President Roosevelt's Message Is a Strong Plea For the Redemption of The Nation's Pledge

STRIKE GROWS

THE TIE UP MORE COMPLETE THAN YESTERDAY.

NEW MEXICO MINERS OUT

All Over the Coal Fields of Colorado the Strike is Effective.—In Wyoming and Utah the Strike Does Not Seem Effective.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 10.—The tie up in the Colorado coal fields in consequence of the strike order issued by John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is even more extensive than the reports anticipated or the Union leaders expected. In Las Animas county, the principal battle ground, the Union leaders assert that only one hundred out of eight thousand men now employed in the various mining camps are at work today. The operators, however, declare that they still have about a thousand men in the mines. In Huerfano county there are eighteen hundred miners and of these more than a thousand are already on a strike, and the Union labor leaders are confident that they can induce the remainder to stop work. In Fremont county practically all the eighteen hundred men are idle. In the northern fields fifteen hundred men are on a strike, and about four hundred are working in the small independent properties at which all the demands of the men have been conceded. In western Colorado about a thousand miners are yet working but the organizers are busy among them. The Union leaders of Trinidad say that eighty percent of the miners of New Mexico have gone out. In Wyoming and Utah the strike has not yet become effective. No violence or disorder has been reported anywhere in the coal regions.

DYNAMITE USED.

An Attempt Made to Blow Up the Machine House of the Victor Fuel Company.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 10.—A dispatch from Trinidad this afternoon says that an attempt was made early this morning at Hastings, at the camp of the Victor Fuel Company to blow up with dynamite the machine house. Only one corner of the house was injured, and it is thought the machinery is not damaged.

It is reported that the strikers are responsible for the use of the dynamite, and the strikers say that it is a ruse of the company to secure state troops at their camp. It was rumored on the streets here today that the superintendent of the mines at Hastings had been shot, but this could not be verified. The company claims that more men are going to work, but the strike leaders declare that this is not true.

SHE'S NOW A DUCHESS.

Her Husband is Also Marquis, Earl, Viscount and Baron.

New York, Nov. 10.—Miss May Goelet was united in marriage at 2:30 o'clock today, in the Protestant Episcopal church of St. Thomas, to Sir Henry John Innes Ker, Duke of Roxburghe, Marquis of Bowmont and Cessford, Earl of Roxburghe, Earl of Kelso, Viscount Broxmouth, Baron Roxburghe, and Baron Ker of Cessford and Cavertoun in Scotland, Earl Innes in the United Kingdom, and a Baronet of Nova Scotia.

The church edifice was guarded by fifty police officers, specially detailed to hold in check the immense crowd of spectators who began to gather as early as eight o'clock in the morning. As upon previous occasions when American heiresses have bestowed themselves upon titled foreigners, the ceremony was witnessed by that select and exclusive body known as "society." The wedding itself, however, was devoid of lavish display as the family of the bride is in mourning for Sir Michael Herbert, who was related by marriage to the Goelet family.

Following the ceremony at the church, for which about 300 invitations were issued, there was a reception at the home of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, the guests for the latter function being limited to 50 in number.

The first spectators at the church monopolized the entrances to the mansions adjoining, and their example was followed by later arrivals, who took advantage of the railings, doors and garden plots, and in some instances window sills were occupied by women. As the hour for the opening of the church approached many of the guests who were waiting in the vicinity in their carriages drove up to the entrances on Fifty-third street and Fifth avenue, and alighting got in line in a good natured way. The crowd at this time began to swell and the police, in charge of four precinct commanders, kept the spectators moving, none being permitted to loiter in front of the approaches of the edifice.

The doors of the church were thrown open shortly after 12 o'clock, and while the guests arrived there was an elaborate program of organ and vocal music. As the bridal party entered the nuptial music from "Lohengrin" was played and a nuptial hymn was sung by the choir before the benediction and anthem. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires, rector of the church of St. Thomas, assisted by Bishop Potter and the Rev. Huntington of Grace Church.

The Duke of Roxburghe is the eighth Duke of the line, and succeeded his father in 1892. He was born July 25, 1876, and is consequently 27 years of age. He is the eldest of seven children. There are three sons, the Duke's two brothers being unmarried.

The bride of today is the only daughter of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, and is one of two children who are heirs to a vast fortune, principally in real estate. Her father, Ogden Goelet, was one of the heirs of his uncle, Peter Goelet, who died unmarried. There were two brothers, Ogden and Robert. Ogden Goelet married Miss Mary Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, and the new Duchess of Roxburghe is consequently closely related to the Astors and the Vanderbilts.

RIOTERS IN SPAIN.

San Tander, Spain, Nov. 10.—The rioting which broke out here yesterday continues today. The troops continue to guard the residences of the Jesuits.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

IT WAS READ BEFORE CONGRESS TO-DAY.

A PLEA FOR CUBA

"We Must Help Her Onward and Upward.—Failure to do so Would Come Perilously Near to the Repudiation of the Pledged Faith of the Nation."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The session of the Senate today was devoted exclusively to the reading of the President's message, and the routine business incident to the receipt of the same.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have convened congress that it may consider the legislation which is necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the Senate at its last session and later by the Cuban government.

I deem such legislation necessary and demanded not only by our own interest but by our honor. We cannot with propriety abandon the course upon which we have so wisely embarked.

