

EARTHQUAKE RUMBLINGS.

Confidence Returning—Charity from All Parts of the World.

Business has been reopened along the wharves of Charleston. Cotton factors and ship-brokers are ready for business and full of confidence in the future, and declare their purpose to make Charleston a bigger place than ever.

The U. S. Engineers in Charleston have begun their survey. The postoffice is seriously damaged. The Custom House records is injured. The Club house on Meeting Street will be pulled down.

Prof. McGee, before leaving Charleston, wrote a letter saying that the danger is most probably over. He adds that in case of shock, however severe, those in doors should remain there till the disturbance is over.

A Trust Company is organizing in New York and other cities for the purpose of loaning money to rebuild Charleston at three per cent.

The people of Baltimore have subscribed $15,000 to the earthquake fund, and will increase the amount to $25,000. The total fund subscribed from all parts of the United States up to Wednesday reached $110,737.67.

The News and Courier says: "The refugees are profuse in their acknowledgment of the many kindnesses that have been shown them by the people of Columbia."

There was falling off in the number of passengers from Charleston on Wednesday. The free pass system of the railroads has been abused. Hereafter greater care will be exercised in offering free transportation.

The city schools of Charleston are undergoing repairs, and such as are ready will open on the 10th October.

The clergymen of Charleston are discussing the question whether the earthquake was a "visitation of God's wrath for sin" or not.

The Rev. A. Toomer Porter has written a letter calling on the people to return to their houses and avoid exposure from sleeping in the open air. He calls on the strong to go to work and the feeble to leave the city for a fortnight.

The shock at Marion was very severe but caused not much damage.

Knightsville, a village three miles west of Summerville, was seriously injured, and the inhabitants are asking for aid.

Waterboro was severely shaken, and but few houses have escaped without injury. Several waterpots were seen about thirteen miles from the town, and on one place a well with about ten feet of water became dry and full of white sand.

On the Edisto River a gap was made a hundred and fifty feet long and half an inch wide.

Diminishing shocks of earthquake have been felt at various times all over the State.

Mr. B. O. Duncan, of Newberry, writes to the News and Courier that the work in Smyrna in 1881, when the island of Scio was destroyed, with a loss of fifteen thousand persons killed and wounded; and also at Naples in 1883 when two thousand persons perished from the earthquake on the Isle of Ichia. In each case, after shocks continued for some time, each diminishing in intensity.

City Assessor Kelly estimates the damage in Charleston at $6,000,000.

Prof. McGee denies that there is any connection between the earthquakes in Greece and in the United States.

The Southern Telegraph Company did noble work during the recent excitement. Manager Harris sent out the first news of the Charleston disaster.

The Lord Mayor of London has opened a relief fund for Charleston.

South Battery, the Mall, Marion Square and other open places in Charleston present a picturesque appearance with encampments. Rations are issued to 6,000 people a day.

Dumb animals appear to have been as much frightened as their masters.

The Charleston Sailors' Home is in ruins. The Mariners' Chapel is badly injured.

It is believed now that the spires of St. Philip's and St. Michael's will be saved. The damage to St. Paul's is estimated at from eight thousand to twelve thousand dollars.

Disasters are reported over the whole of the upper part of Berkeley county.

Most of the houses at Ridgeville are said to be uninhabitable. In a radius of fifteen miles, including the ridge between the Ashley and Edisto Rivers, the damage is said to be little less than in Summerville.

The old colonial residences in St. Andrew's were badly damaged. St. Andrew's Church is badly shattered.

The earthquake destroyed the curious ly warped marble slab in the cemetery of the old Circular Church.

On Tuesday afternoon a portion of the Savannah and Charleston Railroad, named Adams' Run, was discovered to have sunk about eight feet. The depression in the earth was fifteen feet long by six wide. The road is carefully patrolled.

the day a notable one after the gloom and terror of the week.

A reporter of the News and Courier yesterday visited most of the large business houses on the Bay and inquired as to their readiness for business and judgment of the season's prospects.

