

The Manning Times.

JANUARY 17, 1894. LOUIS APPELT. APRIL 21, 1915. MANNING, S. C., AUG. 9, 1916. PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY. I. I. APPELT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

The delightful summer tan is desirable provided it does not extend to your nose.

Suffering in silence is commendable, but it is a dingy hard job to pull off.

If dye stuffs are so scarce, whence came the coloring agents for all of those illuminating stories from the border.

A Boston professor has predicted an alliance between England and Germany. A nd strange to say, he still survives.

Mr. Hughes assures us that we are living in a fateful hour. Correct, but it is even better to live than to die.

A Kansas town has passed a law against frogs croaking at night, says the Chicago Evening Post. Prohibition again.

About every fifth day some enthusiast arises and declares a lasting European peace—in the newspapers—and the next day "hell breaks loose again."

That fellow that dropped in the other day from the north pole can probably give us an accurate description of the fires of hell.

Chicago has produced a gospel automobile, but the meek and gentle voiced occupants wisely keep on the shady side of the street.

No, sister, marriage is never a failure. It only slips a few cogs and smashes the rest and then forgets to hunt the repair man.

United States prestige is said to be growing abroad, according to a Washington dispatch. No mention is made, however, of our standing with our dear friends across the Rio Grande.

Europe has reached the point in the war where it refuses to count the cost, is the latest from over yonder. Possibly on the theory that it is easier to forget to count than it is to pay.

General Funston declares he will expel every lying correspondent from proximity to his army. And then, forsooth, the lies will come thicker and faster than ever. Up to date journal, 'yisn, know.

It is said that thirty thousand manufacturing plants in America are slated for turning out munitions of war. Here's hoping for one that insofar as the United States is concerned they never have occasion to turn a wheel.

The Germans want peace because they think they have won the war, and the allies refused to accept it because they are sure they will win the war. Therefore, on with the carnival blood.

When the war in Europe is over there will be one great scramble by the nations at strife in an effort to regain the commerce of the world which they have lost to the United States while engaged in the doubtful pastime of slitting each other's throats. Desperate measures will be devised by the shrewdest minds of the old world in their campaign for commercial self preservation, and to meet this united onslaught the financiers and manufacturers and other powers of the business interests of our own country should be even now entrenching themselves and building a bulwark of protection which even time itself will find indestructible.

WHAT DO WE GET? According to a press dispatch from Washington congress, the State government, counties and townships will spend $250,000,000 a year for the next five years on the improvement and maintenance of the roads of the country.

That statement in itself is of absorbing interest to every citizen of these United States. But a question of still more vital interest to us locally and personally is, "How much do we get?"

The people of our community of course can decide what we ourselves are to expend in good roads, but when it comes to the expenditure by the federal and State governments we are much of the opinion that the early bird will get the biggest worm. In other and plainer words, the federal government allots a certain amount of money to each State for improving its roads. Then comes the question of where and how that money is to be spent.

We do not know just what policy will be pursued in this State but we do know that it will be clearly to our interest to get out in force and hustle for a good slice of this amount for road improvement in our own territory. The Lord knows we need road improvement, but He will not aid us in the getting if we are not alive to our own opportunities.

Everybody hereabouts wants good roads and is quite willing to profit personally from their construction. But how many, think you, are willing to devote the necessary time and energy to securing the allotment to which we are entitled? How much do we get. Or, better still, do we get anything?

HEADWORK IN THE SHADE. When the scorching sun of summer days sends us scampering for the shade we think only of the comfort that is to greet us when we reach the goal.

Our brains relax, our minds become drowsy, and the hours pass into history without anything of value being accomplished. And that is where we fail to grasp one of our golden opportunities—where opportunity passes us by without a beckoning hand from us.

We reach the shade and it feels good, and our thoughts refuse to wander into other and more profitable fields. We are killing time, and time once dead is never revived.

The relaxation we need and should have, but the hours spent in the shade might be turned to good advantage by devoting at least a portion of the time to the working out of some of the many complex problems of business that present themselves in the journey of life.

When we are at work our minds should be centered wholly upon that work if it is to be successfully accomplished. There is no room for other thought or action. But while in the shade in the summer time there is abundant opportunity for devising ways and means of putting the coming hours to more profitable use.

He who wastes his time squanders the greatest substance of life, but the man who devotes his idle moments to planning for the busy ones to come is like us to the honey bee that hoards his sustenance against the day when there is none to be found. Hunt the shade on the scorching days, but think while you rest. The results will more than compensate for the effort.

