WILLIAM WILL BE GOOD

Emperor Will Deal With State Affairs Only Through the Regular Constitutional Channels in the Future.—The Prince Assured of William's Entire Confidence.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Emperor William and Chancellor Von Buelow were in conference three-quarters of an hour at Potsdam this morning. His Majesty accepted the proposals made by the Chancellor concerning the future conduct of state affairs, and there is evidence that the prince will remain in office.

Later.—It has been officially announced that Emperor William gave Prince Von Buelow assurances of his complete confidence and that the Prince will continue to act as chancellor.

Chancellor Von Buelow in his interview with the Emperor asked His Majesty for a declaration with permission to publish the same, to the effect that in future the Emperor will deal with state affairs only through the existing constitutional channels, namely through the Chancellor. The Emperor acceded to this request and the following declaration appeared in Reichsanzeiger today: "Heedless of obvious incorrect exaggerations, His Majesty his Chancellor's principal aim to be to secure the continuance of the imperial policies under the safeguard of constitutional responsibilities. He approved the Chancellor's address in the Reichstag and assured the Prince of his continued confidence

TO INSPECT THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF ALBUQUERQUE.

By arrangement with the board of health and the board of education a special corps of volunteer medical inspectors for the public schools of Albuquerque has been formed, which it is believed, will effectually do away with the possibility of an epidemic of diphtheria, scarlet fever or other diseases, which wreak havoc when they get a start among the children.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 17.—At nine o'clock this morning it was reported from Lane hospital that Francis J. Heney passed a comfortable night and that no unfavorable symptoms have developed.

With the same precautions as yesterday to prevent disturbance or harm to the defendant, the trial of Abraham Ruef on the charge of bribery was resumed today. The first move of the prosecution today was to file affidavits, counter to those filed by the defense yesterday in support of the motion for change of venue. The prosecution's affidavits declare there exists no reason why Ruef can not be assured a fair and impartial trial in San Francisco.

FORGED FOR A MILLION

CHICAGO REAL ESTATE DEALER OBTAINED LARGE SUMS ON FORGED PAPERS.

HE WILL GO TO PRISON

Confessed to the Forgeries When Confronted by the Proofs and Was Sentenced Same Night He Was Arrested.—Many Persons Suffered.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Peter Van Vlissingen, a prominent real estate dealer and clubman and for years a reputed millionaire, who was arrested last night, indicted and sentenced to prison on his own confession of having obtained through forged papers over $700,000, arose in his cell at the county jail this morning after a sleepless night. He asked to be taken to Joliet at once, saying "the sooner this business is settled the better." He confessed his forgeries immediately when confronted with proof of guilt. It is said that more than twenty-five persons suffer from his swindles, including a number of brewers. Van Vlissingen said he traced the forged signatures from the genuine ones by placing an electric light beneath a plate glass desk and throwing the light upwards.

It was decided that the prisoner should remain in Chicago to assist in straightening out the tangled affairs of his office.

BREEDERS OF ANARCHY

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Modern social settlements in American cities were denounced as breeding places of socialism and anarchy by Rev. James Curry, of New York, in an address at the Catholic missionary congress today. Father Curry flayed the rich supporters of these settlements, declaring them to go among the poor as Pharisees. He asked if anyone had heard of a social settlement among the rich to teach them the sacredness of marriage, and that "a champagne debauch is as bad as one on mixed ale." In closing Father Curry admitted that the social settlement purged of its abuses and under proper Catholic administration would be a good department of endeavor under the Catholic church.

CHAMP CLARK'S RECENT TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

From the Denver News. Have you read Champ Clark's temperance lecture delivered before a recent session of the house ways and means committee? The tariff upon intoxicating liquors was the subject under discussion.

when the congressman from Missouri startled his assembled colleagues by announcing that after a man has had three drinks he does not know whether he is drinking good whiskey or not. And a clever young cynic added, "He does not care."

The old saw, "Whiskey in, wits out," is as true now as when evolved from the gray matter of some rough and ready philosopher.

The liquor question is a problem of paramount social and economic importance, for it threatens the stability of the home—and the home is the bulwark of this and every other nation.

The News does not believe in prohibition—it does not believe that the creature of habit can be reformed by legislative enactment. The evils of drinking can only be overcome by the slow process of education—by impressing on the youth of the land the necessity for total abstinence.

The young man starting out in life cannot afford to take the fatal "third drink," and if he would avoid the third drink he must never taste the first drink. It is to the young man that this editorial is particularly addressed.

The total abstainer inspires confidence, not only in those who are temperate in their temperance, but even in those who fall far short of the temperance standard.

You protest that men classified as "moderate drinkers" have achieved a measure of success. True—perhaps—men have also gone over Niagara falls and escaped death. The so-called "moderate drinker" succeeds, not because of his drinking, but in spite of it.

Have you ever known a man to be a better workman, clerk or professional man because he drank intoxicants?

When you are seeking a position, almost the first question the employer will ask you is, "Do you drink?"

If you answer in the affirmative, he employs you on probation, if at all. You go into his service handicapped. In order to win his confidence you must be a little more capable, a little more attentive to business, a little more successful in achieving results, than any of your teetotaler associates.

Why should you carry this handicap? Why not start on even terms with your competitors?

Only the sober man realizes the enormity of the crime of drunkenness. It is poor sport, indeed, for the sober individual to "do the town" with a group of companions "out for a time." He wonders if their disgust would equal his own if they could see themselves as he sees them.

Do not be misled by the sophistries of those who tell you that an occasional drink will not hurt you, "if you will stop there." The trouble is, most men do not stop there. Why play with fire? Why not solve the drink problem for yourself by refusing to take the first drink, and thereby avoid the necessity for resisting the "fatal third?"
