SPANISH TROOPS WILL GO HOME.

CUBA IS TO BE EVACUATED IN NOVEMBER

Soldiers To be Paid In Full and Given Two Months Extra Pay and Clothes.

Scrapps-McRae League.

Madrid, October 10.—All Porto Rican troops will be withdrawn next week and the Cuban troops in November. Twenty-one transports for that purpose have been chartered. Troops have been paid arrears up to July and will be given two months additional pay and a suit of clothes each before landing in Spain and disbanded on arrival.

Force Should Be Used.

Scrapps-McRae League.

San Juan, Oct. 10. Spaniards declare they cannot complete the evacuation this week on account of lack of transportation, though Spanish steamers touching here take no troops. Americans think there are other reasons for failure to evacuate. The natives are becoming restless at the delay, business is at a standstill. Spaniards give no promise when they will leave.

Trouble is Threatened.

Scrapps-McRae League.

Paris, Oct. 10.—The strike is spreading and threatens to cause a general cessation of work in the city. Eighty thousand strikers now. Ten thousand additional troops were brought to the city to quell possible disturbances.

Nancy Guilford Detained.

Scrapps-McRae League.

London, October 10.—Nancy Guilford was this morning demanded for another week. Identified through photographs although thinner and older than when taken. She has aged during her detention.

Mrs. George Didn't Do It.

San Francisco, October 10.—Five transports with 4,500 troops are expected to sail for Manila within a week.

How to Drink Water.

There are few people, we think, who thoroughly realize the value of water as a beverage or who know how to obtain the greatest advantage from it. The effects produced by the drinking of water, as pointed out by our excellent contemporary, Health, vary with the manner in which it is drunk. If, for instance, a pint of cold water be swallowed as a large draft, or if it be taken in two portions with a short interval between, certain definite results follow—effects which differ from those which would have resulted from the same quantity taken by sipping. Sipping is a powerful stimulant to the circulation, a thing which ordinary drinking is not. During the act of sipping the action of the nerve which shows the beats of the heart is abolished, and as a consequence that organ contracts much more rapidly, the pulse beats more quickly and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. In addition to this, we find that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is raised by the sipping of fluid. And here is a point which might well be noted by our readers:

A glass of cold water, slowly sipped, will produce greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draft. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that sipping cold water will often allay the craving for alcohol in those who have been in the habit of taking too much of it and who may be endeavoring to reform, the effect being probably due to the stimulant action of the sipping.

A Perfect Performance.

At a variety entertainment given in aid of a popular institution one of the "trios" was a ventriloquist. As this gentleman was recognized as one of the cleverest members of his profession, his appearance was looked forward to with much interest. At last it came. The stage attendants carried on to the stage three dressed figures, seated in chairs, as usual. The professor followed and then went through an astonishing performance. No one could detect a muscle of his face move during the laughable dialogues, and the changes of voice seemed marvellous.

On retiring the applause was deafening, and the ventriloquist had to return again and again to thank the audience for their appreciation. A couple of minutes or so after, when the audience was talking among themselves as to how it was done, they were thunderstruck to see the three figures get up from the chairs and walk off the stage also, but on realizing how completely they had been "sold" the laughter was uproarious. The professor had got three of his friends to take the place of his usual "lay" figures for that night only.—Pearson's Weekly.

How Backstrap Strikes a Maori.

A Maori chief who lost £40 through a white storekeeper going through the bankruptcy court has given the following lucid exposition of this particular branch of British jurisprudence: "The pakeha (white man) who wants to become a pakarapu (insolvent) goes into business and gets lots of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can together, say £2,000, and puts all of it except £5 away where no one can find it. With the £5 he goes to a judge of the court and tells him he wants to become pakarapu.

"The judge then calls all the lawyers together, likewise all the men to whom the pakeha owes money, and he says, 'This man is pakarapu, but he wishes to give you all that he has got, and so he has asked me to divide this £5 among you all.' The judge thereupon gives the lawyers £4 and the remaining £1 to the other men. Then the pakeha goes home."—London Chronicle.

Impartial.

An English clergyman, recently settled in a small town in Perthshire, met a farmer's boy while visiting the members of his congregation. In the course of conversation the boy said his parents had an aunt staying with them. The parson, not having much acquaintance with the Scottish language, and not quite comprehending what the boy said asked:

"Then, do I understand that your aunt is on your father's side or on your mother's?"

To which the young agriculturist replied:

"Well, while the sun and whistles the other, except when further leathers them bait."—Dundee People's Journal.

Dry Plate Photography.

The first amateur pictures on dry plates were made something after the method employed by Charles Laruh's celebrated Chinaman in obtaining roast pig. The Chinaman burned his house to roast his pig. The amateur tore his camera to pieces to get his picture. The first hand camera was a pasteboard box containing one plate. A pinhole served as a lens and after the exposure of the plate the box was taken to the dark room, cut open, and the plate extracted.

This was rather expensive picture making, and it was not long before a magic camera was invented, and suddenly all the world began taking pictures.—Elizabeth Flint Wade in St. Nicholas.

EXTERMINATION THE REMEDY

NO GOOD INDIANS EXCEPT DEAD ONES

Every Man Capable of Carrying a Gun is Ready to Fight--The Women and Children.