TEN DOLLARS FOR ONE. If your neighbor offered you a ten dollar bill for a dollar, and you knew it to be perfectly good money, you break all sorts of speed records to grab it. So would we.

In the subscription price of this paper we are offering you just that—ten dollars for one. For every dollar you spend for this paper you are receiving at least ten dollars worth of valuable information. In many cases the information it sends out to you is worth vastly more to you. Keep this fact in mind, and if you happen to owe us a dollar or two just remember that we have earned it ten times over—and we ought to have it without the asking.

Doesn't this appeal to you as being just about the truth. Lax-Fos, A Mild, Effective Laxative & Liver Tonic Does Not Grip or Disturb the Stomach. In addition to other properties, Lax-Fos contains Cascara in acceptable form, stimulating Laxative and Tonic. Lax-Fos acts effectively and does not grip or disturb stomach. At the same time, it aids digestion, arouses the liver and secretions and restores the healthy functions. 50c.

INGENUITY OF MAN SET IN ITS INFANCY Several years ago a cumbersome contrivance on two wheels made its appearance and created a furor of ridicule, laughter and jeers. It was the bicycle. It was called a rich man's toy and a molyoddie's plaything and a short life was predicted. But the prophets were at fault, the bicycle became the greatest craze of its day, and now is in general use as a practical necessity for people who find it necessary to cover ground hurriedly and yet can not afford the more expensive means.

A few years later another ugly looking monster puffed and snorted and rattled its way into public notice, leaving in its wake a streak of smoke and foul smelling odors. It was the automobile, and it, too, was greeted with wild shouts and grimaces of ridicule. The wise and the unwise both predicted its failure as a practical vehicle of motive power. Yet the millions in use today testify to the farsightedness of the greatest of our prophets.

A few weeks ago there appeared in one of our Atlantic ports a great and powerful merchant submarine. It came from Germany and had nosed its way beneath the surface into neutral waters despite the watchfulness of the warships of the allies. Another furor was created and the newspapers were filled with accounts of the wonderful craft that had made its way across the Atlantic with a cargo of goods. Again the prophets see failure ahead, but there are those who believe the Deutschland to be but the harbinger of a great fleet of underwater craft capable of conducting commercial relations with other countries irrespective of blockades or enemy ships of war.

These few instances but illustrate the fact that the ingenuity of man is yet in its infancy. that the surface of scientific discovery is scarcely being scratched, and to our children and our children's children will look back upon 1916 as we think of the Dark Ages, when the mind of man was sleeping in its cradle of lethargy.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN. W. Banks Dove, candidate for Secretary of State, opened the speaking. Mr. Dove told of his eight years as chief clerk to the Secretary of State, and of his early life as school teacher and as teacher in the night mill schools of Columbia. George W. Wightman, for the same office, told of his record in the Senate in opposition to the compulsory education, child labor and other bills.

S. T. Carter, for re-election as State Treasurer, said he was proud of his record in the treasurer's office, and said everyone was satisfied with it except his opponent. He said when making affidavits on which he got free tuition for his daughters at Winthrop he was not connected with a banking institution and had just lost his house by fire. His vote on the refunding bond issue was a vote for the best business interest of the State. D. W. McLaurin, for the same office, advocated the placing of all old soldiers of the Confederacy and their widows on the roll of honor by pensioning all of them. He asked the people to support legislative candidates who are in favor of this measure. He attacked Mr. Carter for sending his daughters to Winthrop on free tuition, saying he is president of a bank in addition to being State treasurer. He also attacked Mr. Carter for his vote on the bond refunding matter.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER. The candidates for railroad commissioner came next. G. McDuffie Hampton, for re-election, told of the physical inspection of the railroads and of his resolution which caused the replacing of modern trestles with concrete and steel structures, and of his record. W. H. Kelly favored more railroads and told of how they build up the country. W. T. Throver said he is the only candidate for railroad commissioner east of Columbia. He told of Charleston building the first railroad and advocates readjustment of rates which will make Charleston again the gateway of the South, saying he already sees signs of Charleston again becoming the gateway of the Mississippi Valley to all South America. "I'm lame in the leg, but my opponents are lame in the head," said James Casler, keeping the crowd laughing with hits at his opponents. Albert S. Fant came with the endorsement of his county convention, Anderson. He says he is the youngest man that has ever offered for railroad commissioner. E. C. L. Adams, for Lieutenant Governor, said he stands for the betterment of all educational institutions and for the enforcement of all laws, and for road improvement. He ridiculed Mr. Bethea's trip to Europe with Henry Ford. Lieutenant Governor A. J. Bethea, for re-election, said he considered it a privilege to have visited the warring countries of Europe, for he said it enlarged his vision and taught him some lessons which he wanted to tell the people, among such being diversified and intensified farming as carried on over the seas.

