SALOON MEN IN COUNCIL.

Position Explained But No Definite Action Taken.

Shortly after eight o'clock last night some twenty saloon men met at Gay's Mayer's hall to complete the business of the meeting of last week. H. P. Shield was in the chair and the secretary being absent, Martin Casey was chosen secretary. On motion, the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with. Mr. Shield said all knew the object of the meeting so business was in order. Mr. Casey arose and said he wished to explain the position, he would sell the schooner men Lempp's larger beer at three dollars per keg as they paid for it, in this day and time communism and boycotting would not do, he acted on principle in this matter and could not be swayed. He wanted to see all saloon men do well and would like to see beer sold at ten cents per glass, but no man or body of men could regulate it. Mr. Shield said he had not intended to speak at the meeting was in the interests of the retail dealers and he had no idea that either Mr. Casey's views or his own were wanted, but Mr. Casey must not think his braggadocio manner intimidated any one. Mr. Casey or himself dare sell beer for less than three dollars per keg. Let the meeting get down to business, do something or adjourn. Mr. Kuhn took the floor and said it made no difference what beer was sold at, what the saloon men wanted to know was, who sold beer at three dollars and then came around and threw money on the counter as a rebate, that was the important question.

Mr. Casey again spoke and said he wanted it understood that he would sell beer to whoever he saw fit at $2, $2.50 or $2.75 a keg, he had a right to spend $10, $50 or $500 in any saloon, and no one had the right to deny him the privilege. This was a bomb-shell in the camp. Mr. Kuhn, taking his hat, arose, and remarked, "my advice to you is to buy your beer one, all, if you can get it for $2.00, $2.50 per keg, but don't take Mr. Casey's soft soap." This raised a laugh, and a number got up and left.

Mr. N. Green said he thought the meeting was for the organization of the retail liquor men, and he thought the balance should be attended to, but the balance took up their hats and left, and thus the question of schooners, ponies and cheap beer went by default.

About a Dog.

A complaint was filed in the office of the county attorney yesterday by Hefner against Jim Boydston, for an assault. Hefner, who is a cripple, claims that a dog belonging to Boydston has been following him about, without any coaxing on his part and struck him, when he was angry thereat, to say is not known, as he was not seen.

Never Delivered.

The Metador Cattle company have filed suit in the office of the clerk of the district court against the Missouri Pacific railway company for $2,187.32. The plaintiffs aver that they shipped from St. Louis to Colorado, Texas, on July 27th, 1892, a quantity of wire fencing, valued at $1,955.54 and six kegs of wire fencing staples, valued at $23.79, for the transportation of which, in proper time, they paid the defendant a freight of $188.85. They further aver that the goods were never delivered, and although plaintiff has often demanded them or the value in money, defendant has never delivered them or paid for them, and they now ask judgment for the above sum.

RAILROAD RUSTLINGS.

A Railroad Agent Having a "Picnic." [From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.] So popular has the Bee Line route, by the way of St. Louis, become, it requires neither advertising or soliciting to secure a prospect of well-to-do passengers, and one who has travelled extensively and is a close observer: "The agent who represents the Bee Line route certainly has a picnic. The line works itself. Those who have never it are living advertisements for the line. The passing, as it does, through Northern Indiana and Ohio, along the shore and in plain view of Lake Erie, thence through Central New York and along the bank of the Hudson river, finding passengers in Grand Central depot, New York City, the agent who represents this, with their system of cars running daily from St. Louis to New York and Boston, makes the line the favorite 'by a large majority,' of the people of the north and west. This, and the fact that the agent has a mere 'picnic' of form, and he (the agent), as I have said, certainly has a 'picnic.'"

We are informed that all ticket agents in our state sell tickets over the Bee Line route, by way of St. Louis; and that the company have now on sale at all their stations a full line of excursion tickets to the different summer resorts in the North and East.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

A Room in Musical Instruments Inaugurated by Howard Tully.

For several days past interest in the piano and organ trade has been waxing, and Howard Tully has stepped to the front as a dealer in musical instruments in connection with his mammoth jewelry establishment, and what so surprises him is the superior quality of instruments he has in stock. Only the very best instruments manufactured or offered for sale, and the figures are made so low that dealers even are made to wonder how the thing is done. This is no temporary thing on the part of Mr. Tully. He is here to stay; he has gone to the front with a line of goods that cannot be surpassed inside or out of the state, and means to maintain his position. This statement we are authorized by Tully to make, and have his assurance that the facts in the case sustain the proposition. If you want a piano or organ for less than they were ever before sold in the state, call and examine his stock and prices.

An Applicant.

