"HAPPY JACK'S" AMBITION.

Wanted to be "Bouncer at the Executive Chamber."

An Albany dispatch says: "Happy Jack" of Arizona was one of the bravest men in the regiment of Rough Riders. He was a daring fellow with a stout heart and a deadly aim. When Governor Roosevelt was elected he was approached by "Happy Jack" who desired an appointment under the state government.

"What do you want?" asked Governor Roosevelt.

"Oh, make me bouncer at the executive chamber," replied "Happy Jack."

The governor compromised by procuring for him a position on the New York Central railroad.

A Leader of Republican Opinion.

The New York Tribune offers to the public a newspaper which is absolutely representative of the best opinion of the republican party on all national issues. It is dignified, strong, complete and patriotic. The Daily Tribune is $10 a year. The Weekly, $1, but can be obtained, in combination with various local papers, on more advantageous terms. The Semi-Weekly is $2 a year.

The Semi-Weekly Tribune, printed Tuesdays and Fridays, is one of the best general newspapers in the country for a wide-awake farmer, professional man, merchant, manufacturer or mechanic. It saves the necessity of buying other newspapers. Its supplements admirably fill the place of one.

The agricultural page will contain this year, in addition to regular features, a weather review, many descriptions of the actual results obtained on small farms, and other matters of particular use to gardeners, fruit-growers, farmers, dairymen and live stock raisers.

During each week the reader will find a column of "Questions and Answers," letters from correspondents in London and Paris; a page devoted to science and mechanics; home interests and other things which interest women, including the "Tribune Sunshine Society;" some good games of checkers; a series of thrilling stories of actual experiences in the war; and a column of letters from soldiers and sailors; and advanced information of new enterprises of importance to manufacturers, mechanics and business men.

The market reports will be kept up to their present high standard. It is the intention of the Tribune at all times to add to them whatever quotations will render them of greater value. The finest compliment paid to the Semi-Weekly Tribune is the fact that it enjoys the subscriptions of a large number of merchants, dairymen and farmers who disagree with its political sentiments, but who find its accurate market reports essential to the proper conduct of their business. It is always safe to look at the Tribune before one buys or sells country produce. Once a week there is a special market article on a particular topic. With Friday's number there is an Illustrated Supplement 20 to 24 pages, printed on specially fine paper, full of delightful reading, enlivened with from thirty to fifty half-tone or other pictures. Every reader admits that this Supplement is equal to a magazine in its contents, and better than a magazine in being quicker to lay before its readers perfectly fresh discussions of matters which are of particular interest. Sample copies of Friday's issue will be sent free on application. The Supplement contains two pages of humor; a fascinating letter from Ex-Attache, a gentleman who has served at many of the great courts of the world, and who speaks of kings, emperors and noblemen from actual knowledge; book reviews; short stories; dramatic and musical criticisms; the fine work of great architects and artists; letters from abroad; talk on scientific subjects, new warships, etc.; gossip by pungent writers; and, in fact, the whole range of higher topics in which intelligent men and women are deeply interested, and a profusion of beautiful illustrations. The Supplement is the cream of the whole week's work in the Tribune office.

Any reader who may find it convenient to raise a club of subscribers for the Semi-Weekly Tribune is invited to do so, and to send to the New York for sample copies, etc.

A baby is like crazy patchwork, a collection of bits of his ancestors. All of them contribute something to baby's physical or mental or moral makeup. The mother gives the largest share. To a great extent the life of a child depends upon the health of the mother, both before and after birth. If during the period of expectancy, the mother enjoys good general and local health, she will have a child with a robust body, an alert brain and vigorous health. You cannot expect such a child from a weak, sickly, nervous, despondent woman who is broken down by derangements and disease of the distinctly feminine organs. A woman in that condition is almost sure to have a puny, sickly, peevish baby. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best preparation for motherhood. It relieves maternity of its dangers, and of almost all its pain. It restores the delicate and important organs that bear the brunt of maternity to perfect health and strength, and assists the regular and healthful performance of all the natural functions. It banishes the ailments of the critical period, and makes baby's debut easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health. Thousands have testified to its merits. Good medicine dealers sell it, and no honest druggist will insult your intelligence by urging upon you something else as "just as good." The "just as good" kind is dear at any price.

