PROOF COINS.

They Are Always Struck From New and Specially Prepared Dies.

Proof coins have been struck at the Philadelphia mint for many years, but at no other mint, to be sold to collectors. A premium of about 10 per cent is charged when a lot includes coins of all denominations. For minor proof coins, however, when ordered separately, a little more than double the face value is charged.

The coins are struck from new and specially prepared dies on planchets previously burnished, a hand press instead of the regular steam press being used. When there is a smooth finish around the raised portion of a coin the burnishing gives the surface a lasting brilliancy that is very attractive.

Our silver coins have such a field, but the gold coins, particularly the $5 and $20 pieces, and the minor coins no longer present this desirable feature. In fact, outside of the lines being a little finer, proofs of these coins differ little in appearance from pieces struck for regular circulation.

The incised inscriptions on the gold coins do not harmonize with the field as did the old raised inscriptions, while on the minor coins the field is not smooth, and the nickel has really no field, an excess of lettering disfiguring what is not monopolized by the Indian head and the buffalo. The $20 and $10 pieces present artistic designs, but proofs of these coins are far from being as attractive as were those of the old designs.—Pittsburgh Press.

A LEDGE AND A MINE.

How a Learned Lawyer Was Taught to Distinguish Between Them.

Let not distinguished counsel from any eastern or western bar plume themselves upon their fancied superiority to their frontier brethren. The litigation which attends upon rich mineral discoveries often tempts the keenest intellects to the forums of the frontier, and an imported counsel is, in his ignorance of local customs and local nomenclature, liable to make a bad break.

A distinguished New England lawyer who was imported by a Boston capitalist to take charge of a big mining suit delivered himself of a lengthy philippic against a witness who had testified that a mine was in a certain locality and who a year before had testified that it was in another locality a quarter of a mile distant. "Did he lie then, or is he lying now?" said the imported lawyer.

"The learned counsel from afar," answered his opponent, "is an apt illustration of the proverb that a little learning—and in his case such a little—learning is a dangerous thing. He confuses a mine with a ledge. He confuses a ledge with a ledge, of course, but he changes, but the locality of a mine, which is the work upon a ledge, may be, as in this case, placed at one point today and in six months may be at another point a quarter of a mile or more away."—Case and Comment.

A Fine Viewpoint.

Sherman, Wyo., so named in honor of General W. T. Sherman, is the highest point on the Laramie range reached by the Union Pacific railroad. It is claimed that from this point on a clear day may be seen Pike's peak, about 165 miles to the south, and Elk mountain, 100 miles to the west. From many points in the vicinity of Buford good views may be obtained of the high peaks of the Rocky mountains far away to the south and of the relatively low but rugged Sherman mountains, a part of the Laramie range, to the right. Two prominent points seen to the north are called Twin mountains and are celebrated as one of the strongholds of the notorious desperado Slade. Slade during his checkered career fought both for and against law and order, and his career is set forth in Mark Twain's "Roughing It."—Geological Survey Bulletin.

In the Gym.

"So you have a gymnasium in your new house?" "Yes," replied Duane Stax. "I spend an hour or two there every day. I have swung up a hammock, and it's a nice place to take a nap in."—Washington Star.

DADDY LONGLEGS.

He is Harmless, He Doesn't Bite, and He Isn't a Spider.

Don't call a daddy longlegs a spider, because he isn't. Spiders bite and have poison glands. This insect is perfectly harmless. It isn't just pleasant to have one of them crawl up your arm or down your neck, but you're just as safe as when he isn't there—ten times safer than the insect is just at that moment. He's not only harmless, but so common that you'll find him almost any place in the world where it's warm enough for him to exist.

In good old American language we call him daddy longlegs. Maybe you've heard him called harvest man or grandfather graybeard. He has eight long legs bowed in the middle, so that when he's standing up his little round body almost touches the ground where he walks. He also has two eyes and two pinners, which you will see if you examine him closely.

