Special to Daily Leader.

Yonkers, O., April 27.—Hailing a match on the Mahoning Golf club's links, Youngstown and Warren policemen led to the spot by bloodhounds, made a thrilling capture of Marion B. Perkins, who had concealed himself in an artificial bridge, a hazard on the early in the morning. The arrest, accomplished by Chief Clerk Jacobs of the Youngstown department, who crawled under the bridge on all fours, a revolver thrust before him while Sgt. Wagner, of Youngstown, and Patrolman Gless and Torrey Schenck, of Warren, covered Perkins through cracks in the bridge. Postpone Some Reforms.

It might be well for the Oklahoma statesmen to let up on the private car parties long enough to inaugurate a campaign against the bank robbers and safe blowers. It would seem to us that it is about time to put up some good big reformatory over there for holding these lumpy men with the already-ripe in head or alive, the latter probably preferred—South-west American.

MURRAY SUPPORTS SUBSTITUTE

SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS NOW BEFORE THE HOUSE

TREMENDOUS SUBJECT INVOLVING MILLIONS

Debate Promises to Be Most Interesting of Entire Session

In the house this afternoon the school land matter was taken up. Speaker Murray called Ben Harrison to the chair and made a brief statement in which he expressed the hope that the bill would simply be called a house bill and leave no one's name attached to it, as a simple name was all the bill needed. Whatever action might be taken he was earnestly in favor of admitting it to the people.

The question before the house was whether or not the Murray bill should be submitted for the bill reported out by the school lands committee. Jesse opened the ball.

Jesse took the floor against the substitute and stated that it was unfair to the lessee. He said the general understanding was that the land should be sold and could see no reason for delay by submission to the people. He was opposed to that portion limiting the purchase to 160 acres, stating that in many cases the lessee gave a preference right to more than that, and that a mere quarter section of grazing land would be of but little value. He also attacked the substitute in several other particulars. He said the 160-acre section was "killing the state at least $300,000 a year, and that until the land was sold there would always be an organization of lessees in politics.

"Custer" Smith for Submission.

Smith, of Custer, commended the two bills and said both had some weak and some strong features. He was applauded when he said he favored the submission of the question to a vote of the people, and urged caution in handling a proposition involving values of such great magnitude.

The debate promises at least to equal in scope and importance that on any question that has yet come before the house.

Routine Work.

There were several memorials and petitions, but as the closing days of the session approach the session will be a desultory one. Several bills were reported on by the various committees. Some bills from the senate were placed on second reading and referred to the proper committees.

Bills Introduced.

New bills sent up were as follows: By Barclay, authorizing cities and towns to acquire lands for park and boulevard purposes, outside the city limits and to stock improve, maintain and control the same; by Barclay, to establish a state department of agriculture, creating office of state historian, fixing salary at $2,500 and describing duties; by Martin, requesting, dividing Ottawa county into two counties, court districts, by Rainey and Durant, prescribing manner of obtaining commercial ratings; by Baldwin, creating office and fixing salaries of collectors of humane and humane.

IND WAVE SOLD.

Editor J. L. Isenberg has sold the Ind Wave and retired from the work as editor. The Wave has been Isenberg and he has been the Wave. It will be a rather strange looking Wave until we grow accustomed to the new management, but it promises to be bigger. As the retiring editor got out of the business with $15,000 and has no big creditors to allice of a portion of that amount, it is presumed he can go to the great health resorts and rest, and also enjoy some real good things in the way of sport. The Wave editor has looked about quite a little in this vale of tears, and has done a great deal to enlighten nations. Now those still not jangling straight and ready, Isenberg feels it is not altogether his fault, and they can join without his advice or counsel.

"Oklahoma Arrived" Flashed as Cause of Stoppage

Special to Daily Leader. Chicago, Ill., April 27.—Oklahoma captured the board of trade and for five minutes everything was stopped. The brass band of the Tulsa "beaters" let itself loose on the main floor, and for once the Chicago traders acknowledged themselves vanquished.

The Tulsa Commercial club 130 strong, backed up the band. It was 10:30 o'clock when the Oklahomans reached the building, after a parade through the downtown streets. The board of trade policeman had not been apprised of the coming of the boners, and at first was inclined to show fight.

Before anybody was aware what was happening the band had formed in a circle and was giving vent to some Indian music that made more noise in a minute than the Chicago traders could make in an hour.

Then it was that buying stopped, selling stopped. All the telegraph instruments on the floor were dropped out. The market stood still. Over the whole mechanism of the board a wave of sudden rest set in.

New York felt the break in the nasal tension. So did London and Paris. "What's the matter?" New York inquired.

"Oklahoma arrived" went flashing back over the wire. "Business will be resumed when Oklahoma goes away."

MUSKOGEE SURFEITED WITH MAYORALTY CLAIMANTS

Muskogee, Okla., April 26.—Mayor Leo E. Bennett and ex-Mayor T. H. Maclean are doing an Alphonse and Gaston stunt, each insisting that the other is mayor of Muskogee, each insisting that the other take the honor of the $2,500 salary that goes with the job.

Because the attorney general holds that the election called in Muskogee under the Brooks bill was not legal and that the old city officials should hold over until the regular election in 1909, Mayor Bennett sent for ex-Mayor Martin and told him he wanted to turn the office over to him. "Not on your life," returned the ex-mayor. "I have had enough. It's yours."