When the acceptance of the Platt amendment was required of Cuba by action of the Congress of the United States, this government thereby committed itself to a policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position as regards this country. It was provided when the island became a free and independent republic she should stand in close relations with us, and in certain respects would come under our system of international policy; and it necessarily followed also, that to a certain degree she would be included within the lines of our economic policy. Situated as Cuba is, it would not be possible for this country to permit of strategic abuse of this plan by any foreign military power. It is for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed on her financial policy, and naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States. The negotiations as to the details for surrendering these stations to the United States are on the eve of completion. These stations are so situated as to prevent any idea that there is any intention on our part ever to use these points against Cuba, or in any other way than in the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes and as a better safe-guard for American interests in the waters south of us.

These interests were largely increased by the consequences of the war with Spain, and will be still farther increased by the building of the Isthmian canal. These interests are both military and economic.

The granting of these stations to us by Cuba, which has been above alluded to, is of the utmost importance from a military standpoint, and is proof of the good faith in which Cuba is treating us. Cuba has loyally observed all her obligations to us, and she is entitled to like treatment from us.

The President then goes on to say that not a single American interest is sacrificed by the treaty, while on the other hand a large Cuban market is secured to the American farmers, artisans, mechanics and manufacturers. It would then seem indeed short sighted for us to refuse to take advantage of the opportunity offered us by the treaty, and thereby force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

The message concludes as follows: "Finally it is desirable as a guaranty of the good faith of our nation towards our young sister republic whose welfare must ever be closely bound with ours. We gave her liberty. We are knit to her by memories of blood and the courage of our soldiers who fought for her in this war, by the memories of the wisdom and the integrity of our administrators who saved her in peace, and who started her so well on the difficult path of self-government. We must help her onwards and upward, and in helping her we shall help ourselves. The failure to enact such legislation would come perilously near the repudiation of the pledged faith of the Nation."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The House today after receiving the President's message transacted some routine business and then adjourned in respect to the deceased members.

GUARDING TOM HORN.

Officials Fear that a Desperate Attempt Will Be Made to Rescue Him.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 10.—Governor Chatterton will decide Tom Horn's fate Thursday night. Deputies with Gatling and Hotchkiss guns are constantly on guard at the jail in anticipation of the attempt of the cattlemen to release Horn. The threat has been commonly made that Tom Horn will never suffer death by the hangman's rope. In evidence that means will be taken to carry out this threat a bit of startling information fell into the hands of Sheriff Smalley today in the shape of a small piece of paper on which the number "11" had been marked twice and other characters not plainly discernible. The paper had been thrown into the court yard in such a place where Horn could see it from his cell window. The same figures and marks had been placed on a building across the street from the jail in plain view of Horn's cell.

These marks were taken to mean that Horn's friends will attempt to liberate him on the eleventh day of the eleventh month at the eleventh hour. This would be tomorrow either at eleven o'clock in the morning or eleven o'clock at night.

BLOODY FIGHT

WALLACE, IDAHO, THE SCENE OF A SHOOTING AFFRAY.

TWO CITIZENS DEAD

An Ex-Philippine Soldier Kills a Physician, Wounds the Chief of Police and While Fleeing From His Crime is Shot to Death in an Alley.—All Because He Wanted to Smoke.

Wallace, Idaho, Nov. 10.—Two men are dead and two are severely wounded as a result of a shooting affray last night at the door of the opera house just as the theatre goers were leaving the house.

During the play William Cuff, a miner, and who had also served in the Philippine war, insisted in smoking while occupying a seat in the gallery. Rose, the opera house special policeman, took the cigar away from him, after having repeatedly advised him to desist. This enraged Cuff and he at once left the house vowing vengeance on Rose. He soon returned with a revolver and stationed himself at the entrance of the theatre. After the performance was over Rose was one of the first to leave the building. Cuff, as soon as he saw him opened fire upon him. Rose was ready for him and returned the fire. Dr. Fims, who was at that time passing and was escorting a lady from the theatre was struck in the forehead by a bullet from Cuff's revolver and was instantly killed. Soon Chief of Police McGovern with other policemen appeared on the scene. A general fusillade followed in which both Rose and McGovern were seriously wounded. Policeman Quinn pursued Cuff, who fled into an alley and there Quinn shot him to death.

WOOL MARKET VERY DULL.

Never in History Has There Been Such Conservatism in Buying.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—The trading was dull in the wool market last week. The manufacturers confined their purchases to the actual necessities of the mills. It is said that never in the history of the wool market has there been such conservatism manifested among the wool buyers.

SAN DOMINGO BESIEGED.

Revolutionary Soldiers Have Surrounded the City.

San Domingo, Nov. 7.—Last night the revolutionary forces which now surround the city attacked the fortifications and used their artillery, but no damage was done. That afternoon the commander of the revolutionary forces sent a messenger under a flag of truce demanding the surrender of the capitol. This was promptly refused and hostilities were renewed. San Domingo is strongly fortified and provisions are plentiful.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The State department this afternoon received a cablegram from Minister Powell at San Domingo, dated Nov. 6th stating that the Revolutionists were shelling the city.

The French Government To-Day Recognized the De Facto Government of Panama.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The French government today recognized the De Facto government of Panama.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—A representative of the Associated Press called today at the foreign office, and called its attention to the statement that the Columbian government would send a commission to Germany and offer the Emperor concessions on both land and sea in return for protection to the Columbian government in its present troubles.

The reply at the foreign office was that such a proposition would not be entertained for a moment.
