been made by taking it out of the general fund which was not in strict keeping with the law. Right here is where the council had the most lively "fit" the new body has experienced. Mr. Whiteman objected to raising the levy one mill and moved that, in order to raise the levy for the bond interest fund, without raising the total, that one mill be deducted from the general fund levy, which is ten mills. Mr. Bryant concurred in his opinion. Messrs. Reid, Mullis and others objected to the reduction of the general fund, frankly stating that the city would be doing well if it runs its business without an increase of the general fund levy, since $12,000 had been taken from the city's revenue by the abolition of the saloons. It was argued that the increase in the assessment of the city $150,000 would add $3,000 to the revenue of the city. But in rebuttal it was argued on the other side that this would not make up enough to offset the loss of the $12,000 saloon license, and that conditions would not warrant a reduction of the general fund levy on the general fund, but the amendment lost, all voting against it except Messrs. Bryant, Whiteman and Wyllys. Then the ordinance came up for passage. Messrs. Bryant, Whiteman and Wyllys voted against it and Messrs. Cottingham, Cummings, Davis, Haystack Mullis, and Reid for it, and Mayor Veal declared it passed.

The declaration that the ordinance had passed brought on another argument. The rules of the council, adopted temporarily by this council from the old council, hold that it shall require a two-thirds vote of all members elected to pass ordinances regulating taxation, appropriating money, condemning property, etc. The vote on the tax levy ordinance was six to three, and six, of course, is not two-thirds of ten the number of councilmen elected. Mayor Veal stated that the territorial law required that the tax levy be passed by the council and sworn to before the county commissioners before July 1, and that, since Mr. Pearce is out of the city and will not be here by July 1, the ordinance would have to be passed by a six to three vote. Mr. Whiteman asked the question, "Are we going by these rules or not?" He was answered that they were as far as possible, but that they would be speedily amended. Mr. Reid had a section of the law read by the city attorney, Mr. Dow, showing that territorial law provides that a bare majority of the members elected shall pass ordinances of this character. Mr. Reid argued that the rules of the council were mere matters of convenience and custom and not of abate authority, as law.

Mr. Whiteman entered his protest to the passage of the tax levy ordinance by the vote of six to three.

With this ordinance out of the way and a precedent set, Mr. Reid stated that they might as well take up Ordinance No. 215, regulating sprinkling and providing for a special tax for the work. He moved its passage as published and without amendment. The same six to three vote was cast in its favor and Mayor Veal declared it passed. Before the vote was taken Mr. Wyllys stated that he had not seen the ordinance and had not received a copy of it, as provided in the rules of the council. Mr. Davis suggested that the council give time for its reading for Mr. Wyllys' benefit. Mr. Wyllys stated that he did not care to have it read for his benefit. Upon motion of Mr. Reid all these things were entered in the minutes, and upon motion Mr. Whiteman's protest to the passage of Ordinances Nos. 215 and 216 were entered in the minutes.

The council then went into executive session and Mayor Veal's appointment of John Holder as night police, taking the place of Tobe Stewart, was confirmed by the popular vote of the evening six to three. Messrs. Bryant, Whiteman and Wyllys opposing.

The council then went into recess.

N. M. LANDS ABOUT.

Washington, June 8.—Sixty million feet of merchantable timber have been added to the Datil National Forest in New Mexico, and nearly one hundred thousand acres of land have been thrown open to settlement by a proclamation issued by President Taft today. It reclassifies that forest and adds more than 182,000 acres of wooded lands to the national forest domain. The mining camp of Fluvrin in the forest is now classified as homestead lands. All lands restored will be thrown open to settlement by the act of the Secretary of the Interior later.

that have gone by, the great nations, the nations that have expanded and that have played a mighty part in the world, have in the end grown old and weakened and vanished; but to have the nations whose only tho't was to avoid all danger, all effort, who would risk nothing, and who therefore gained nothing. In the end the same fate may overwhelm all alike, but the memory of the one type perishes with it, while the other leaves its mark deep on the history of all the future of mankind.

"A nation that seemingly dies may be born again; and even though in the physical sense it die utterly it may yet hand down a history of heroic achievement, and for all time to come may profoundly influence the nations that arise in its place by the impress of what it has done. Best of all is it to do our part well, and at the same time to see our blood live young and vital in men and women fit to take up the task as we lay it down; for so shall our seed inherit the earth. But if this, which is best, is denied us, then at least it is ours to remember that if we choose we can be torch-bearers, as our fathers were before us. The torch has been handed on from nation to nation, from civilization to civilization throughout all recorded time, from the dim years before history dawned, down to the blazing splendor of this teeming century of ours. It dropped from the hand of the coward and the sluggard, of the man wrapped in luxury or love of ease, the man whose soul was eaten away by self-indulgence; it has been kept alight only by those who were mighty of heart and cunning of hand. That they worked at, providing it was worth doing at all, was of less matter than how they worked, whether in the realm of the mind, or the realm of the body. If their work was good if what they achieved was of substance, then high success was really theirs.

CORRUPTION FUND SWITCH-

ED TO THE "JACK POT."

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—That a fund of approximately $3,000, raised to kill the fish bill in the legislature, went to "sweeten" the general legislative "jockpot" is the belief of the State Attorney, Burke, who today returned from his third visit to Beardstown. The prosecutor said that not only had he evidence to support this hypothesis, but he was on the trail of at least one man whom he believes handled the fish bill fund after it had been paid to Frank Traut, of Beardstown at the St. Nicholas hotel.

TWO MORE ARRESTS IN THE ##### "BLACKMAILING" CASE.

V. L. Mabry and Walter Smith, employees of the Oasis ranch, were arrested this morning on the charge of being accomplices of Lee Smith in the alleged attempted blackmail of L. L. Johnson, which has been described in the Record in full. The two men were arrested on warrants issued by Justice A. J. Welter, which specifically charge that they assisted in writing the threatening letter to Mr. Johnson, demanding that he pay certain sums of money or be exposed. The letter was signed "W. H. Barker" and Mr. Johnson was told to leave the money in the form of a check payable to "Barker" at the Citizens National Bank. Mabry and Walter Smith were arraigned this morning before Justice A. J. Welter. They pleaded not guilty and their hearings were set for four o'clock this afternoon. Lee Smith, the first man arrested in the case, waived his preliminary and was bound over to the grand jury under a bond of $500.

"Buick Wins!"

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27 1910.

Tonight closed the first day of the most important race meet yet held on the Indianapolis motor speedway.

In the only two events in which it was entered sounded the old familiar cry of victory: "BUICK WINS," Buick strength and Buick stamina--the same rugged qualities that carried the car into first place at the finish of nearly two hundred track and road contests last season, captured these two races:

5-mile Stock Chassis-Buick, First. Time, 4 minutes, 41.7 sec.

5-mile Free-for-All, Buick First. Time, 3 minutes, 37 2-5 sec.

Defeating the Fiat, Marmon Six, American, National 60, National 70, Darracq.

More often than any car in the world the Buick has demonstrated in racing, grinding contests of this character, the well-nigh indestructible soundness of its construction.

The way the Buick is built is what makes the Buick win, the way the Buick is built is what makes every individual owner an ardent Buick advocate.