If the decision of the attorney general is sustained, then all the present officials of Muskogee are holding their offices illegally and the old officers are entitled to them, with the exception of our members of the council. Several hundred thousand dollars worth of municipal contracts are involved in the local tangle, and neither the contractors, the city officials nor the citizens know what to do next.

John Rose Jr., left this morning for San Antonio, Texas, where he is engaged in civil engineering, after spending two weeks with his parents, Judge and Mrs. J. J. Reles, at 294 East Vilas avenue.

SENATE IN COMMITTEE OF WHOLE

DEVOTED MORNING SESSION TO CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

BUCKET SHOP BILLS CONSOLIDATED INTO ONE

Joint Substitute Measure Recommended for Passage By Committee

The morning session of the senate was largely spent in committee of the whole on the Taylor bill for the publication of annotated statutes of the state, No. 208. A contract with a Missouri publishing house to print the books in one volume for three dollars each was in the bill, and Mr. Taylor, assisted by Mathews, hurried the sections through with Redwine in the chair, not disposed to waste more than the requisite time for the bill. Senator Blair secured an amendment allowing members of the legislature to each have a free copy, explaining such was the custom of all legislative bodies.

Senator Rodde sought to defeat the Blair amendment, and on third reading and final passage offered a motion to that effect, but it failed.

Senator Henry S. Johnson was not a warm admirer of the measure, and would give the practical prohibition all that could reasonably be asked for. He especially commended that portion which forbids the renting of property for the sale of liquor and that the deacons could no longer safely permit the use of their buildings for that purpose, as some had done in the past.

Harry Carlin who has been very low for several days, is improving gradually.

At the Christiana church last night Rev. Noblit spoke on the new dispensary law. Many legislators were present to hear the sermon. Rev. Noblit stated that the law had some weak points, especially the clause giving the dealer ten per cent of the receipts as compensation. He thought that law might have some day to be revised. The dispensary was a vast improvement over the open saloon and he believed that the prohibitionists should give the law their hearty moral support until it could be given a thorough test. While the law might, like other laws, be violated by some individuals, yet it had many strong points and would give the practical prohibition all that could reasonably be asked for. He especially commended that portion which forbids the renting of property for the sale of liquor and that the deacons could no longer safely permit the use of their buildings for that purpose, as some had done in the past.

Just before the noon hour Senator Stafford, of the appropriations committee, called up house bill by White, appropriating money to pay furnishing and supplies for the various offices and chambers. He offered the special committee report, and President Bellamy ordered the list to committee of the whole to there thresh out the differences of opinion.

The conference committee on bucket shop measures reported back that Franklin's bill No. 8, prohibiting bucket shops, which had been consolidated with the bills by Smith, Menninger and Cordell; and 10 of the house, were similar, all making one bill to be known as Joint Substitute Bill No. 188, recommended for passage.

No. 496, by Billups, making eight hours a legal working day for all employed at labor by the state.

No. 497 by Brook, providing for a state fair.

(By Associated Press.) Paso Robles, Calif., Apr. 27.—It is announced that if Rear Admiral Evans continues to improve as rapidly as he has during the last two weeks he will probably be able to return to his command within the fortnight.

It is the admiral's fondest wish that he direct the fleet into San Francisco bay.

GOVERNOR TAG BUSY.

Governor Haskell did not go to Chicago as he intended, to join the special train of Tulsa merchants returning from a tour of the East. Mr. Haskell expressed regret at being unable to accept the invitation of the junketers. The business in the office was too great to permit of his leaving even for a few days.

Club Cave Shoot.

The Guthrie Gun club gave a shoot yesterday afternoon at Electric park in honor of W. W. Herr, of Concordia, Kansas, who holds the world's championship with the shotgun. He has been journeying in the capital city for a few days the guest of Henry Donnelly, preparatory to attending the big shoot which opens up Thursday tomorrow for a three days tournament. Mr. Herr's average is 95.50 out of a possible 100. The shoot was well attended, notwithstanding the threatening weather in the forenoon.

FIND DEAD MAN'S BODY IN RIVER

Special to Daily Leader. Coyle, Okla., April 27.—The body of an unknown man was found in a drift on a sandbar in the Cimarron river two miles northwest of here yesterday. When discovered, the body, which had apparently floated to that place, lay with the face buried in the sand and drift. As soon as possible the proper authorities were notified, and upon investigation was found to be in a very bad state of decomposition, the skin badly discolored and the hair on the head slipped off as soon as touched. The body was that of a man about five feet five inches tall, and would evidently weigh about one hundred and forty pounds. It had on two complete suits of clothing—coats, vests, shirts, pants and socks. One coat was a blue and one shirt blue. The top coat was black and the top pants striped. His shoes were good, with a patch on one side of the heel on the right shoe. The sum of $25.15 was found in the five different pockets of the dead man, but not a scrap of writing, printing or anything to give a clue to his identity. Some thought he might be a victim of the Rock Island wreck at Dover over a year ago; that the body may have been buried in the sand and salty waters of the Cimarron up to the last rise in the river when it had floated down. Others think that he might have drowned within the last ten to thirty days, either in the river or in some swollen creek, and floated to the place where discovered. In appearance, as near as one could tell, he was perhaps from forty-five to fifty years old. The hair was very dark, almost if not quite black, thick with gray, smooth shaven, except for designs in two places, each of which on the point of his chin. The jury concluded by finding the body in the absence of the woman described as only they could be sure of his death by drowning. The remains were left to rest in the Clarkson cemetery.
