JUDGE S. B. EASLEY DEAD.

He Had Started on a Trip to the Mountains and Died While in Lincoln County.

Judge S. B. Easley died yesterday at noon in Lincoln county, and the remains were brought to this city this morning and placed in the Elbery mortuary. The widow and daughter in Chicago were notified this morning, and the remains will be held until they are heard from. The deceased came to this city about two years ago from San Antonio, Texas and has been practicing law in this city and at Carlsbad. He was an able attorney, and when he first came to Roswell he enjoyed a lucrative practice, but recently has been unable to attend to much business on account of the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. He had a horse stealing case to defend at the last term of court, and became incapacitated during the trial. Judge Pope was lenient and adjourned court to give him a chance to recover his wits. He finished the case and the prisoner was convicted. He appeared to lose interest in his business since that time, and his practice had rapidly disappeared. It was stated that he had threatened to commit suicide.

Several days ago he started for the mountains in the hope that the change would brace him up. He was accompanied by Charley Hardwicke and Asa Grant. He became ill yesterday morning with dysentery, and this was the immediate cause of his death. Judge Easley was a man of intellect, stood over six feet in height and was an able lawyer.

The following is the verdict of the Justice of the Peace and the Coroner's jury:

Territory of New Mexico, ss., County of Lincoln.

We, the Justice of the Peace and jury duly empanelled, to hold an inquest on the body of S. B. Easley, deceased, say he died suddenly at Picocho, N. M., on June 1st 1904, and it is the opinion of the jury that he came to his death from heart failure as there was no violence committed or shown on the body.

GEORGE KIMBELL,
Justice of the Peace Precinct No. 4.
Jury: H. Wagenfeld, Henry Fritz, Augustin Silva, John B. Formwalt, Franz Romero y Lueras, R. P. Hopkins.

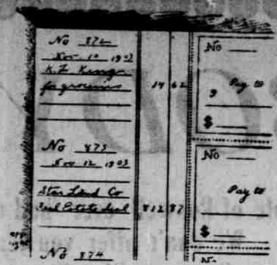

The New Mess Hall.

The work on the new mess hall at the Military Institute is progressing nicely and the framework for the building is about completed. The building will be brick veneered and will cost about $10,000. The main dining hall will be 36x84, and there will also be a kitchen, bake shop, pantries, store room, etc. The work is being done by Shearman & Tomlinson.

Dunkards Not Drunkards.

When the operator sent the telegraph dispatch that a number of Dunkards were here on a prospecting trip, the operator at Denver misunderstood the message and thought that he said "Drunkards." We are not importing any of that kind, and would like to ship out a few.

Miss Helen Kessler left this morning for Troy, Ohio, where she will spend the summer. She will then go to Dallas to make her future home with her parents in that city. Mrs. Kessler and Ruth will go to Dallas next week. Mrs. Kessler and daughters have lived in Roswell for some time and have been prominent in church work and the social circles of the city.

A Sanitary Stink.

Mr. Editor:—I should like to inquire what new idea of sanitation it is that would clean up the garbage of the back streets and alleys from all over town, and haul it to Main street for storage. Is there anything medicinal in all this collection of garbage that makes it especially healthful for the community to breathe it at both ends of Main street. Within twenty feet of Main street south of the Hondo bridge lies a carload or so of garbage hauled from all over town. It lies in the bed of the stream and after a rain backs up a pool of stagnant water to modify the smell. It is hardly possible at some hours of the day to drive across and south of the Hondo bridge without holding the nose or riding in an automobile that can outrun the scent of the city rose jar.

If this is a sanitary odor, why allow the residents of that section of the city to monopolize a good thing. Why not have it distributed all the way down Main street, and turn loose a lot of chickens to keep it well stirred.