Mrs. F. B. Cannings, of No. 4320 Humphrey Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I am now the happy mother of a fine, healthy baby girl, I feel that your 'Favorite Prescription' has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I took three bottles of the 'Prescription,' and the consequences were I was only in labor forty-five minutes. With my first baby I suffered eighteen hours and had to lose it."

POLICE COURT.

More About That Borrowed Bicycle—Two Held On a Charge of Robbery—Four on the Chain Gang—Other Offenders.

There appeared in the HERALD of last evening an article headed "Badly Mixed," which contained an account of Walter Wall, the night caller on the G. H. borrowing a wheel from a brakeman named Tom May, and that the bicycle eventually proved to belong to another party. Yesterday a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Mr. Wall and he appeared in court and gave bond in the sum of $50 and was released to appear when the case is called. To a HERALD reporter yesterday Mr. Wall said: "It is certainly a mixed up affair. Tom May, from whom I borrowed the wheel, told me that it belonged to him and I took it. The next day I left the wheel outside of a cigar store and a young man by the name of Wheeler took it. I reported the loss of the wheel at the police headquarters and there I learned that the wheel had been stolen from Wheeler's home on Overland street. I then went to Wheeler and told him my side of the story and that I would assist him all I could in locating the guilty party. They swore out a warrant for me and placed me under a $50 bond. As soon as May returns from his trip, which I think will be Monday, we will straighten matters out. May owns a wheel and it is my opinion that he got it mixed up with the wheel he loaned me. I am well satisfied that May did not steal the bicycle, but it is a mixed up affair and can only be straightened out by his presence. Mr. Wall is a great favorite with the trainmen of this point and all believe that he will have no trouble in establishing the fact that had nothing to do with taking the bicycle from Wheeler's home."

Tom Johnson, Fred Wilson and Henry Brown, three men arrested last night by Night Watchman Rayner, on a charge of breaking the seals on four box cars on the link east of the G. H. shops about 8 o'clock and robbing them of some of their contents, were arraigned before the recorder this morning. After hearing their side of the affair the recorder released Johnson and held the other two for further examination. When captured Brown had six of the stolen oranges in his possession but as to where he got them he apparently tells a straight forward story and in the estimation of the police it will be a very difficult matter to hold them for the robbery.

There were four men on the chain gang today and some of them will possibly be released this evening. Since the police have been making a nightly round up of this traveling element they have made themselves very scarce around the main portion of the city and sought protection in the suburbs. It is said that a great crowd of them congregate at the railroad crossing east of the G. H. shops every night and it is at this point where the freight cars were robbed last night.

Trinidad Syneros took on a load of fighting whisky last night and was locked up by Clements for being drunk and fighting. He will be tried this evening.

Geo. Brown was arrested by Officer Schmidt for riding on the sidewalk and was fined $1 which he paid.

The Tribune Almanac for 1899.

The New York Tribune Almanac was first published in 1838 under another name. It has appeared every year except one, since that date. In recent years its size has been extended, but by rigid compression and expert arrangement, it yet remains compact and portable, while extraordinary comprehensive. It is a complete up-to-date reference summary of current history. The price is 25 cents.

TO HERALD ADVERTISERS.

There is no doubt that the afternoon daily is the daily for the advertiser in a small city. It comes into the home after the merchant's work is done and he can sit down and study it and his competitor's ads to his utmost satisfaction. The good wife has time to look over its columns, and the same order of things holds good in the home of the mechanic and the laborer. The morning daily of a small city is laid aside by the busy merchant at his store, and the tuxedo housewife at her home. The laborer or the mechanic has no time to read it before he goes to work, and is not allowed to read during working hours. You can always depend upon it that the afternoon daily has the larger circulation for these very reasons, and is, therefore, the better medium.—American Advertiser.

THE HERALD IS AN AFTERNOON DAILY

While prospecting on a prehistoric mound-builder village site Clifford Anderson, a farmer, found some portions of human skeletons, stone hatchets, arrowheads and pottery and other relics of the past. The place is to be investigated. It is only a few hundred yards from the largest earthwork in the United States—Fort Ancient—one three and a half miles in circumference. The earthwork has frequently been explored, but its history is not complete, and Anderson's discovery may go towards solving the problem.
