The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon, the 13th. The new president Mrs. Hoyt Watson, presided. She made a splendid talk on "Each individual doing her part," after which R. T. Fairley gave a short talk on "Cooperation." The old school building has been repainted on the inside and is quite comfortable and more inviting, and to meet the expenses of these improvements they are to have a "Chicken Bog" at the Latta Hotel at an early day, with all the accessories that go with such a supper. There was a fine attendance and much interest taken, and we believe that these meetings will be productive of much good, as the days come and go.

Mrs. T. M. Bethea and Mrs. C. W. Foxworth entertained the Pee Dee Chapter U. D. C. at the home of Mrs. Bethea on East Main Street Tuesday afternoon. Her new bungalow was made more lovely with cut flowers and ferns. The large and enthusiastic meeting was called to order by the new President Mrs. T. C. McGee. The subject was "Norfolk, Va." Mrs. W. Ellis Bethea read a paper describing Norfolk and vicinity, also the battle of Hampton Roads. Mrs. Crumpler read a paper on the Norfolk poet, Hope. Miss Lillian Bethea read a paper on Fort Monroe, where Jefferson Davis was in prison, and also a description of his stay and treatment while in prison. During a short business session it was decided that they would send a box to the Old Soldiers Home in Columbia Thanksgiving, each member taking some article for this box at our next meeting in November. At a late hour delicious refreshments consisting of ambrosia, Japanese fruit cake with coffee and whipped cream were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. E. A. Gaddy. The souvenirs—a beautiful bright flower for each guest.

It will be news to those who fancy nice horses to learn that E. R. Ellerbe has just returned from several fairs in North Carolina where he raced his horses, and sold his mare, "Virginia C. Forbes" to Mr. W. N. Reynolds, president of Reynolds Tobacco Co., for the sum of $2000.00, and a good saddle pony, also an excellent bird dog. The writer is an admirer of fine horses and had become well acquainted with this mare, and has often remarked to her owner that he had rather own her than any horse that he had ever seen. And while it looks like a big price, these hard times, yet she is worth every cent of it, not to plow, but to anyone who can keep a fine horse and likes to drive fast. One fine point in this mare, which makes her like our best citizens, is that she is honest, and not like some citizens, dishonest and deceitful—when you make a demand on her. She will give her driver all that she has, showing sense and speed. The writer is wondering how many boxes of Browns Mule tobacco and cases of Camel cigarettes Mr. Reynolds gave Mr. Ellerbe, besides the pony and bird dog and cash.

One week ago Dr. Kirkland gave his congregation notice that on next Sunday evening his subject would be "The Bible," and requested his people to bring their bibles along with them when they came, so at the evening hour on October 16th there were more than 80 bibles in the church when services began. Some of these books were more than one hundred years old, with many interesting histories brought out by those who own them. Among these books was the first bible put in the Latta Methodist church when it was organized. It was called to mind that the lady who was the prime mover in getting up the money for this bible also in the same way furnished the first church here at that time with hymn books, and she likes many of those owning these old relics, are now in the Great Beyond. There were many handed down to present owners along with diplomas from colleges, some given by loving mothers, who doubtless now are in heaven. There were a few Greek and Latin Bibles, several written in poetry and some made especially for ministers. The Masonic Bible was there, and a short speech made by the Master of the Lodge here showing what Masons think of the Grand Old Book. Dr. Kirkland read from the 119 Psalm, which it will be remembered was written by David, Israel's greatest king and poet, and contains 176 verses, each of which gives some word of praise for God's Word, showing what he thought of it, with the small bible that he used in his day, there being only a few books compared with its fullness of today. The services were unique indeed, but were enjoyed by a large congregation. At the end of the service Dr. Kirkland stated that he had about one dozen copies of Johns Epistle, which he would give away to any one who wished it, as long as they lasted, which could be read, after which a coupon leaf could be torn out and sent to a little publishing house near Boston, Mass., and the publisher would send the Book of Acts free. These books were soon eagerly taken mostly by children.

Mrs. Fred Williams entertained at a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon for Miss Eunice Allen, who is to be married to Rev. Waddy Sherwood, a missionary to Brazil. The hall and dining room were beautifully decorated in the color scheme of the Indian Summer. Mrs. John J. Allen met the guests at the door and Mrs. J. O. Bethea introduced them to the receiving line, which was composed of Mrs. Williams, Miss Eunice Allen, Mrs. Lawrence Dew and Miss Florence Allen sisters of the bride, and Mrs. W. B. Allen, mother of the bride. The guests were then invited to the hall where delicious punch was served by Miss Rosa Tilghman; then they were asked to register in the bride's book, a gift to the bride by the hostess. The guests were then asked to take part in "A Man" contest. Each were presented with a score card with a man head and a bag containing hearts. During the conversation, any guest hearing another say man, or any word containing man could present her a heart. Object being to get rid of the hearts. When this contest was over, Miss Martie Atkinson and Miss McLeod made shadow silhouettes of each guest. These were duly numbered and every one were asked to guess whose picture they were. Mrs. Everett Atkinson was the most successful and was given an Indian match holder. In the dining room the same color scheme with golden rod and yellow candles were carried out. The centerpiece was a miniature lake encircled in golden rods on which was an Indian brave and his beautiful maid in his birch canoe. White cake and yellow cream were served by young girls dressed as Indian maids, Edith Williams, Marjorie Dew, Elizabeth Tilghman, and Margaret Bethea. On leaving the dining room, each were given a white basket tied tied with yellow ribbon containing yellow mints. The guests were then invited to an Indian camp where each one drew a string from a wigwam and found her fortune attached. The bride found at the end of her string two little Indians, Fred Williams and Ellen Allen Dew, who piled her with numerous gifts. The many lovely gifts were accompanied by little verses which afforded much amusement.

December a penalty of 10 per cent. will be added. After January 1st, 1922 a penalty and execution will be added.

Your old car is all there. Every part is right where the manufacturer put it. If you have treated it well, the car is good for many seasons yet.

But it doesn't look like a new one. Of course not, for new cars are freshly painted and trimmed. Now, if your old car looked like a new one, would you want to hand it to somebody for half what it cost you?

Our Paint and Trim department was established to do the fine work demanded by our discriminating customers. We employ true experts, and give them every modern equipment. We have a reputation for doing re-finishing in a fashion that gives complete and lasting satisfaction.