From midsummer to late autumn daddy longlegs scampers about over rocks, tree trunks, gets in the picnic marmalade in the park, crawls up the fisherman's neck along the stream, collects in barns and has a general good time. Few of them survive the winter.

In Mammoth cave, Kentucky, the daddy longlegs are blind.—Philadelphia North American.

LEMBERG RICH IN NAMES.

It Has Had Twenty-seven Different Ones In Its Career.

Many cities are known by more than one name, but it is given to few to rejoice in more than half a dozen distinctive cognomens. But the historic Galician city of Lemberg has been known at one time or another by more than twenty-seven different appellations.

According to the Polish Bulletin, the ancient Ruthenian names for Lwow were Lwow, Lwiv, Lwihrad, Lwihrod, Lwiv; the Germans called it Lemberg, Lemberg, Lemberg, Lemberg; the Latin and pseudo Latin names include Leburga, Lamburga, Leontopolis, Leone, Livira, Leopolda; in the thirteenth century it was known to the Greeks as Lithon and Lfrodia.

The patriarchs of Constantinople, Alexandria and Jerusalem referred to it as Leovios and Leonopolis; the Turks call it in their books Ill, Ilib, Ilibot, Ilibow, Ilibad; the Armenians gave to it the name of Ilof; the Russians have lately baptized it Lwow.

The real name of the city, it is asserted, is the Polish one of Lwow, which literally translated means Lion City.

Why Boiled Water Freezes Easily.
Water which is hot, of course, cannot freeze until it has parted with its heat, but water that has been boiled with other things being equal, freezes sooner than water which has not been boiled. A slight disturbance of water disposes it to freeze more rapidly, and this is the cause which accelerates the freezing of boiled water. The water that has been boiled has lost the air naturally contained in it, which on exposure to the atmosphere it begins again to attract and absorb. During this process of absorption a motion is necessarily produced among its particles, slight certainly and imperceptible, yet probably sufficient to accelerate its congelation. In unboiled water this disturbance does not exist. Indeed, water when kept perfectly still can be reduced several degrees below the freezing point without its becoming ice.

Recommended For Croup.

W. C. Allen, Bosely, Mo., says: "I have raised a family of four children, and I used Foley's Honey and Tar with all of them. I find it the best cough and croup medicine I ever used. ## THE FATA MORGANA.

Conditions That Must Obtain to Allow of Its Production.

The fata morgana is a singular aerial phenomenon akin to the mirage. It is seen in many parts of the world, but most frequently and in greatest perfection at the strait of Messina, between Sicily and Italy. So many conditions must coincide, however, that even there it is of comparatively rare occurrence.

To allow of its production the sun must be at an angle of forty-five degrees with the water, but sky and sea must be calm and the tidal current sufficiently strong to cause the water in the center to rise higher than on the edges of the strait. When these conditions are fully met the observer on the heights of Calabria, looking toward Messina, will behold a series of rapidly changing pictures sometimes of most exquisite beauty.

Castles, colonnades, successions of beautiful arches, palaces, cities, with houses and streets and church domes; mountains, forests, grottoes, will appear and vanish, to be succeeded perhaps by fleets of ships, sometimes placid sailing over the deep, sometimes inverted, while a halo like a rainbow surrounds every image.

It is supposed that the images are due to the irregular refractive powers of the different layers of air above the sea, which magnify, repeat and distort the objects on the Sicilian shore beyond, but to the Italians these singular appearances are the castles of the Princess Morgana, and the view of them is supposed to bring good fortune to the beholder.

A MADAGASCAR BANQUET.

Where the Riot of Food Vied With the Riot of Tumult.