The Dallas Presbytery met at the Presbyterian church for the purpose of examining C. L. Olfather in order to ascertain his fitness for entering the ministry. The applicant, who is from Weatherford, is a young lad of some sixteen years and is a very bright and intelligent boy. He answered satisfactorily the questions put to him and will be placed under the tutelage to go through a course of study preparatory to becoming a minister.

Goss's first trip to the state, and in fact the first effort of the company to introduce their goods in this section, and the result is complimentary to the colonel and gratifying to the company. Some good sales were made in the city yesterday, and Col. Goss leaves on the early train this morning for Waco.

THE THIRD WARD.

Between the hours of one and three o'clock yesterday morning, a band composed of five men, whose names could not be learned, simply because they wore masks, serenaded several parties living in the Third ward. They played a number of very pretty airs which were well executed, and their visit to the Third ward was a pleasing event by all who heard their music.

Dick Flanigan has recovered from his late attack of malarial fever and looks as jolly and robust as ever. Dick is one of the boys, and when he fails to show up the other boys are sorely troubled thereat.

Jesse Nunally is rapidly growing to alarming proportions. He wouldn't look badly at the council board.

That classic neighborhood common-lawly called Hell's Half Acre was singularly quiet yesterday. About the only event was a short, bloodless slugging match between two colored denizens of that defensible portion of the city.

It is a cold day when the Third ward gets lit. Jolly Jim Boydston is decidedly of that opinion and to prevent the Third from being lit he presented himself before the eyes of his astonished friends yesterday rigged with a genuine duct. Jim could not bear to see his shirt under a single drop, and hence his sweater, his hat, tight pants and a Prince Albert coat are not very comfortable on a hot day, such as yesterday, but Jim just wanted to show the boys that the shirt could sport a dude, if the occasion required it and that he could fill the bill.

The amount of business done in the Third ward is truly astonishing, and more wonderful still, trade in the Third is rapidly increasing and so fast to warrant the opinion so often expressed that the business portion of the Third will eventually occupy that position.

The Third ward south of the railroad reservation is rapidly becoming the fashionable part of the town to live in. It is certainly the coolest part of the city from the way in which the value of property is increasing and houses being built up there, one would naturally suppose that it is not only a desirable part of the Fort to live in, but that this fact is realized and duly appreciated.

Nothing from the pile of lumber lying in front of the company, the company intend putting sturdy improvements on it, as well as repairing the old building. The increased amount of business done last season, no doubt warrants them in expecting a still larger business next season and they are making all necessary arrangements for the reception of all the cotton that may be brought in.

Other parties owning vacant lots in the Third ward would erect substantial and handsome buildings upon them, that Gus Rintelman has had built near the foot of Main street, the Third ward would soon present a different appearance.

THE NEW TARIFF

Which went into effect on July 1st, makes a reduction of only five per cent. on the following list of goods, but I have marked down fully ten per cent., preferring to meet the issue squarely. Will of lowering goods ten per cent. cheaper than I have ever sold them at, sold by any legitimate merchant. The line comprises:

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS AND SATINS, ALL FINE WHITE GOODS

White Linen Lawns, India Mulls and French Lawns, Lace Novelties, Over-dresses, Fine Laces and Embroideries, Silk Lace Trimmings, Fichus, Irish Linens, Table Linens and Napkins, Etc.,

Trusting that the public will appreciate my effort to meet the reduction of tariff duties, and that we may soon have a still greater and which you may consider of small importance in considering a single article, it will amount to millions in the aggregate. Truly,

A SAD TALE.

An Ex-State Official Becomes a Common Thief. A man was arrested in this city yesterday who at one time occupied the position of state geologist, but who has fallen so low, through drink, that he scruples not to become a thief to obtain the wherewithal to obtain funds necessary to purchase that which has brought him to such a state. The party referred to is Prof. Roessler, a man of great erudition and possessed of more than ordinary abilities. As a geologist he has acquired some reputation, and as stated above occupied the position of state geologist. Becoming dissipated, he has gone lower and lower, until he seems to have arrived at almost the lowest round of the social ladder. It appears that he has been in Temple and by some means obtained access to the Santa Fe ticket office and stole therefrom a ticket to Bristol, Tenn., worth some forty-five dollars. He came up to Fort Worth on Sunday night and was seen with the ticket in his possession. Information was at once telegraphed to Temple, and it was then discovered that such a ticket had mysteriously disappeared. An answer was returned to the Deputy United States Marshal Woody and he was arrested. At first he stoutly denied his guilt, and was taken to jail, but when he arrived at the door he weakened and confessed that he had taken the ticket. Upon questioning him it was learned that he had pawned it for five dollars to Henry Schartz, the pawn broker on Main street. The ticket was recovered and as some friend of Roessler made good the five dollars he was released.

Throwing Stones.

Yesterday morning two negro men, who are employed at the opera-house, became involved in a difficulty which finally cul