The usual weekly bill of mortality shows a total of ninety-eight deaths in the city for the week ending September 4. Of these twenty-five were white and sixty-eight colored.

The weather yesterday was exactly of the character that was most to be expected and dreaded. The forecasting clouds on Wednesday night were blown away yesterday.

THE QUINTESSENCE OF MEANNESS.

Furniture carts and express wagons are in great demand, and the prices of a load have risen from 25 cents to from $1.50 to $2.00.

A colored man named Henry Lessee, who owns what is known as a furniture cart, found that his customers would not submit to a charge of $2 a load, so he reduced his price to $1.

Only three deaths have been recorded at the office of the health department since Tuesday last, one white child and two colored children.

A colored man, whose name could not be learned, was crushed by a falling wall in Coming opposite Montague street, yesterday.

The people are also strongly cautioned not to kindle fires in their chimneys until they have been thoroughly examined for cracks and other defects.

the following lines were composed since the earthquake by a colored convict working in the penitentiary brick yard:

Judgement must be comin', The earth is on a shaker; All the boys are screamin', And to their beds do take.

The lens begin to muckle, And here a mighty yuck; The convict shakes his shackles, And den says pray I mus'.

De cart hab got de ager, An' try to shake it off; Den all 'nake de fever, And I'll git in de loft.

Gwine to be awful hot, When dis big world git sick; All de lung faces be deert as any brick, Be'er an' am' cabin' somewhar.

I know dis for a fact, I'll git ober in my armchair, And peep through yonder crack, Is lookin' ober yonder.

DRICA-BRAC.

A difficult mission—Submission. Well connected—A train of cars. A smart boy—Just after a whipping.

An open question—Come down and let me in. They are all "head clerks" in the barber's shop.

Nickel-plated watch—Dog with a new collar. Better an empty head than one with a cold in it.

An interesting liquor case—A box of champagne. If the fire bell rings a false alarm can it be called a libel?

A dentist says that false teeth are getting as numerous as false hearts. Every pound of fly which can possibly be saved ought to be cut.

The cat's antipathy for mice probably accounts for woman's love for cats. Money doesn't make the man; and it isn't every man who makes the money either.

The Ohio man who sold his wife for five cents positively declines to throw in a chromo. Bodies are cremated for three dollars, which includes an urn, in Paris. In Milan the cost is only $1.40, it is stated.

A fortune in a name. In Kentucky a man named Breckenridge or Clay can get a ten cent drink of whiskey for a nickel. If a man's religion is pretentious on Sunday and obscure on week-days you better do business with him on a cash basis.

Every person has two educations—one which he receives from others, and one, more important, which he gives himself. "Kiss the baby while you can," warbles a poet. Thanks, we will wait till she is sixteen and risk our chances.

A man who has nothing to do generally telephones to busy people to see if they will go on an errand for him. Chronic grumblers are like flies in butter; they do not ruin what they mix with, but they spoil the symmetry of the scene.

"It's a very solemn thing to be married," said Aunt Bessie. "Yes, but it's a great deal more solemn not to be," said her niece. One way to make picnic sandwiches is to put a slice of raspberry pie between a prelate log and a pair of lemon colored trousers. It is not a good way, however.

A Sioux chief is learning to ride the bicycle, and the final extermination of the aboriginal race is now only a question of time. The most thoughtful man living is the one who immediately stopped dying when reminded that his life insurance policy had expired.

An Ohio clergyman the other day made his congregation smile by saying that cremation has become a burning question in the church. Mexican sugar planters offer $25 a head for Chinese laborers. Why, at that rate it will pay to stop boycotting and go to kidnapping them.

If idleness succeeds in teaching a man that he will die like a beast, it will at the same time succeed in teaching him how to live like one. The single effort by which we stop short in our downward path to perdition is itself a greater exertion of virtue than a hundred acts of justice.

"Why was Washington like a newspaper man?" The Norristown Herald has solved the conundrum. Answer: "Because he couldn't tell a lie." One hour lost in the morning will put back the business of the day; an hour gained by rising early, will make one month in the year.

