INDIAN APPROPRIATIONS

Thurston will Call Up the Measure-Delegate Flynn's Interest

Scrpps-McRae Press Ass'n.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Senator Thurston, chairman of the senate committee on Indian affairs, said today that he would call up the Indian appropriation bill early next week and that he thought it would be passed without extended discussion. The total appropriations carried by the bill is nearly 10 million dollars. The appropriation of $300,000 for the work of the Dawes commission is explained by the committee on Indian affairs in the report of the bill as follows:

"In the matter of the appropriation of $300,000 for the Dawes commission the committee had the benefit, not only of the commission, but of a detailed statement of what has been accomplished by this commission, and also what it contemplated for the future. In a former report the committee set forth its views in regard to the matter of bringing to a speedy termination the work of the commission, and, continuing to hold the same views, your committee has deemed it advisable to continue the work along the lines set forth by the commission." The report continues:

"The commission on December 24, forwarded for departmental approval, the completed roll of Seminole citizens. There are no contested cases in this nation, and the roll as submitted will become at once final upon approval by the secretary, as soon as the same shall have been approved and returned to the office, which the commission anticipates will be not later than February 11, 1901, the work of allotment in conformity with the agreement of October 17, 1899, may be at once commenced. The commission, therefore, contemplates the establishment of an allotment office in that nation upon that date.

"The commission plans to establish an office at Atoka for the purpose of completing the enrollment of the Choctaws and Chickasaws. Quite a number of citizens are yet to be enrolled in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations aside from the great number of applicants, who apply as Mississippi Choctaws and otherwise. It has not been found possible to induce many of the citizens of these tribes to appear before the commission for enrollment during its hearings at points within those tribes and as the rules of the secretary require that they shall appear before the commission within the tribe in which membership is claimed, it has been found necessary to establish a centrally located office convenient of access. Not only is this for the benefit of those to be enrolled, but because no other means known to the commission will secure their enrollment other than to inaugurate an active movement looking to that end. It is believed that enrollment of the Choctaws and Chickasaws can be completed by September 1, 1901.

"There remains at this time 2,730,000 acres of land to be appraised in the Creek nation, 5,350,000 in the Cherokee nation, 4 million acres in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. The commission at this time has seventeen appraisal parties in the field and it is estimated that the preliminary appraisal may be completed October 1, 1901. It is the plan of the commission to so utilize and direct the movements of the appraisal parties in the field that the classification of the lands of the Creek, Seminole and Choctaw nations shall be completed September 25, and the Cherokee nation by October 1, all parties as at present composed to be utilized until the last named date. The amount of timber to be estimated in the Indian territory cannot be, by the commission, arrived at with any degree of accuracy save by actual appraisals in the field. Much of the timbered country is exceedingly mountainous and inaccessible by wagons and the commission has therefore determined upon the organization of six timber estimating parties, to be supplied with pack trains composed of burros, mules and packers, which will enter the field at once."

One of the senate amendments which is expected to cause discussion is that by which farmers and stockmen at Indian agencies will be taken out of the civil service. It is as follows:

"To enable the secretary of the interior to employ practical farmers and practical stockmen to be employed from the state or territory where they are to be employed and subject to such examination as to qualification as the secretary of the interior may prescribe, in addition to the agency farmers now employed, at wages not exceeding $65 each per month, to superintend and direct farming and stock raising among such Indians as are making effort for self support, $65,000."

Delegate Flynn is anxious that this amendment be adopted. It is also supported by other members of the house Indian commission, but it will doubtless provoke attack from civil service advocates.

All persons who were missed in the late census are requested to call at the Guthrie club at once and leave their names. This is important.
