You have heard of pearls being found in oysters, but a gold locket in the crop of a chicken is something new. She must be a descendant of the mixed family of the fowl that laid the golden egg.

VARIOUS AND ALL ABOUT.

The Newberry high school students want and expect you at the opera house tonight, Monday, to see "The Gypsy Rover." And they will want and expect you at the high school auditorium Tuesday night for the commencement exercises.

The picture will show "Body and Soul," in Alice Lake play Friday.

For recklessly driving faster than 25 miles an hour on the public highway LeRoy Williams and William Abrams, colored, paid $15 each in the recorder's court Saturday. It was charged they were racing with trucks.

Fishermen who failed to read the chief game warden's letter to County Game Warden J. D. Nance, as published in the papers Friday would do well to hunt it up and read it.

Don't overlook, ye chamber of commerce members, the meeting of the forum committee at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the new court house.

"The Hornet's Nest," as printed on the opera house program for Wednesday, by Tom Mix, is the same as "A Ridin' Romeo," as announced in a reader.

On the eve of the meeting of the Mystic Shriners in Greenville the News headed a splendid write up with a photo print of Mr. Thos. P. Johnson, first ceremonial master, who topped the list.

This being June it will be soon that you are seeing the comet, on the 27th, which scientists say is travelling earthward at the rate of 72,000 miles an hour. As it has been traveling thus for some time and will be 2,000,000 miles from us when it reaches its nearest point to us, you will understand what an immense object it is, if you can grasp the situation. In comparison little old earth is about like a soap bubble to a baseball.

Only Jack London could write such a vivid, throbbing story of the sea. See "The Mutiny of the Elsinore," with Mitchell Lewis and Helen Ferguson, Tuesday.

It makes no difference who "Phyff" is or how you call his name, or how asphalt is pronounced, the men are going right along with their work. They don't care, just so they get it done and get the money for the job.

It is an interesting moment when Jim, seeing a baby on a big rock and thinking it is abandoned, takes it home—only to have its parents swear out warrant for kidnapping. Shown by Tom Mix in "A Ridin' Romeo," Wednesday.

We are glad Dr. Cromer asked the question, "What authority or excuse is there for the growing habit of putting the accent on the first syllable of the word address?" For a long time this "growing habit" has puzzled us and we have often thought that the reason why so many people say address is because there are more fools in the world today than formerly, or that the latter day fools are bigger fools than were the former day aggregation. Watch the next person who draws address and see if it is not one who has affected ways.

Someone has reminded us that a judge somewhere "held up" a man for eating peanuts in court. Manager Wells ought to be like that judge, for some people are still patterning after Bibb Russell at the opera house. Bibb likes to sit up and take notice of the pictures while he eats, and he "sure" has company—there are so many people like Bibb. They ought to be sent to "Mount Peanut"—in the gallery—and made to huddle in one corner. Some time ago we noticed several respectable people indulging in this pastime, but they have given it up now.

"Sheltered Daughters" will be shown at the opera house Thursday, with Justine Johnstone leading in the picture.

Farmers Should Organize Bull Associations.—Headline in St. Matthews Carolinian. In the city of Newberry there is a large and flourishing association, of which Mr. John Fuller Bull is president.

The sweet girl graduate of this year is just as sweet as those of other years.—Anderson Mail.

Charged with petit larceny S. M. McMorris forfeited a $10 bond at the recorder's court Monday morning.

June 3—Friday—Jefferson Davis' birthday, the banks will be closed.

Honoring those who made the supreme sacrifice in the World war, many in Newberry wore the poppy on Monday. The wearing of the poppy was the right thing to do.

Now let's get ready for the decorations for commencement.

That is a good and an important matter the forum committee of the chamber of commerce is so ably calling to the attention of the people of this city. Attend the meeting in the new court house Thursday night and take action on the abattoir question.

To quote the language of the committee, we believe "the people of Newberry do not quite fully appreciate the tremendous importance of competent inspection and sanitary surroundings in a slaughter house."

Lutherans helped Methodists Sunday. Dr. George B. Cromer spoke at Central Methodist and Dr. W. K. Gotwald preached at the A. R. P. church, while Dr. Freed occupied his pulpit at the Church of the Redeemer. We heard Dr. Freed. Although he had traveled from New York, after attending a meeting of the West Indies Mission board in that city, and only reached Newberry a couple of hours before preaching time Sunday morning, he gave us one of the best sermons on the rich man and Lazarus that we have ever listened to. He was original in presenting the case of the rich man as representing ability and that of Lazarus as opportunity, and when he drew the picture of the wealthy neglecting the opportunity of helping, for instance, the starving children of Europe, he touched the hearts of his large congregation with the finger of love and charity. We had never heard Dr. Freed and he is an earnest preacher. After hearing his sermon Sunday morning we well understand why people love him. Someone told us we ought to have heard him Sunday night.

Get it fixed in your head that the commencement services at the opera house next Sunday morning will begin at 11 o'clock—not at 11:30 as at the various churches every Sunday.

The regular first Sunday service at the Episcopal church for next Sunday will be postponed a week owing to Newberry college commencement.

Several days ago Mr. J. L. Welling broke an egg and found with the shell another perfect though small egg, shell and all. Mr. Welling is a good accountant but he can't account for this "two-in-one." The year 1921 is seeing some peculiar things, and Welling's double egg is one of them.

Cotton 11 cents, cotton seed 27 cents.

There will be a picnic at Reeder-ville school on Saturday, June 4. The public is invited.

Half Rabbit, Half Cat

We have seen and heard of different kinds of mixed breeds and grafted things, but never before of cat and rabbit. Mr. J. W. Hodge, driver of a transfer auto in Newberry, has shown us a living curiosity in the shape of half rabbit and half cat, which is a freak of nature wrong.

The "thing" came from Spartanburg, and if you don't believe it is what we say it is (it is hard to believe off hand) get Mr. Hodge to show it to you. Being so unusual it is an interesting object to look at.

This rabbit cat or cat rabbit has puzzled us since seeing it, and you don't know what to call it—but call it by any other name and it is not as sweet as a rose, although some girl waiting it for a pet might call it cute. It is a strange looking animal, from its "bunny cotton-tail" and rabbit like hind legs to its cat like fore-part and head.

In worrying over this misfit we have tried to be helped out by reading an article on "Blood Human and Ape," first appearing in the Atlantic Monthly, by Vernon Kellogg. He speaks of the "structural evidence of ancestral relationship between the anthropoids and man" being "added to by several other well known kinds of likenesses, physiological, psychological and even ecological." Further on Mr. Kellogg speaks of the dog and wolf and other animals, but does not mention rabbit and cat, which leaves us in the dark, and we grope around not knowing anything about what he calls the "precipitin reactions."

In the researches of science all sorts of prehistoric races are being heard of, and it may be that this rabbit-cat in the possession of Mr. Hodge can furnish, in the language of Mr. Kellogg, "a notable modern addition to the biological evidence of anthropoid" and some other relationship; and his study of "certain highly specialized external insect parasites" may yet give a solution to this question in Newberry, as the scientist adds that these "parasites" are related to the kinds "characteristic of the other quadrupans."

Red Cross Sewing

The productions committee is deeply appreciative of the hearty response that has come from the women of the town and county in offering to help with the garments for the needy children. At this rate the chapter will again go over the top.

There has been a delay in getting the patterns, but the committee hopes to make a definite announcement in Thursday's paper as to when and through whom the various auxiliaries and branches will receive their cut garments.