COOPER SPEAKS. R. A. Cooper said he had entered the race for governor without getting permission from any man or set of men. He said he would be governor of all the people if elected, and his statement that "any man who goes into office to punish his enemies or reward his friends is unfit for the public service" brought a round of applause. In stressing the importance of enforcing the law, Mr. Cooper said, if elected, he would respect the verdicts of juries. Showing that 90 per cent of the white children got no further than the common school, Mr. Cooper advocated the building up of the neighborhood schools to a high standard, equal to the first two years of college work. Mr. Cooper favors the doing away with scholarship and free tuition in State colleges and proposes to loan needy students the necessary money to pay their way through college, and they are to repay the loan after they get into their life's work. He said this would remove the discrimination against the church colleges, saying they are entitled to a square deal. He called on the people to forget past differences and to join hands in putting South Carolina in the front ranks of the sisterhood of States. Mr. Cooper was given a general generous round of applause and cheers when he finished.

DESCHAMPS J. M. DesChamps was on his native heath today and he told his home people how proud he is of them and Clarendon county. He gave some reminiscences of his boyhood days in old Fulton township, of this county. Mr. DesChamps praised the handsome Clarendon county court house. He lambasted so much politics and jumped on factionalism. Mr. DesChamps told of the number of things this State buys from the north and urged diversified and intensified farming. He was liberally applauded. John T. Duncan discussed the "system."

GOVERNOR MANNING. Governor Richard J. Manning was received with some applause. He said he is running for re-election on his record. Mr. Manning said law enforcement is the paramount issue of this campaign, as it was two years ago, saying some 1,500 pardons had been issued in the administration preceding his, and charged that blind tigers ran wide open then. He said the question today is whether there is to be a return to that condition or continue the policies he has put in to operation. He reviewed his Charleston policy and the raiding carried out there by the constables operating there under Sheriff Martin. He cited the reports of the solicitors of increased convictions in the last 18 months as evidence of his statement on law enforcement. The Governor said the blind tigers in Charleston hussed him and if he is re-elected they will have cause to hiss him again for he proposes to continue to make them obey the law, which statement drew applause. "I will make no compromise with crime," said the Governor. He reviewed the business side of his administration and the re-organization and remodeling of the State Hospital for the insane. He was presented with flowers and applauded.

FORMER GOVERNOR BLEASE. Former Governor Cole Blease was received with cheers. "I want to congratulate the town of Manning on furnishing such beautiful pallbearers for the present Governor's funeral," said Mr. Blease. He ridiculed the Manning parade at Sumter yesterday, saying it was participated in by women and children and 62 voter by actual count. He said when he got through speaking and left the stand at Sumter 4,000 of the crowd left with him and the chairman got up and said, "Don't go, there's some to be heard yet." Mr.

Bleese said the last Legislature was so ashamed of what they did that they haven't yet published their Acts. The speaker again held a hand primary of all those who "got that 15 cent cotton promised you by Ed Smith two years ago to hold up your hands." None went up, one saying "didn't get it." Mr. Blease scored the tax commission, saying: "The chairman of that fixes your taxes don't pay any but a $1 poll." He said the board of charities is useless. He said Mr. Manning while in the Senate voted against the separate coach bill and dubbed the $50,000 law enforcement fund "a campaign fund to hire men to run around South Carolina and electioneer for Manning." Mr. Blease said Mr. Manning violated the law when he increased the salary of Dr. Williams, the superintendent, and that Dr. Williams violated the law when he accepted it. Reading from a report of the speech made by Governor Manning before the Press Association at Chich Springs, in which the Governor told about this matter. Mr. Blease read the passage in which it said repayment will be left to the Legislature." He scored the pardoning record of the Governor. He said he could not be at Moreck's Corner to morrow because he had some months ago accepted an invitation to speak at Filbert in York county. He paid a tribute to the late Senator Louis Appelt of this county. He was accorded a round of applause when he concluded.

The meeting was held on the Court House lawn. S. Oliver O'Bryan, county chairman, presiding. About 1,200 people were present, it being impossible to tell who they favored, all being given good attention and applause.

