

THEO. D. FISHER, Editors.
JUN. A. MUDD,

THE EAST vs. THE WEST.

The following letter from Senator Boye in reply to some remarks which the Democrat saw fit to make in regard to his financial policy, contains some good sense and an abundance of truth:

To the Editor of the Times:

The Democrat of yesterday in noticing my speech at Farmington, giving its readers to understand that it is opposed to the resumption of specie payments, and consequently in favor of perpetuating the present system of paper money. It deems the advocacy of the doctrine of resumption by me in the Senate, as nonsensical, fearing that in doing so I may reflect discredit on our state. The Democrat makes light of my knowledge of finance. It may be correct, but I do not wish to discuss the point at this time. I hope, however, that the Democrat will pardon me for repeating my profound convictions in favor of the resumption of specie payments at an early day. I see no difficulty in doing so, nor, in my opinion, has there been for a long time. The non-resumption is the work of Eastern men, backed by the capital of the East, its leading politicians, business men and its press, unfortunately sustained by some western presses, who work in the interest of that section and to the evident injury of their own. That this state of things is detrimental to the West and extremely beneficial to the East, is beyond doubt, and to see this requires no great financial knowledge.

Without pretending to be deeply versed in the science of finance, I am ready to discuss these questions with the Democrat, or any one it may select as its champion.

Again, I am ready to show that by the operation of the law creating the national banks and authorizing the issue of $300,000,000 of National Bank paper, and the different laws amendatory of this act, the largest portion of the $300,000,000 is placed in the East, the six New England States alone having now $70,000,000 in excess of what the law, as it first passed, allowed them, and the state of Massachusetts receiving some $40,000,000 more than this law allowed to it. Massachusetts has this day yet this excess. While those six states were thus so liberally provided for, the four states adjoining our own receive $23,000,000 less than the law allowed them. I am prepared to show that the effects of this system is virtually to place the West and all its products in the power and at the mercy of Eastern capitalists. I am prepared also to show that of the $300,000,000 annually appropriated to carry on the government, nearly the whole of it is expended in the East and the Atlantic states. I think it can be shown that the present system of National banks should be changed so as to do away with the limit of the amount of issue and so as to leave this to be determined by the laws of trade and commerce regulating the question of supply and demand.

It may, in the estimation of the Democrat, be nonsensical to present these views in the Senate, or even to entertain them. Be this as it may, these views I entertain, and this being so, it will become my duty to present them, in my humble way, to the Senate, in the discharge of my duty to my state and my section.

In my opinion, the time has come for the West to understand that it has an interest of its own different from that of the East. The East has understood its interest all the time, and so understanding it, has given shape to the legislature of the country so as to promote it, and treat us just as England has treated Ireland and the East Indies. I am anxious to present these facts to the people, and leave with them the remedy. And, in this view, I hail with delight the widespread organization of the Grangers, believing that this movement will, in time, give birth to a proper sentiment favorable to this section—not one inimical to the East—but a sentiment of just regard for the interest of our own section. LEWIS V. BOUY.

The Republicans of Washington county, Oregon, notwithstanding the action of the central committee, which assumes to act for the party, do not endorse their bigamist senator, Mitchell, alias Hipple. The Republicans of that county resolved that, "knowing it is idle to ask such a man to resign the position he wrongfully holds, we hereby wash our hands of such as John M. Hipple, and hold him as an alien and an enemy."

The Democrats of Mississippi made no nomination for governor, and consequently rest easy; but what will Ames and Alcorn, the two Republican candidates do now, since the attorney general of that state has decided, as we are informed by a Memphis dispatch of the 23d, that the election in that state could not be held for two years? If that be the case, those candidates have a long campaign before them, and will have ample time to stump the state thoroughly.