Scrapps-McRae League.

Walker, Minn., October 10, 2 a. m.—Every white man who is capable of carrying arms is on the street waiting for an Indian attack. Gen. Bacon fears a demonstration against the city. The guards are doubled and pickets put out all around Walker. The agency soldiers are prepared. All the white women and children have been brought to town. Gen. Bacon and staff have been in council all night, and they arrived at the conclusion that nothing but the complete extermination of the Indians will end the uprising. If there is no attack this morning Gen. Bacon will go to St. Paul and consult with Gov. Clough about a plan of campaign.

Indians Are Now Aroused

Scrapps-McRae League.

Minneapolis, October 10.—Two companies of 50 men each of the Fourteenth volunteers left this morning for Bemidji and Farris. Nothing has been heard from Walker since 2 o'clock this morning. Gen. Bacon wired last night asking how many men could be sent from Fort Snelling.

Troops After the Indians

Scrapps-McRae League.

Duluth, October 10.—A battalion of 320 men of the Fourteenth volunteers left here for north of Leech Lake last night, to prevent the escape north of the Indians. About 500 troops are now in the neighborhood of Leech Lake.

More Trouble for France

Scrapps-McRae League.

Vancouver, October 10.—News has been received of the uprising of the natives of New Hebrides, a French settlement. They attacked a number of native servants and many were killed. The captain and crew of the schooner Seaghost were massacred by the South Sea Islanders.

OUR NEW POSSESSION.

A Snap Shot at Porto Rico Run By Peter McQueen.

Our new possession has some features quite unlike the old continent which we control. The first thing that interested me, says Peter McQueen in Leslie's Weekly, was the long train of bullock carts which are being used by the government for the transportation of supplies, and which are used by the Porto Ricans to carry the sugar and rum to the market. These patient beasts are badly treated by the drivers. A good is used, tipped with steel and iron spikes an inch and a half long. The American soldiers were shocked at the way the natives thrust this cruel implement into the ox and then turn the goat in their hand. I stopped one man whose ox was bleeding and around whose team others were crowded. He made a pantomime to say to me that the Spaniards beat and cut the oxen with machetes. "And what better are you?" says I, using the same language of pantomime.

The soil around Ponce is extremely fertile and sells for from thirty to one hundred dollars an acre. A mile from the city, where the First Regiment, United States Volunteer Engineers, were encamped, we took pictures of the men making a drain. It was twenty feet deep and they had not reached the bottom of the team. Anything will grow, rice, coffee, sugar, tobacco, and all the fruits and flowers of the tropics ripen here the whole year 'round. There seems to be no wheat grown, and I was told the climate is too warm for it. But the cattle are famous; bullocks, oxen, horses, thrive in great abundance, and sheep are large and fat, but without much wool.

In Ponce you have good streets, impure sanitation, though not so bad as I might be, a splendid chance for pure city water by the aqueduct running in from the mountains, and some fine buildings. Among the latter are the theatre, the asylum for women, the hospital, and the national guard building.

There is also excellent society in the southern towns, such as the family of the Macfarlands, the large planter at Guayama, at whose hacienda the troops had to guard forty thousand dollars' worth of coffee, sugar, and rum; the Armstrongs, of Ponce, and Mr. Robert Graham, the rich and benevolent manufacturer of the same city.

At the reception given to General Miles by the citizens, our young American officers were bewildered by beauty, "and bright the lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men." The Porto Ricans have taken very quickly and kindly to American occupation. Some have been so quick in changing that their conversion may be doubted. For instance, the editor of La Nueva Era, a small, ill-printed daily, which purports to be a journal of news, travel, science, literature, and freedom, was only a few weeks ago raving at the "American pigs," while now he luxuriates "under the eagle's wings, and writes eulogies upon Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, and William McKinley. Nor is he alone in his devotion to the American idea. The small boy curses his neighbor by calling him "in Espanol," and treats you with disdain if you suggest that he is simply a poor Porto Rican. "No, no," he says, pointing to himself, "no Espanol, Porto Rican American." His motives are not, however, always of the noblest, for the boys have learned a trick of saying to the passing Yankee, "Vive America," and then putting up the forefinger with this half asked question, "One-cent?" Will you give him a cent for his patriotism? You think he needs some more lessons in that great passion.

BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT is the most penetrating liniment in the world. It cures pain and inflammation of all kinds quicker than any other remedy. Price 50c. Every bottle guaranteed. F. B. Lillie & Co.

Indian Commissioner Named. Washington, October 10.—Lemuel Harris, Chickasaw and Napoleon Alinsworth, a Choctaw, have been appointed trustees of the coal and asphalt mines in the Indian territory of Chickasaw and Choctaw nations.

SHEDSKIN 20 TIMES

My little boy broke out with an itching rash. I tried three doctors and medical college but he kept getting worse. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body unaffected. He was one mass of sores, and the stench was frightful. In removing the bandages they would take the skin with them, and the poor child's screams were heart-breaking. After the second application of SHEDSKIN (ointment) I saw signs of improvement, and the sores to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but now he is entirely cured.