The longest and noisiest dinner that James Sibree, Jr., the author of "A Naturalist in Madagascar," ever attended was given by the governor of a town called Ankaram. About a score of officers were at the table and seven ladies. After a long grace by the pastor, dinner was brought in and consisted of the following courses:

First, curry; second, goose; third, pigeons and waterfowl; fourth, chicken cutlets and poached eggs; fifth, beef sausages; sixth, boiled tongue; seventh, salmon; eighth, pig's trotters; ninth, fried bananas; tenth, punicaes; eleventh, manioc; twelfth, dried bananas; and lastly, says Mr. Sibree, when I thought everything must have been served, came hunches of roast beef.

There was a big drum just outside on the veranda, as well as two small ones, besides clarinets and fiddles, and these were in full play almost all the time. Then the room was filled by a crowd of servants and aides-camp, and the shouting of every one, from the governor down, was deafening. The old gentleman directed everything and every one. I was glad when I could take my leave, after two hours' sitting, but I was not to leave quietly. The governor took me by the hand and escorted me home, while the big drum was hammered at ahead of us all the way.—Youth's Companion.

Difficulties of Astronomy.

"Is it hard to learn the use of a telescope?" asked the student. "No," replied the candid professor. "The hardest thing about astronomy is in guessing what something is after you manage to see it."

War Upon Pain.

Pain is a visitor to every home and usually it comes quite unexpectedly. But you are prepared for every emergency if you keep a small bottle of Sloan's Liniment handy. It is the greatest pain killer ever discovered. Simply laid on the skin no rubbing required—it drives the pain away. It is really wonderful.

Mervin H. Soister, Berkeley, Cal., writes: "Last Saturday, after tramping around the Panama Exposition with wet feet, I came home with my neck so stiff that I couldn't turn. I applied Sloan's Liniment freely and went to bed. To my surprise, next morning the stiffness had almost disappeared. Four hours after the second application I was as good as new."—March, 1915. ## Help Your Liver—It Pays.

When your liver gets torpid and your stomach acts queer, take Dr. King's New Life Pills and you will find your feeling better. They purify the blood, give you freedom from constipation, biliousness, dizziness and indigestion. You feel fine—just like you want to feel. Clear the complexion too. 25c at druggists—Adv.

Flowers Bloom on Icebergs.

Arctic explorers often report the discovery of flowers blooming on icebergs. The explanation of this is as follows: It appears that some animals carry on their feet a growth of moss, which is deposited on the ice while it is attached to the mainland in polar regions. In time this decays and forms a shallow soil in which the seed of buttercups and dandelions often find a lodging, borne by currents of wind that doubtless caught them up in some southern clime. These take root and bloom when the great gleaming icebergs float out to sea and are carried southward, where the soft winds melt the surface and give the plants the moisture they need.

Observe The Warning.

A cold that promises to "hang on all winter" is to be dreaded. Prompt action should be taken at the first warning of a cold—sneezing, chilliness, slight shivering. Foley's Honey and Tar makes quick work of coughs, colds and croup. It clears air passages, stops coughing, eases difficult breathing. Dicksons Drug Store.—Adv.

Correct the Habit Habit.

The safest way to bring on premature old age is to get into a rut. On the other hand, the surest way to avert old age is to get out of the rut. If you desire to keep young, do not make your habits hard and fast, or your arteries will likewise become so. Govern your habits; do not let them rule you. Just to show them that they do not, order them to break ranks from time to time.—Brain and Brawn.

Government Kept Going.

"I notice that the old man's quit crissin' the government?" "Yes; after tryin' it for 30 year the government kept a-goin', 'jee' like I never heard tell of him—never so much as askin' him to please let up an' give it a chance to grow up with the country. That made him so mad he was too full for utterance, he was struck speechless!"

Annual Slaughter of Elephants.

Africa is the chief source of the world's supply of ivory, and it is estimated that 70,000 elephants are annually slaughtered for their tusks. But not more than 20 per cent of this ivory is represented in the total imports to Europe.

On Wearing Goggles.