A well-known gentleman, speaking of another very conscientious citizen, said that "he was so afraid that he would do wrong that he did not dare to do right." "Haste makes waste," says the proverb; but the man who buttons his waistcoat over a "gay window" will tell you that haste makes nothing in making his waist.

"Bless me," said he, looking at the clock, "it's after eleven. How the time flies! I had no idea it was so late." "It's better late than never," she said, hiding a yawn. A barber reduced the price of a shave from ten to eight cents, which action was followed by another, who further agreed to shave a man without talking to him.

The South Americans put up sausages in bark. Concerning this no comment is necessary, only to say that the South Americans desire to preserve every phase of the dog. Along with other things there appears to be an epidemic of suicides. In New York, on Friday, there were seven, and in nearly every part of the country we hear of them.

The largest clock ever known is that in the cathedral at Strasburg. It is one hundred feet long, thirty feet wide, and fourteen feet deep, and has been in use for three hundred years. "Pa," asked a little boy, "when a politician goes into office does he have to take an oath?" "Yes," and when he goes out of office does he take an oath?" "Yes; but there is nothing compulsory about it."

A female preacher is said to be writing a "Commentary on the Life of Joshua." It is reported that she will observe that Joshua was successful with the sun, but he never commanded the daughter to be still. It is not the man who talks loudest who is most to be depended upon in an emergency. A silver dollar makes a great deal more noise than a five dollar bill when it is dropped into the contribution box.

"She puts on a great many airs, does she not?" said Mildred, while discussing an acquaintance. "Airs?" replied Amy. "That doesn't begin to express it. She just piles cyclones on the tops of hurricanes." The hardest thing in this world to please is a woman. Mr. Young, of Minnesota, locked his wife into the house; Mr. Potts, of Wisconsin, locked his wife out of the house. Now both women have sued for divorce.

According to the author of "How To Be Happy Though Married," it was a Chicago young lady who, on being asked the usual question in which she reads "Love, honor and obey" occur, made the straightforward reply: "Yes, I will, if he does what he promises me financially."

A special from Washington says that Secretary Bayard accepts the decree promulgated by the Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mariscal, in regard to the arrest and treatment of foreigners, as a complete vindication of the position taken by him in the Cutting affair.

The farmers of the South are beginning to reap the reward of mortgaging their lands to Northern capitalists for borrowed money, especially those who wish to sell. Purchasers know that very soon the land will be sold under foreclosure of mortgages, and that they can then buy them at "a mere song."

Rev. W. H. Harrison, of Atlanta, predicted an earthquake, based on a scientific calculation, on the South Atlantic coast during the month of August, 1886. This prediction was made in a letter written four or five years ago. It also predicted that at no distant date after the present shake up of the city of San Francisco would be totally destroyed by an earthquake.

Good for the Child. The ailments of childhood need careful attention and wise treatment. Some people think "anything is good enough for a child, and there isn't much the matter with it anyhow." Not only shortens the time of labor, but lessens the intensity of pain, but, it greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition highly favorable to speedy recovery, and far less liable to flooding, or other alarming symptoms, than is the case with other remedies. Its truly wonderful efficacy in this respect entitles it to be called "THE MOTHER'S FRIEND" and to be ranked as one of the life-saving remedies of the nineteenth century. From the nature of the case it will of course be understood that we cannot publish certificates concerning this REMEDY without wounding the feelings of the writers. Yet we have hundreds of such testimonials on file, and no mother who has once used it will ever again be without it in her time of trouble. A prominent physician lately remarked on the propriety of sending for the "MOTHER'S FRIEND" to be sent for the letters we receive, the "MOTHER'S FRIEND" would outsell anything on the market. GENTLEMEN—During my career in the practice of medicine I used your "MOTHER'S FRIEND" in a great number of cases, with the happiest results in every instance. It makes labor easy, hastens delivery and recovery, and INSURES SAFETY TO BOTH MOTHER AND CHILD. No woman can be induced to go through the ordeal without it after once using it. Yours truly, T. E.
