

BOTH RED SOX AND DODGERS EXPECT VICTORY IN FOURTH GAME

JOHN KNIGHT IS PLACED ON TRIAL MURDER CHARGED

Defendant Accused of Killing George Long.

BROTHER HERE TO TESTIFY

Self-Defense Is Theory Advanced at Opening.

John Knight, charged with murder of George Long, chief of the Wilson & company fire department last year, was placed on trial in district court this morning. John and his brother Jess, were charged jointly, but a severance was granted. Jess was tried several months ago, convicted, and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. He will appear as a witness in the trial of his brother.

Death Penalty Opposed.

Up to noon today the jury had not been selected. Questions asked by County Attorney Embry indicated that the state will not ask a death penalty against the defendant. The prosecutor did not ask jurors if they were opposed to capital punishment. Several jurors, however, voluntarily said they were opposed to the death penalty. Chief among the questions put to the jurors by Attorneys Ben Williams and Jean Day for the defense was whether any of the jurors' relatives had been killed in combat. B. H. Anderson answered his father had been so killed but declared that would not influence him in the present trial. Despite this statement he was accepted by the defense, but was excused by the state.

Self-Defense Is Theory.

The defense also asked the jurors if they believed it was justifiable to kill in self-defense. In answer to the question put by both sides as to whether an opinion had been formed from the newspaper accounts of the murder, only one man said he hadn't read the papers, although he lived here at the time. The jury had not been selected at noon, although indications were that it would be chosen early this afternoon. Each side has nine challenges. Sheriff Binion returned early this morning from McAlester with Jess Knight, who was brought here at his brother's request to testify in his trial. Jess now has an appeal of his case before the criminal court of appeals.

CITY ACTED IN HASTE, ASSERTS CHAIRMAN LOVE

Union Station Recommendation Unsatisfactory.

That Mayor Overholser and the city commissioners acted with haste and without due consideration of the subject when they "hurriedly" approved plans for the proposed Oklahoma City Frisco-Rock Island union passenger station, was intimated this morning by Jack Love, chairman of the corporation commission, following a conference with a number of business men.

Committee to Investigate.

The result of the conference was the appointment of Joseph Huckins jr., to select a committee of five of which he is chairman, to go over the plans and make whatever recommendations to the commission the committee sees fit. Upon the report of this committee and not that of the city commissioners will the commission act, it was stated.

"The commission felt that the business men of the town should pass upon the plans and specifications for the union station since action was taken so quickly by the city commissioners that the commission does not feel that the business men of the city were duly consulted about the plans," said Chairman Love.

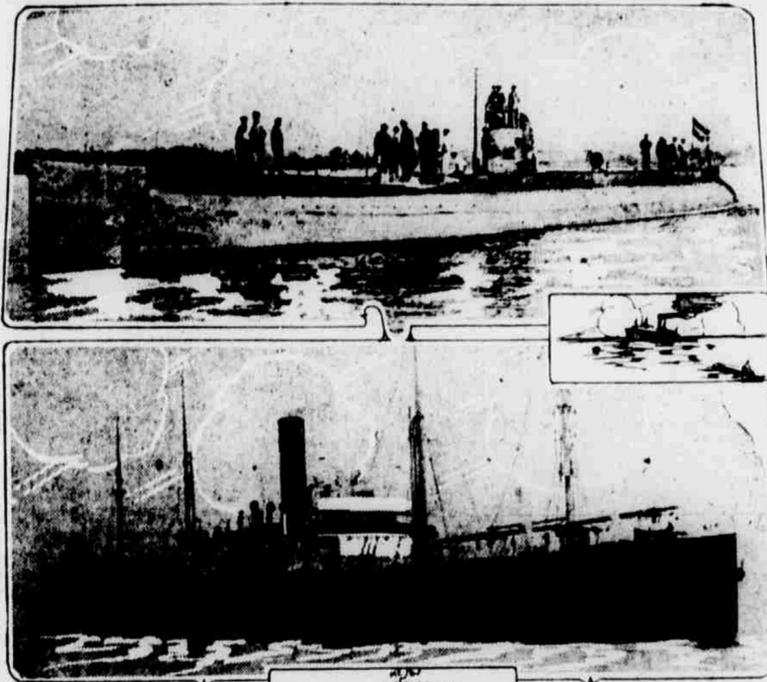

Plans Discussed.

"In view of that we called a conference of business men who met in the office of the commission this morning and went over the plans. It was decided that Mr. Huckins should select five men to constitute a committee representing the business interests, and that the committee shall give the plans the consideration they warrant, and upon the recommendations of this committee the commission will act."

Bearing the approval of Mayor Overholser and the city commissioners, the plans were returned to the commission Tuesday afternoon with the suggestion from the mayor that the commission issue an order directing that work on the station commence by January 1.

This recommendation, however, is unsatisfactory to the commission as it does not want to delay work that long. Commissioner Henshaw stated that the commission will direct that work begin not later than December 1.