Safety Engineering has this to say about the wearing of goggles by industrial workers: In order to reduce injuries to the eyes of industrial workers, two requirements are of primary importance—to provide the goggles which meet the needs of the operator, and insistence that the goggles be worn at all times when in the danger zone. The fact should not be overlooked that not only must the lenses be best suited to meet the conditions of work, but the goggles must not occasion discomfort. If the goggles causes discomfort to the wearer he is apt to remove it, and many eyes have been injured and lost from this cause. An entirely satisfactory goggles will seldom be removed by the wearer who appreciates that an eye can never be replaced.

Coughs and Colds are Dangerous.

Few of us realize the danger of Coughs and Colds. We consider them common and harmless ailments. However, statistics tell us every third person dies of a lung ailment. Dangerous Bronchial and Lung diseases follow a neglected cold. As your body struggles against cold germs, no better aid can be had than Dr. King's New Discovery. Its merit has been tested by old and young. In use over 45 years. Get a bottle today. Avoid the risk of serious Lung ailments. Druggists—Adv.

What is a Camper?

The world now knows the answer to the momentous question, What is a camper? The United States public health service gives the information in these few simple words: "Campers are persons who, of their own volition or through the enticement of others, revert to primitive modes of existence and ostensibly obtain enjoyment therefrom. Both place and persons then favor the development of irregularities, encourage more or less irresponsibility and lead to immediate wildness. In this there is no harm and often much good. However, one thing should not be forgotten—the arrangements. Allow the 'animals' to break loose once more for the seasonal enjoyment, but by all means have the camp sanitary, so that in their wildness they will do no harm." Add to this the ability to balance a dough god on the left knee, hold a cup of coffee in the right hand and brush a black fly off the right ear with the left hand, and you have the complete camper.—Outing.

Not Guilty. Marcus Pickney had been arrested through the activities of his 200 pound Scotch wife, and the pair were facing the judge.

It seemed that Pickney was a shiftless, ne'er-do-well, lazy man, with a strong disinclination to honest toil. Moreover, he was in the habit of coming home "corned" and beating his thrifty better half. It was on the occasion of the last of these episodes that she had brought about his arrest.

After patiently hearing testimony the judge said: "Mrs. Pickney, it seems to me that this is a case where prosecution is possible for nonsupport."

"Oh, your honor," wailed the excited woman, "they can't bring that up as in me! I've took in washin' and giv' him what you might say was fine livin' ever since we was married. No; he can't accuse me of that, judge."—Case and Comment.

The Fame of Newburyport.

I asked the old negro porter at the inn at Newburyport what the town was principally noted for, and he answered its purity and the landing here of the Siamese twins. He added that they were both dead, and I do not know whether he referred to the two attractions, purity and the Siamese, or simply to the twins.

I was shocked that he did not speak of Washington and Lafayette, who had slept in a neighboring mansion, but notable by the fact that they were not fresh by nature. He held in small esteem. Even the hotel clerk was rather blasé about these distinguished guests, opining that the two gentlemen, if one could judge by tablets all over the country, slept more than any other men in history.—Louise Closser Hale in Century Magazine.

Not What He Expected.

This story is told by an English naval officer who witnessed the occurrence at Manila: "As I was crossing one of the numerous bridges across the Pasig river I saw a native Filipino and then for protection to the American sentinel, who was pacing the bridge. It was some time before the Filipino could make himself understood. When the sentry comprehended his action he was very prompt indeed. He handed his gun to the Spanish officer, caught the native by the nape of his neck and the seat of his trousers and pitched him off the bridge into the Pasig river. Then he calmly took his gun from the officer and began pacing his beat as if nothing had happened."

Killed By Stomping Elephant.

A stampeding elephant trampled and killed three persons as they were following a Brahmin marriage procession through the streets of Badahra Bengal. The procession, headed by the usual band of musicians, had arrived at the bride's house when one of the elephants became furious. The guests in the howdah leaped to the ground, where the bridegroom's father, a priest, and another guest, were trampled to death under the elephant's feet. Four other persons were injured. The elephant was shot on the following day by a police sergeant, and the wedding was postponed.
