, to Miss Emmae Tate, one of Elberton Georgia's most attractive young ladies. Socially they are one of the most popular couples in Belton, and as a business man Mr. Horton is honored as highly as any man in Anderson county, because he has succeeded at everything he has ever undertaken, because his character is clean and honorable, because he sticks to his business, because he can always be depended on to be at his post and because he will do what is right while he is there.

That is the kind of a man Belton is offering to this district as a candidate for their representative and surely that is the kind of a man every good, honest voter in this district wants to represent him in our congress.

If you vote for Mr. Horton you can feel safe that when a roll is called in congress he will be present to answer to his name and to have your interests truly at heart. Born of farmer parents brought up a farmer boy and thrown in close contact with farmers, all of his life, he knows the farmer's needs not the theories, but their actual needs.

Living for years in a mill town he also knows their needs and being a banker, he knows their needs and is ready to work for them all to the very best of his ability, as he has always done in everything he ever undertook to do.

Belton is proud of Mr. John Aiken Horton and predicts great things for him in the future.—Adv.

The Telephone and Good Roads

The telephone goes hand in hand with good roads.

The telephone overcomes many of the obstacles of bad roads and makes it possible for the farmer and other rural residents to transact business in the city and with neighbors when the roads are impassable.

Progressive farmers are insisting upon good roads and telephones. These two agencies of modern civilization are doing more than all others toward eliminating the isolation of country life. You can have a telephone in your home at very small cost. Send a postal for our free booklet giving complete information.

Dyson, S. C., July 8.—One of the most beautiful weddings of the season occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sligh, Tuesday evening, June 13, when their daughter, Miss Martha Lee, became the happy bride of Mr. Henry Neal Blair, of Boone, N. C.

As the guests arrived they were refreshed by punch, which was served on the porch by Misses Eva Ormand, Mattie Glasgow and Janet Haltiwanger.

On entering the house one was impressed with the loveliness of the home which had been so beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The floors of the hall and parlor were covered with white which made all the more effective, the ferns and ever-greens that were so gracefully draped about the walls, doors, windows and mantels. The color scheme throughout being green and white.

Promptly at the appointed hour, Miss Janet Haltiwanger sounded the wedding march. Dr. A. J. Bowers, of Newberry, the officiating minister taking his place at the altar, the bridal procession emerged from the rear hall in the following order: First came the dainty little ring-bearer, Margaret Glasgow, a niece of the bride, next came the maid of honor, Miss Annie Belle Sligh, a sister of the bride, who carried an armful of white roses and ferns. And last to enter were the bride and groom. Never more lovely did the bride look than on this occasion, she was beautifully clad in a gown of silk crepe-de-chine draped with rich lace and real pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and ferns.

After the ceremony and congratulations the guests passed into the dining room, where pink ice cream and cake were served by Misses Sara Glasgow, Lillie Haltiwanger, Lois and Mary Lou Glasgow.

After which the crowd amused themselves by cutting the bride's cake, Miss Mattie Glasgow being the fortunate one to cut the ring. The dining room was decorated in pink carnations and ferns. The guests passed from the dining room into the front parlor and viewed the vast number of presents, consisting of silver, cutglass, china, gold, etc., which had been bestowed upon this happy young couple. The bride quietly withdrew from the merry crowd and donned in a handsome blue silk crepe traveling suit.

At 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Blair accompanied by a number of young people left by automobile for the station, where the bride and groom amid shower of rice, boarded a Pullman for the groom's home in Boone, N. C., going by the way of Columbia and Asheville.

The bride threw her bouquet from the steps of the train as it was slowly moving out, Mr. Loudon Brooks and Miss Janet Haltiwanger were the lucky ones. They caught it before it touched the ground.

arrived here yesterday on board the Kaiser Franz Josef 1 of the Austro-American line.

Dr. Haaz has interested prominent American Jews in the project and is said already to have several thousand acres of good agricultural land placed at his disposal in this country. He will remain at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel for two weeks and will then start on a tour of the United States which will embrace the Pacific coast States. The majority of the Jews to be brought are agricultural workers now living in the Balkan States and in the southern provinces of Russia. "They are capable, hard working farmers and would make desirable citizens for the United States," said Dr. Haaz. They will begin arriving here within the next two months and it is the intention to land at least 3,000 of them in New York before the end of the summer.