Under the procedure of parliament this step permits members to discuss any subject. It was expected the debate would include, in addition to financial questions, the government of Ireland, which nationalists who have definitely taken sides against the government will bring up; the suggestion of extension of conscription to Ireland; which unionists are urging, but which it is understood the government opposes; and the obtaining of more men from England, Scotland and Wales by closer scrutiny of men under 40 years of age, who have been thus far exempted from military service. Extension of the age limit to 45 is not expected at present.

ALLIES TO BLAME IF THEY ATTACK NEUTRAL VESSEL

America Refuses to Bar German Submarines.

ENTENTE IS RESPONSIBLE

No Restrictions Put on Non-Belligerents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Allied warships now patrolling the Atlantic coast in search of the German submarine U-53 which raided enemy merchant shipping off Nantucket Sunday will be required to ascertain the nationality of any submarine sighted before attacking it in the belief that it was an enemy craft, according to the terms of the latest United States memorandum to the allied nations. The memorandum was in reply to the allies' protest against the United States granting the right of entry to American ports to either merchant or war submarines of belligerent nations.

Must Take Responsibility.

Commenting on the allied powers' suggestion that it might be dangerous to allow neutral submarines to visit waters in which enemy submarines also might be found, the American memorandum declares "that responsibility for any conflict that may arise between belligerent warships and neutral submarines * * * must rest entirely upon the negligent powers."

No Reason for Bar.

The United States represents that the allies have failed to show reasons

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, Oct. 11.—Spurred on by Tuesday's victory, the Brooklyn Nationals resumed their counter charge against the Boston Americans today in the fourth game of the world's series in an attempt to break down the lead that the champion American leaguers now hold by one game.

"Out boys are batting at last," said Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn this afternoon, just before having a war council with his men before the contest. "We are a batting team. We have looked over all the Red Sox pitchers except Leonard and we know now what to expect. I'll agree Boston has some fine hurlers, but my men feel that they can beat them."

The Bostonians regard Tuesday's defeat as nothing more than what might be expected to happen somewhere along the course of a seven-game series.

Red Sox Confident.

"The Red Sox play best in a pinch," remarked Jack Barry, the disabled second baseman of the Boston team. "We have the edge and will hold it. Everyone knows what the club has done when it faced a critical series or a single game."

Brooklyn did not mind the cold weather today. Elated by Tuesday's defeat of the Red Sox, the enthusiastic crowd that came early to the field would have felt comfortable on an iceberg.

Long Batting Practice.

The Brooklyn took about an hour's batting practice before the game, using three pitchers. Appleton and Dell, right handers, and the southpaw, Mails, Pitchers Pfeiffer and Marquard took part in the batting practice.

The Bostonians also had a long batting practice with the lefthander Pennock in the box. After Pennock had worked out awhile, Wyckoff pitched to the Boston batters.

First Inning.

BOSTON—Marquard threw out Hooper at first. Janvrin struck out, missing his third strike by a foot. Walker struck out, and kicked on the decision. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Second Inning.

BOSTON—Hoblitzel walked, Marquard losing control of his fast ball. Lewis doubled against the rightfield wall. Hoblitzel went to third. Hoblitzel scored on Gardner's home run drive to the centerfield fence. The Boston crowd cheered Gardner to the echo. Wheat dropped. Scott's long drive and the batter made second. Carrigan sacrificed, Marquard to Merkle. Scott going to third. Leonard struck out. Hooper went out to Merkle unassisted. THREE RUNS, TWO HITS, ONE ERROR.

Third Inning.

BROOKLYN—Gardner threw out Olson, making a pretty throw near the foul line. Meyers walked, Marquard's grounder was taken by Leonard who threw him out at first. Meyers going on to second. Scott threw out Johnston at first. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Fourth Inning.

BROOKLYN—Gardner threw out Olson, making a pretty throw near the foul line. Meyers walked, Marquard's grounder was taken by Leonard who threw him out at first. Meyers going on to second. Scott threw out Johnston at first. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Trolley Lines Blocked.

The trolley lines leading to the industrial section were barricaded for a short time and car service was interrupted. The companies' employees went to work by roundabout routes, many being transported on tug boats and motor boats.

After a small disturbance early in the day the police arrested two men. It was asserted that many of the strikers and their followers appeared to be carrying weapons.

Screeching Whistle of Engines in City Must Stop, Says Overholser

That wailing, screeching Rock Island switch engine that cries its sorrows back and forth through the city during the best sleeping hours will be silenced soon. The hoarse, head-splitting blasts from Frisco engines that loop the beltline will be softened to an apologetic cough.

All this joy will be here when Mayor Overholser gets a new ordinance passed. Instead of torturing shrieks, whoops and wails sent forth from locomotive whistles by joyous or grouchy engineers, there will be a tinkle of bells to warn the citizens that a train is again about to thunder across the street. Or graceful gates will drop across pavement of a semaphore will wave a wooden hand with a little noise as a fish and the grateful citizen will stop and let the train go by.

Many complaints have been made to the city hall. Some of the complaints have become bitter with the years. Mayor Overholser has declared he will do something about it.