I am a Candidate for County Supervisor, subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic primary. N. G. BROADWAY.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF CLARENDON COUNTY. I am a candidate for Supervisor. If you think I can fill the job, which is a big one if properly done, I want to thank you for your support. I will do my very best to serve you by using every means of economy possible, not to one cent I shall owe to the people. I will try to see that every dollar of the funds that is disbursed by the Supervisor is spent in a business way and to the best interest of the people, and will try to prevent needless accumulation of the State of Clarendon. If necessary, I will try to prevent needless accumulation of taxes, already so high, having to be increased. If elected I will be grateful to you, if not I will abide by the result of the primary and not complain. J. H. THIMMONS.

I HEREBY ANNOUNCE MYSELF A CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPERVISOR, for Clarendon County, subject to the rules and regulations governing the Democratic primary. I have for several years been Superintendent of the County Jail. During this time I have acquired practical experience in Road Building which I believe would be of great benefit to me, should you elect me. J. M. FLEMING.

SUBJECT TO THE RULES OF THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Coroner for Clarendon County. I am an ex-Confederate Soldier and believe that I can discharge the duties of Coroner with honor to myself and credit to the County. I. N. THOMAS.

IN OBEDIENCE TO THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE OF CLARENDON COUNTY I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Coroner, subject to the rules of the Democratic primary. JOHN P. THAMES.

SUBJECT TO THE RULES GOVERNING THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-election to the office of Coroner for Clarendon County. I have discharged the duties of Coroner up to the present time as an honest man and as the people think I am entitled to a second term and elect me I shall thank them; they elect some one else I shall bow to the will of the people. I thank you for making me your Coroner for one term and ask your support for an endorsement of my first term. I feel that I can discharge the duties of Coroner for another term better than I did the first. THEODORE V. GRAY.

I HEREBY ANNOUNCE MYSELF A CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF CORONER OF CLARENDON COUNTY, subject to the rules governing the Democratic primary. J. ALLEN SHORTER.

The Best Laxative. To keep the bowels regular the best laxative is outdoor exercise. Drink a full glass of water half an hour before breakfast and eat an abundance of fruit and vegetables, also establish a regular habit and be sure that your bowels move once each day. When a medicine is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Questions and Answers. A Cherrylavie historian has gone back through the files and produced this story: A woman with a rapid-fire interrogatory apparatus approached a news butcher on a Frisco train out of Cherrylavie during the high water a few days ago and asked excitedly: "Say, when is the train due at the next stop? How is it running? How deep is the water on the track? How do you sell your bananas?" The vender of fruit and literature, who was something of a poet, answered: "Nine o'clock. On time. Kneee deep. Three for a dime."—Kansas City Star.

In Boudoir Dress. It is related that a scene showing the interior of a racing stable was thrown out on the screen at a certain theater. Each horse was covered with a bright colored blanket. Little two-year-old Nan, who had never seen a stable before, exclaimed to her mother: "Oh, mamma, see the horses with their kimonos on!"

Liver Trouble. "I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dingman, Webster City, Iowa. "I have pains in my side and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used half a bottle of them, I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

In the Sleeping Room. Sleeping rooms should be cold. At least one window should be opened top and bottom all the time. The bed should be as far from the windows as possible, in a corner out of the direct draft. The same treatment applies to small children and babies as well as to their parents. The mother who can convince herself of this will get over it. She will discover that her baby, if properly clothed and with a blanket pinned around his crib to prevent a current of air, will sleep more quietly, learn to keep under his bed clothing and will not catch cold so easily. Of course this does not apply to ailing infants or those under six weeks of age.

Ouch! It was 3 a. m., and Mrs. Gabb was awakened by her daughter, who stood by the bed shivering in her nightgown. "Oh, mamma," whispered Miss Gabb, "I heard a funny noise and I can't sleep. I think there is a man in the house."

Mrs. Gabb glared at the other side of the bed, where Mr. Gabb was giving an imitation of a saw mill in full blast, and then she said: "Go to bed and go to sleep, daughter. The noise you heard was your father snoring. And you can rest assured that there is not a man in the house."

When You Have a Cold. Give it attention, avoid exposure, be regular and careful of your diet, also commence taking Dr. King's New Discovery at once. It contains Pine-Tar, Antiseptic Oils and Balsams. Is slightly laxative. Dr. King's New Discovery cures you, coughs, soothes your throat and breaks up colds, checks your cold, starts to clear your head. In a short time you know your cold is better. Its the standard family cough syrup in use over 40 years. Get a bottle at once. Keep it in the house as a cold insurance. Sold at your druggist.—Adv.

89c. SALE OF LADIES' SKIRTS AND WAISTS. Made up in the newest styles and material. New, Stylish, Nobby and Up-to-date. Why pay more? Only at GOLDSTEIN'S QUALITY STORE. Opposite Plowden Hardware Co. "GO IN FOR QUALITY."
